Residents Of Japan Visit Here

East Meets West Locally

By LUCILLE HUSTON

Two residents of Japan are learning how the other half lives in visits here.

One, a girl of 18, already is getting a "kick" out of the whole thing, having become a football fan even before seeing her first game.

Yuko Takebayashi of Kagoshima — the girl — and Taiki Osaka of Yokohama — came to East Liverpool within weeks of each other.

YUKO, a Rotary Exchange student, arrived Monday and will reside here for a year. She will attend East Liverpool High School as a senior.

Presently living with Assistant Superintendent of Schools Carl Pelini and Mrs. Pelini and their children, she will spend four months in their home, four months with Mr. and Mrs. Jackman S. Vodrey and the final four months with Mr. and Mrs. Alwyn C. Purinton Jr.

Taiki Osaka, who is 29, is also here under an exchange student program. He has been in America for six weeks and will spend two more weeks in this country.

Taiki's first stop was San Francisco, where he spent three days. Then he went to Long Beach, Calif., for four weeks. He traveled by bus to Flagstaff, Ariz., then to Chicago, Ill., and Royal Oak, Mich., and now to East Liverpool. He will rejoin his group in Royal Oak and then visit Washington, D. C., and New York City before returning to Japan. He is one of three selected from 250 to visit America.

TAIKI works in the Loan Review of the Bank of Yokohama. He is studying English in conjunction with the banking business. His primary concern is the economic activity in America, but he is also interested in our educational system, our social security system and our over-all standard of living.

"There is basically little difference between the United States and Japan," he says, "either individually or collectively; and in our freedom—so-called freedom." Most Americans, he finds, are open-mind-

Pope Hailed In Colombia When Pontiff Kisses Soil

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Pope Paul VI was hailed as the Pope of hope by thousands of Colombians who watched with emotion as the pontiff kissed the soil when first setting foot in this part of the world.

Many wept Thursday as they witnessed this act of humility by the Pope and proclaimed it the crowning moment of his historic visit.

The pontiff journeys by helicopter today to a meeting with thousands of Latin-American peasants in a huge meadow, called San Jose Field, outside the village of Mosquera, 18 miles from Bogota.

His address is expected to be of far-reaching significance. The Catholic hierarchy is already on record stressing that the Church will take a more active role in the effort to help Latin America's impoverished millions.

The 70-year-old pontiff's welcome Thursday was described as the most tumultuous of his six trips abroad. Cries of "Viva El Papa!" resounded wherever he went in this Colombian capital. Some exclaimed: "He's truly a Pope of hope!"

The long day of papal activities, witnessed by hundreds of thousands of Colombian and foreign pilgrims, ended at 8 p.m. with the ordination of 161 priests and 41 deacons.

In a way, this ceremony underlined the Church's efforts to bolster its thinning ranks in Latin America. A source close to the Pope's party said many of the new priests were under the required minimum age of 24 years and had not fully completed their studies.

The deacons were the first to receive the lowest form of sacred orders which allow them to administer many sacraments but not say Mass or hear confessions. Four of them are married. Their ordination allows priests to devote more time to other functions. The decline in religious vocations has adversely affected the Church's work in Latin America, Church sources said.

The ordination ceremony was part of the program of the 39th International Eucharistic Congress. It was held on the vast congress grounds in windy, chilly weather. Some in the crowd carried signs that said "Holy Father pray for Czechoslovakia."

Prague Streets Deserted

Defiant Czechs Strike; Leader Goes To Moscow

Plans Talks With Heads Of Kremlin

No Confirmation Of Report Saying Dubcek Is Dead

PRAGUE (AP) — Defiant Czechoslovaks staged a one-hour general strike today to protest the Soviet-led invasion intended to crush their nation's liberalization, and President Ludvik Svoboda went to Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders.

Prague streets were deserted as sirens and bells at noon signaled the start of the strike, called by liberal Czechoslovak Communists. Numerous arrests by occupation forces were reported, with journalists and cultural leaders the chief targets.

The clandestine free Radio Prague began broadcasting license numbers and makes of cars being used by agents making the arrests, presumably the pro-Soviet faction of the Czechoslovak police.

Young people printed leaflets carrying the license numbers and urging Czechoslovaks to hinder the movement of these cars. One report said one of the cars was destroyed.

No shooting was heard during the morning and Prague was generally calm. Soviet tanks occupied all bridges but automobiles were permitted to use at least one.

Svoboda and the Czechoslovak Communist party, which had tried to bring some freedom to the nation, both vowed not to recognize any Soviet puppet government.

Efforts to form such a government apparently were the reason for a visit by Soviet Ambassador Ivan Chervonenko to Svoboda's quarters in Prague Castle Thursday.

The president has declared he would recognize only the legal government headed by Premier Oldrich Cernik, who is in Soviet hands.

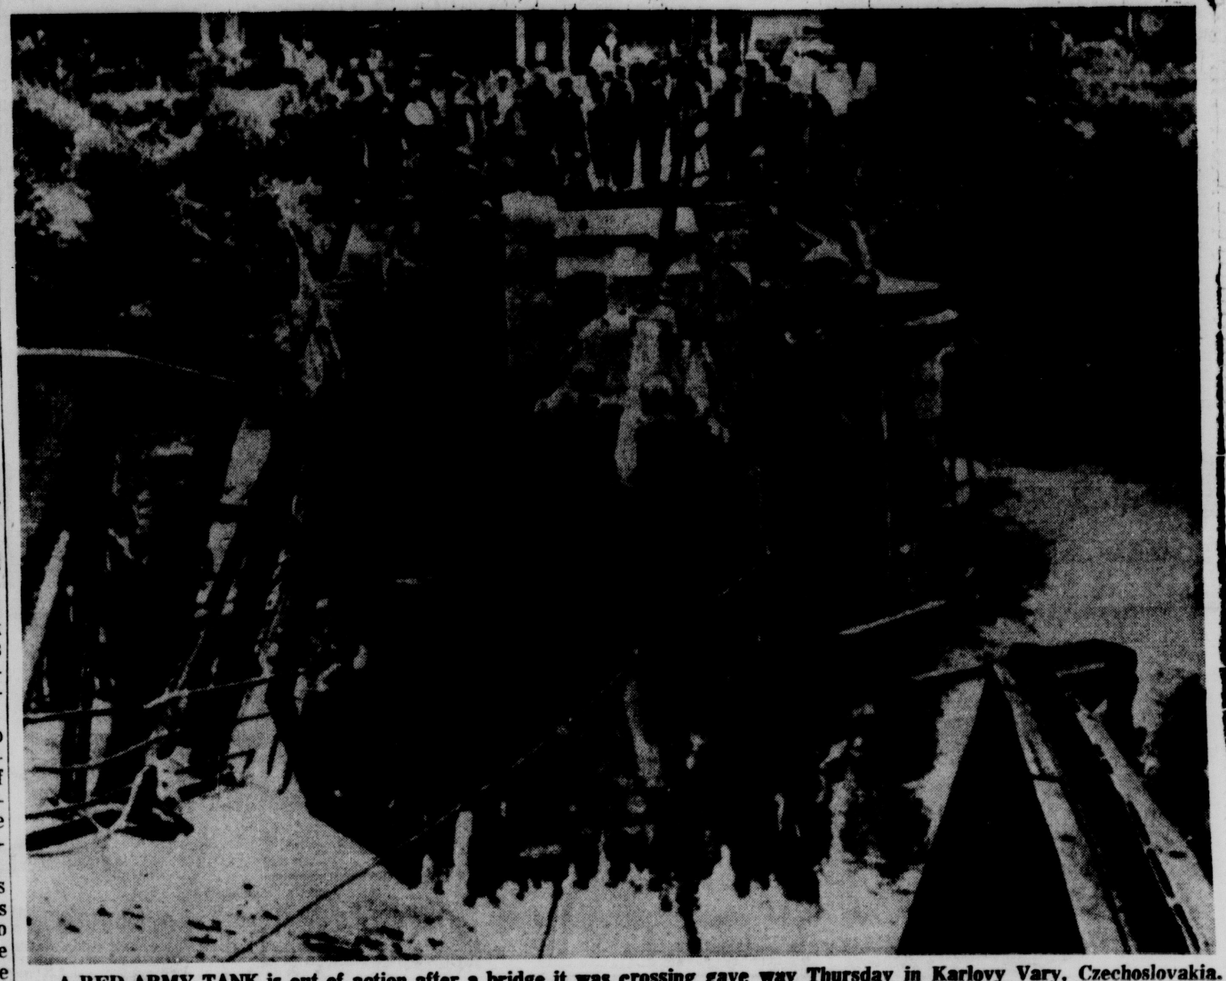

He announced that negotiations with Soviet officials in Prague had been fruitless and he was going to Moscow.

"Have trust in me. I expect to be back tonight," he said.

Meeting secretly to avoid Soviet controls, the Communist party called on Czechoslovaks to walk off the job at noon today unless the occupation troops pull out and release Czechoslovak liberal leaders.

Downtown Need Increases

City Studies Ceramic Lot For Multi-Level Parking

By ROBERT POPP

The city administration and Council plan to take a long, hard look into the possibility of building an additional deck or decks of concrete atop the Ceramic Parking Lot, feeling the idea presents possiblities for creating new auto spaces in a heavily - used location without the necessity of tearing down more business property.

Although the possibility has been discussed on several occasions in the past, the continuing parking problem in East Liverpool has prompted officials to make an investigation in earnest, studying particularly the problems of design, cost and amortization of the debt that would result.

Mayor George E. Willshaw said he sees the project as the answer to the constantly-voiced complaint that the downtown area does not have enough spaces for the autos of all the people who drive into the district in peak hours.

In the same breath, the complainant is likely to remark that "in a few years, the central business district will be nothing but parking lots and service stations" — referring to razing of business property to accommodate the proliferating autos.

"WE CAN'T go on indefinitely making a checkerboard of vacant lots out of downtown East Liverpool to take care of the cars," the mayor commented. "There's a limit to the amount of business property that can be razed to establish parking lots."

The mayor said he expects to discuss the multi - level lot proposal informally with members of Council Saturday morning.

He said he can visualize three or four tiers in a decked structure above the present Ceramic Lot, if studies show that such a structure would be feasible economically and from the motorists' standpoint. Each level might have a capacity of 70 cars.

"The Ceramic Lot is an excellent location," he commented. "It has proved itself from the very outset. It is our most-heavily used lot, primarily because it is such a short distance from the heart of the business district."

HE POINTED out a motorist can leave his auto on the Ceramic Lot and walk to E. 5th St., midway between Market St. and Washington St., in a matter of moments by taking the usual shortcut through Crook Alley.

The mayor said preliminary, informal studies already are under way, particularly on design and cost factors.

"I think this idea is entirely feasible," he commented. "All our parking lots have paid for themselves out of meter revenue and there is no reason to believe the same procedure could not be followed again." He pointed out that the city could issue mortgage revenue bonds to pay for the project

'Break Ties With Russia,' Hays Advises

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, a ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, declared today that if the U.S. State Department "had one - tenth the courage of the plain people of Czechoslovakia," it would immediately break diplomatic relations with Moscow and send every Russian embassy employe back to Russia.

Hays said "it is widely known that every employe in the Russian embassy in Washington, including the janitors, is a spy and that it profits the Russians a thousand times more to have diplomatic relations with us, than it does for us to have diplomatic relations with them. The communist rulers in Russia have proved by their actions in Czechoslovakia for the 10,000th time that their word is no good, that they are thieves, liars, and murders and that we would be rid of them if we sent them back."

Hays said "they were obviously encouraged in their move by the antics of their stooges in this country who have been trying to peddle the propaganda vis-a-vis Vietnam, that the Communists are always right and Americans are always wrong. 'Western Hoedown' Among Features Of Tonight's Program

By PAUL YOUNG

LISBON — Eldon Daniel's daredevil drivers gave a Columbiana County fair crowd "its money's worth" Thursday night —and a bite of dust for good measure.

The grandstand was packed for the spins, platform jumps and crashes.

Fair directors change the record tonight, introducing Pee Wee King's "Country Western Hoedown," certain to attract the guitar and ballad set. All the grandstand shows are free.

Directors estimated Thursday's attendance at 15,000, up 3,000 over Thursday last year. They said it was the biggest second - day they can remember.

The secretary's office reported late this morning that John R. Oliver, 81, Lisbon balloonist, is on the grounds and plans to make an ascension and parachute drop this evening at 5.

Oliver was ill yesterday (relatives said he became overcome with the heat while working on the fire trench) and had to cancel the much publicized demonstration.

By Delegates, Not Committee

Democrats Seen Forming Platform At Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democratic party platform probably will be hammered together on the floor of the convention itself by the more than 2,600 delegates —rather than by the 110-member platform committee.

This prospect—which could mean delay next week in nominating presidential and vice presidential candidates — became more real today as a determined minority of the platform committee insisted on what a spokesman called the strongest possible plank for an early end to the Vietnam war.

The dispute over Vietnam, which repeatedly has shouldered aside such concerns as social legislation to help the poor and alleviate urban problems, inspired two separate plank-drafting efforts.

One is by the official 21-meber platform drafting subcommittee, which met into the night Thursday and resumes work today.

The other is by a group of about 25 members of the platform committee, who claim their ranks include supporters of all of the major candidates as well as uncommitted delegates, all bent on writing specific instruction for seeking a disengagement of the United States from Vietnam.

As few as 11 members of the platform committee by signing a minority report can force a floor debate and a vote between alternate platform provisions.

The deep division in the platform committee was dramatized Thursday by its reaction to an emotion-charged speech by Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Connally said such proposals as a bombing halt, a suspension of aggressive combat action by U.S. forces and a coalition government in South Vietnam would threaten a complete takeover by North Vietnam and its allies.

Then referring by name to Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, chief rivals of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination, Connally said it was "a sad and tragic experience to see presidential aspirants of the Democratic party try to equate our course of action in South Vietnam with what the Russians have done in Czechoslovakia, but that is precisely what they did."

"I would implore this committee to write a plank which supports the determined fight of the administration to preserve . . freedom," Connally said. He got a standing burst of applause from most of the platform committee members.

Immediately after the session advocates of an early-peace plank gathered. Afterward, Theodore Sorensen, a long-time associate of the Kennedy family said: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or regardless of the nominee we can forget about the election. So we will present to the convention, as a majority report if it can be, or a minority report if it must be, the strongest peace plank we can pull."

The Ferro Corp. has announced the development of a low-temperature, self-cleaning porcelain enamel coating for use in gas and electric cooking ovens.

Developed in the Cleveland laboratories of Ferro's Frit Division, it is being field-tested by range manufacturers.

Laboratory tests indicate "the coating has unique properties of removing soil and cooking spatters while the oven is operating at normal baking and broiling temperatures." However, recommended cleaning cycles are conducted at the peak temperatures of most ovens.

Chamber Slates Meeting Plans At Midland Session

Plans to initiate regular membership meetings were discussed when the executive board of the Midland Area Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting Wednesday night at the home of William Verzella of Ohioview, Industry.

Ed Bishoff, retail division chairman, reported on a successful Dollar Days promotion held early this month.

The dierctors decided to send a letter to Borough Council expressing appreciation to street department employes who unfurled flags along Midland Ave. prior to the annual July Fourth parade.

Pottery Union Backs Ohio Power Strikers

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters asked its members Thursday to support the six-week-old strike of Locals 696 and 981 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against the Ohio Power Co.

The IBOP asked its members to give "both moral and financial aid" to the striking electrical workers. It asked the pottery workers to "pay their electrical bills, if they must, somewhere other than the Ohio Power Co.'s main office." It issued a statement from the IBEW giving the union's side of the dispute.

Funeral Set Saturday For Ex-Grid Coach

HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—The former head football coach and athletic director at Washington Court House High School, Claude B. Cramer, died Thursday. He was 63.

Cramer, a 1930 graduate of Ohio University, had taught in the school system here 27 years. Services are to be held Saturday in Bloomingburg, where he once served as mayor.

By Delegates, Not Committee

Democrats Seen Forming Platform At Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democratic party platform probably will be hammered together on the floor of the convention itself by the more than 2,600 delegates —rather than by the 110-member platform committee.

This prospect—which could mean delay next week in nominating presidential and vice presidential candidates — became more real today as a determined minority of the platform committee insisted on what a spokesman called the strongest possible plank for an early end to the Vietnam war.

The dispute over Vietnam, which repeatedly has shouldered aside such concerns as social legislation to help the poor and alleviate urban problems, inspired two separate plank-drafting efforts.

One is by the official 21-member platform drafting subcommittee, which met into the night Thursday and resumes work today.

The other is by a group of about 25 members of the platform committee, who claim their ranks include supporters of all of the major candidates as well as uncommitted delegates, all bent on writing specific instruction for seeking a disengagement of the United States from Vietnam.

As few as 11 members of the platform committee by signing a minority report can force a floor debate and a vote between alternate platform provisions.

The deep division in the platform committee was dramatized Thursday by its reaction to an emotion-charged speech by Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Connally said such proposals as a bombing halt, a suspension of aggressive combat action by U.S. forces and a coalition government in South Vietnam would threaten a complete takeover by North Vietnam and its allies.

Then referring by name to Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, chief rivals of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination, Connally said it was "a sad and tragic experience to see presidential aspirants of the Democratic party try to equate our course of action in South Vietnam with what the Russians have done in Czechoslovakia, but that is precisely what they did."

"I would implore this committee to write a plank which supports the determined fight of the administration to preserve . . freedom," Connally said. He got a standing burst of applause from most of the platform committee members.

Immediately after the session advocates of an early-peace plank gathered. Afterward, Theodore Sorensen, a long-time associate of the Kennedy family said: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or regardless of the nominee we can forget about the election. So we will present to the convention, as a majority report if it can be, or a minority report if it must be, the strongest peace plank we can pull."

Pair Injured; Officers Cite Man In Crash

Two persons were injured and officers cited a motorist on two charges in a spectacular collision that damaged three autos Thursday at 7:45 p.m. on Washington St. near E. 6th St.

A 1956 sedan driven by Darwin Woodrow Stowers, 24, of 744½ Leonard St. went out of control while rounding the turn at the downtown intersection and struck a parked 1965 sedan owned by William M. Shuman of 509 Ketchel Ave., Newell, shoving it into a parked 1966 sedan owned by William Tomchay of Charleroi, Pa., officers reported.

Two passengers in Stower's car, Karen Stowers, 18, and Randy Stowers, 3, were taken to City Hospital by ambulance. Karen was uninjured and Randy suffered lip injuries. They were treated and released.

Patrolman Charles Coen, who investigated, cited Stowers on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Coen reported that Stowers was driving east on E. 6th St. As he turned onto Washington St., his car accelerated rapidly, went out of control and hit the two parked autos, he said.

The collision damaged the entire front end of Stowers' car and the rear sections of the other two autos.

Two cars were damaged in a collision Thursday at 4:44 p.m. on W. 5th St. at Monroe St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1964 four-door sedan driven by P. R. Blake, 82, of 1213 St. Clair Ave. and the auto of George B. Henthorn, 55, of 411 W. 4th St. The front of each auto was damaged.

Blake told police he was driving east on W. 5th St. and started to make a left turn onto Monroe St. when his car was hit by Henthorn's, which was moving west on W. 5th. Henthorn told officers Blake pulled in front of him and the cars hit head-on.

A collison on W. 6th St. at Dresden Ave. Thursday at 1:55 p.m. damaged a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Marie Buren, 26, of Wellsville RD 1 and a 1961 four-door operated by Gladys H. Bourne, 65, of 828 Bradshaw Ave.

The Wellsville area woman was in the right-hand lane on W. 6th St. and attempting a left turn onto Dresden Ave., officers said, while the local woman's car was in the left-hand lane, headed east. The collision damaged the left rear fender and door of the Buren auto and the right front fender and headlight of the Bourne car.

"TIRED DOUGHBOY" is typified by Woody Hawkins of Kenosha, Wis., who has donned a World War I uniform and marched in parades for the last 17 years. Hawkins, a World War II veteran, said the "Tired Doughboy" character was originated by a Kenosha World War I veteran, and he took it over in 1951. He wears size 22 shoes over his regular shoes and carries a fresh loaf of French bread on his back. When he's not parading, Hawkins keeps in shape by carrying the mail.

River-To-Lake Group Receives Contract Report

All projects in Columbiana County for the River-to-Lake Highway, Route 11, will be under contract by October, P. E. Masheter, director of the Ohio Department of Highways, told the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association at a meeting in Ashtabula Thursday night.

Masheter reported the entire highway will be under contract sometime in 1969, with completion being projected for two years later.

Approximately 60, including representatives from East Liverpool and District 11 of the Highway Department, attended the dinner and meeting held at the Hotel Ashtabula.

BERLIN, N.H. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Douglas Horton, 77, chief executive officer of the Congregational Christian Churches for 17 years and dean of Harvard University Divinity School from 1955 to 1959, died Wednesday. Dr. Horton was a key figure in formation of the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William C. Stewart, 61, former newspaper publisher who was a writer and editor for the Los Angeles Times since 1955, died Thursday of cancer. He had suffered from cancer for two years and wrote several articles about it for the Times. He formerly published the Southbridge (Mass.) Evening News.

Many Reported Dead In Soviet Plane Crash

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak radio reported today that a Soviet transport plane crashed during the night at the city of Budejovice and "there were many dead and injured" among the Soviets on it.

The injured were taken to a Czechoslovak hospital and the doctors there were administering blood transfusions, the broadcast added. Shortly thereafter, Soviet soldiers reported to the hospital to donate blood.

The broadcast had no other details.

Ceramic Playrites Earn Laughs With 3-Act Play

Unlikely motherhood for a middle - aged matron provided the laughable situation enjoyed by those who attended the opening night of the Ceramic Playrite's presentation of "Never Too Late" Thursday at the Liberty Theater at Wellsville.

The 3-act comedy will be presented again tonight and Sunday night.

The cast, which includes Ed McCune and Mary Welling, leads, and co-stars Dick Frankel, Rosemary Finney, Jim Graham, Rosemary Morris, Nick Arlov and Melanie Kinsey, performed like troupers, though for the most part it was their first time on stage.

McCune, who portrays a middle - aged New England lumberyard owner, and Miss Welling, his somewhat haggard 'wife," drew sympathetic laughter from the audience when she announced her pregnancy.

Frankel, the man - who-married - the boss'-daughter, Miss Finney, stole the show with his "loose - limbed" antics. His character especially shined in his efforts to avoid his wife, when she decided to become pregnant to escape the unaccustom duties of housework.

Arlov of Industry, a new member of the Playrites, performed the duties of a policeman. Miss Kinsey portrays a convincing, if not unusual, lady carpenter.

Curtain time is at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Pottery Museum's Creation Linked To State's Bond Issue

The Ohio Historical Society at Columbus told municipal officials Thursday that establishment of an Ohio Pottery Museum here, probably in the present post office building, can be regarded as a virtual certainty if a statewide bond issue for capital improvements is improved at the November general election.

Responding to a letter from Don Eckert, city planning coordinator, Dan Porter, a director, said the historical society "has specifically approved an allocation of $100,000 for establishment of a Museum of Ceramic Dinnerware in East Liverpool." The funds would be provided from the statewide bond issue, provided it is approved by the voters and the legislature appropriates the money, he said.

PORTER said the society's board is "firmly on record" in favor of establishing the museum here. If the museum is set up in the post office, the title to the building would have to be held by the state of Ohio or the State Historical Society if state funds were expended on it, but the parts which were not being used for state purposes could be leased to the East Liverpool Historical Society, Porter added.

"The fate of this project rests on approval of Issue No. 1 (the bond issue) in the November election," Porter said in his letter.

Eckert said he received the reply to a letter in which he wrote the Historical Society "to remind it to keep us in mind for the establishment of the museum." He said he pointed out that the Ohio dinnerware industry originated here and "East Liverpool is the logical place for such a museum." He said he also pointed out that "the fine stone building" now used as a post office will become vacant soon and would provide an ideal spot for the museum.

THE POSTAL facility may move out of the building at E. 5th St. and Broadway within a few months and occupy its new quarters on Dresden Ave.

Authorities said when such a building becomes vacant it is the government's policy to offer it first for use of any interested federal agency. Then, it would be offered to other political subdivisions in descending order of importance — the state, the county and finally the municipality. If no governmental agency took over the building, it would be offered for sale.

A movement has been afoot for months to acquire the building for the site of a pottery museum. Gov. James A. Rhodes pledged funds from a previous state bond issue proposal to help establish the museum, but the issue was turned down by voters.

Newell Man Reports Beating Near Tavern

Eugene Green of 400-A Grant St. Newell was treated at City Hospital for injuries suffered when he claimed he was beaten along the Chester-Newell Rd. at 1:30 a. m. today.

Green was treated for abrasions of the forehead and a bruise of the left eye. He was taken to the hospital by his father. Green told Chester police he came out of a tavern and was jumped and beaten by unidentified persons.

Two Injured When Cycle, Car Collide

Richard Frank Hill, 19, of Lisbon RD 2 and a passenger on his motorcycle, Stephen L. Blake of Burnville, W. Va., were injured in a motorcycle - car accident a half-mile north of Lisbon on Route 45 at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Robert L. Boso of 813 Bank St., driving a 1962 coach, was attempting to make a left turn into a drive-in as Hill attempted to pass and struck the left side of his vehicle. Hill was cited for improper passing.

He and Blake received noticeable injuries, but said they would go to a family physician, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Lee Cain Jr., 36, of East Liverpool, RD 1 was driving his 1968 coach south on Route 7, about a half - mile north of Route 517, when he attempted to avoid a tractor - trailer heading south which was left of center. Cain's auto left the road and struck a utility pole. The truck did not stop. Cain said he would see a family physician.

Dawson Assists In Support For 2 State Issues

Frank A. Dawson of East Liverpool has been named general chairman of the Greater Ohio Committee of southern Columbiana County.

His appointment was announced Thursday by State Sens. Ted Gray and Frank W. King, co-chairmen of the Greater Ohio Committee.

The committee headed by Dawson held its first meeting at noon today at the Travelers Hotel.

A Greater Ohio Committee of northern Columbiana County also is being formed.

The Greater Ohio Committee is a bipartisan organization supporting the two state constitutional amendments (Issues 1 and 2; which will be on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Issue 1 proposes the spending of $500 million over a five-year period for highway construction and elimination of urban traffic bottlenecks.

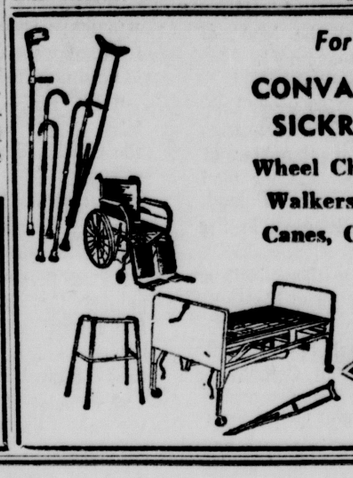

It also proposed $259 million for capital improvements in various areas, including water pollution, mental health, higher and technical education, vocational education and juvenile delinquency.

All projects included in Issue 1 will be subject to legislative approval.

Issue 2 provides property tax exemptions for home owners 65 years old or older who occupy their homes.

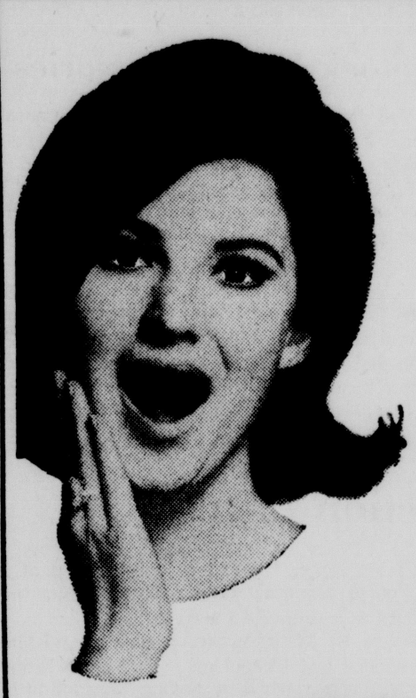

Ask Court Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Top city and police officials have asked for a U.S. District Court review to determine whether the recent federal grand jury has used a "disorderly vehicle" to obtain evidence for the defense of three federal officials. The motion, filed on behalf of Columbus' mayor, safety director, police chief and ranking police officials, also asks a court decision on whether any federal officials have violated the secrecy of the jury proceedings.

Pair Injured; Officers Cite Man In Crash

Two persons were injured and officers cited a motorist on two charges in a spectacular collision that damaged three autos Thursday at 7:45 p.m. on Washington St. near E. 6th St.

A 1956 sedan driven by Darwin Woodrow Stowers, 24, of 744½ Leonard St. went out of control while rounding the turn at the downtown intersection and struck a parked 1965 sedan owned by William M. Shuman of 509 Ketchel Ave., Newell, shoving it into a parked 1966 sedan owned by William Tomchay of Charleroi, Pa., officers reported.

Two passengers in Stower's car, Karen Stowers, 18, and Randy Stowers, 3, were taken to City Hospital by ambulance. Karen was uninjured and Randy suffered lip injuries. They were treated and released.

The collision damaged the entire front end of Stowers' car and the rear sections of the other two autos.

Two cars were damaged in a collision Thursday at 4:44 p.m. on W. 5th St. at Monroe St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1964 four-door sedan driven by P. R. Blake, 82, of 1213 St. Clair Ave. and the auto of George B. Henthorn, 55, of 411 W. 4th St. The front of each auto was damaged.

Blake told police he was driving east on W. 5th St. and started to make a left turn onto Monroe St. when his car was hit by Henthorn's, which was moving west on W. 5th. Henthorn told officers Blake pulled in front of him and the cars hit head-on.

A collison on W. 6th St. at Dresden Ave. Thursday at 1:55 p.m. damaged a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Marie Buren, 26, of Wellsville RD 1 and a 1961 four-door operated by Gladys H. Bourne, 65, of 828 Bradshaw Ave.

The Wellsville area woman was in the right-hand lane on W. 6th St. and attempting a left turn onto Dresden Ave., officers said, while the local woman's car was in the left-hand lane, headed east. The collision damaged the left rear fender and door of the Buren auto and the right front fender and headlight of the Bourne car.

Judge Penalizes 9 Motorists On Traffic Charges

LISBON — A $15 fine against Nancy L. Brandonisio of Salineville, charged with speeding, was the largest levied in traffic cases Thursday by Judge J. L. MacDonald of Columbiana County Southwest Court.

Also fined were Janice M. Baxter, Hanoverton, stop sign violation, $10; Joseph W. Keating, Canton, expired operator's license, $5, and Harold R. Wylie, New Waterford, defective exhaust and improper use of motor vehicle with farm registration, $5 each.

Appearance bonds were forfeited by: Ernest W. Graybeal, Salem, speeding, and Donald Wilfong, Painesville, unsafe vehicle, $30 each; Charles A. Dobbins, Kensington, speeding, $25; James J. Tritten, Lisbon, following traffic too closely; Ronnie G. Wright, Kensington RD 1, passing traffic at intersection, and Robert G. Shaffer, Phillipi, W. Va., passing traffic on hill, $20 each, and Charles F. Iler, Cadiz RD 2, defective brakes; Paul E. Kurincak, Maple Heights, expired operator's license, and Theodore Harton, Minerva, failure to obey railroad crossing signal, $11 each.

River-To-Lake Group Receives Contract Report

All projects in Columbiana County for the River-to-Lake Highway, Route 11, will be under contract by October, P. E. Masheter, director of the Ohio Department of Highways, told the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association at a meeting in Ashtabula Thursday night.

Masheter reported the entire highway will be under contract sometime in 1969, with completion being projected for two years later.

Approximately 60, including representatives from East Liverpool and District 11 of the Highway Department, attended the dinner and meeting held at the Hotel Ashtabula.

2 Grab $5,800

Religious Figure Dies Cancer Fatal At 61

BERLIN, N.H. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Douglas Horton, 77, chief executive officer of the Congregational Christian Churches for 17 years and dean of Harvard University Divinity School from 1955 to 1959, died Wednesday. Dr. Horton was a key figure in formation of the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William C. Stewart, 61, former newspaper publisher who was a writer and editor for the Los Angeles Times since 1955, died Thursday of cancer. He had suffered from cancer for two years and wrote several articles about it for the Times. He formerly published the Southbridge (Mass.) Evening News.

Many Reported Dead In Soviet Plane Crash

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak radio reported today that a Soviet transport plane crashed during the night at the city of Budejovice and "there were many dead and injured" among the Soviets on it.

The injured were taken to a Czechoslovak hospital and the doctors there were administering blood transfusions, the broadcast added. Shortly thereafter, Soviet soldiers reported to the hospital to donate blood.

The broadcast had no other details.

Ceramic Playrites Earn Laughs With 3-Act Play

Unlikely motherhood for a middle - aged matron provided the laughable situation enjoyed by those who attended the opening night of the Ceramic Playrite's presentation of "Never Too Late" Thursday at the Liberty Theater at Wellsville.

The 3-act comedy will be presented again tonight and Sunday night.

The cast, which includes Ed McCune and Mary Welling, leads, and co-stars Dick Frankel, Rosemary Finney, Jim Graham, Rosemary Morris, Nick Arlov and Melanie Kinsey, performed like troupers, though for the most part it was their first time on stage.

McCune, who portrays a middle - aged New England lumberyard owner, and Miss Welling, his somewhat haggard 'wife," drew sympathetic laughter from the audience when she announced her pregnancy.

Frankel, the man - who-married - the boss'-daughter, Miss Finney, stole the show with his "loose - limbed" antics. His character especially shined in his efforts to avoid his wife, when she decided to become pregnant to escape the unaccustom duties of housework.

Arlov of Industry, a new member of the Playrites, performed the duties of a policeman. Miss Kinsey portrays a convincing, if not unusual, lady carpenter.

Curtain time is at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Pottery Museum's Creation Linked To State's Bond Issue

The Ohio Historical Society at Columbus told municipal officials Thursday that establishment of an Ohio Pottery Museum here, probably in the present post office building, can be regarded as a virtual certainty if a statewide bond issue for capital improvements is improved at the November general election.

Responding to a letter from Don Eckert, city planning coordinator, Dan Porter, a director, said the historical society "has specifically approved an allocation of $100,000 for establishment of a Museum of Ceramic Dinnerware in East Liverpool." The funds would be provided from the statewide bond issue, provided it is approved by the voters and the legislature appropriates the money, he said.

PORTER said the society's board is "firmly on record" in favor of establishing the museum here. If the museum is set up in the post office, the title to the building would have to be held by the state of Ohio or the State Historical Society if state funds were expended on it, but the parts which were not being used for state purposes could be leased to the East Liverpool Historical Society, Porter added.

"The fate of this project rests on approval of Issue No. 1 (the bond issue) in the November election," Porter said in his letter.

Eckert said he received the reply to a letter in which he wrote the Historical Society "to remind it to keep us in mind for the establishment of the museum." He said he pointed out that the Ohio dinnerware industry originated here and "East Liverpool is the logical place for such a museum." He said he also pointed out that "the fine stone building" now used as a post office will become vacant soon and would provide an ideal spot for the museum.

THE POSTAL facility may move out of the building at E. 5th St. and Broadway within a few months and occupy its new quarters on Dresden Ave.

Authorities said when such a building becomes vacant it is the government's policy to offer it first for use of any interested federal agency. Then, it would be offered to other political subdivisions in descending order of importance — the state, the county and finally the municipality. If no governmental agency took over the building, it would be offered for sale.

A movement has been afoot for months to acquire the building for the site of a pottery museum. Gov. James A. Rhodes pledged funds from a previous state bond issue proposal to help establish the museum, but the issue was turned down by voters.

Newell Man Reports Beating Near Tavern

Eugene Green of 400-A Grant St. Newell was treated at City Hospital for injuries suffered when he claimed he was beaten along the Chester-Newell Rd. at 1:30 a. m. today.

Green was treated for abrasions of the forehead and a bruise of the left eye. He was taken to the hospital by his father. Green told Chester police he came out of a tavern and was jumped and beaten by unidentified persons.

Two Injured When Cycle, Car Collide

Richard Frank Hill, 19, of Lisbon RD 2 and a passenger on his motorcycle, Stephen L. Blake of Burnville, W. Va., were injured in a motorcycle - car accident a half-mile north of Lisbon on Route 45 at 5 p. m. Thursday.

He and Blake received noticeable injuries, but said they would go to a family physician, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Siff Store Sets Its Opening Here

Pre-opening of Siff's Shoe Store of 120 W. 6th St. will be at 9 a.m. Saturday morning, Mike Palumbo, general manager of Gilbert Shoe Co., said today.

Bill McWhorter of 1903 St. Clair Ave. will be manager of the store. He said the store will observe regular hours.

Prizes will be given.

The store is air - conditioned and completely remodeled, including carpeting inside and at the entrance. There will be clerk service and self-service.

The store was originally on the Diamond, but was burned out in the March 3 fire.

Ex-Firm Head Dies

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—John J. Power Jr., Youngstown, former president of the Automatic Sprinkler Division of the Automatic Sprinkler Corp. of America, died Thursday in a Boston hospital. Power, 57, became ill a week ago while vacationing with his family in Nantucket, Mass.

Dawson Assists In Support For 2 State Issues

Frank A. Dawson of East Liverpool has been named general chairman of the Greater Ohio Committee of southern Columbiana County.

His appointment was announced Thursday by State Sens. Ted Gray and Frank W. King, co-chairmen of the Greater Ohio Committee.

The committee headed by Dawson held its first meeting at noon today at the Travelers Hotel.

A Greater Ohio Committee of northern Columbiana County also is being formed.

The Greater Ohio Committee is a bipartisan organization supporting the two state constitutional amendments (Issues 1 and 2; which will be on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Issue 1 proposes the spending of $500 million over a five-year period for highway construction and elimination of urban traffic bottlenecks.

It also proposed $259 million for capital improvements in various areas, including water pollution, mental health, higher and technical education, vocational education and juvenile delinquency.

All projects included in Issue 1 will be subject to legislative approval.

Ask Court Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Top city and police officials have asked for a U.S. District Court review to determine whether the recent federal grand jury has used a "disorderly vehicle" to obtain evidence for the defense of three federal officials. The motion, filed on behalf of Columbus' mayor, safety director, police chief and ranking police officials, also asks a court decision on whether any federal officials have violated the secrecy of the jury proceedings.

A Blow To World Relations

Following the pattern of the Hungarian slaughter of 1956, the Soviet Union struck without warning and occupied the small country. Hundrds of tanks and thousands of soldiers were involved in the strike at the heart of Czechoslovakia's liberalization movement.

LEARNING A LESSON from 1956 when Russia received harsh criticisms from countries around the world for the mass slaughter of thousands of Hungarians, the Soviets included soldiers from the Communist nations of Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria and Hungary in the ranks of the occupation force.

The sham didn't work because there isn't a capital in the world that doesn't know it's Russia's ballgame from beginning to end.

The consensus of international feeling that Russia's invasion is a violation of Czechovlovakia's sovereignty as well as being morally wrong and contrary to international law.

Official reaction in Czechoslovakia was a request that troops be withdrawn and urged Czech citizens to maintain peace rather than offer resistance.

Czechoslovakia is about the size of New York state and is ill-equipped to take on the Communist bloc militarily. Results would have been the same as the ill-fated rebellion in Hungary where final death toll estimates run as high as 32,000.

There is little the United States government can do other than use every possible forum to issue scathing denunciations of the heavy-handed Soviet action.

The United States has maintained an official silence on the Czechs' liberalization campaign in an effort to keep American support from being used against the movement.

There is no longer a need for America to remain mum.

The tears in the eyes of Czechs as they reported for work after the occupation expresses their feelings. Americans sympathize with them in their grief.

There still is a faint hope that invading troops will leave without ripping the small flower of freedom from the Czechoslovakia soil — but it is dimming fast.

THE CRUSH blow dealt by the Sovet Union has ramifications outside the boundaries of Czechoslovakia.

All the precarious bridge-building through expanded East-West trade, cultural exchanges and international agreements has been dashed by one blind, idiotic and uncalled-for blunder by the tyrannical Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union's coldly calculated maneuver gained the desired effect in Czechkoslovakia but blasted international relations back to the middle of the Stone Age.

Stock Up On Memories

You think it's been rather warm? Console yourself, please, by recalling the Copeland Theory of Natural Balances.

Ed Copeland, U.S. weather observer at Millport, declares no matter how dry, how hot the weather, there is eventually a compensating extreme to maintain the average.

We're either making up for that long frigid spell last winter, or laying the groundwork for a real chillblain come January or February.

So just think cool, friends, and stock up on a few memories to still the chattering of your teeth against the howling winter winds a few months hence.

The Food Production Race

the 1970s and '80s, according to experts around the globe.

If the predictions are accurate, the thesis of 19th century British economist Thomas Robert Malthus will prove correct. He contended "The power of population is indefinitely greater than the power of earth to produce subsistence for man."

Even if the United States produces as much food as possible and exported all the surplus abroad, the current rate of population increase in Asia, Africa and Latin America would soon outstrip the supply.

FOOD SHORTAGE experts tell us the coming famine is nothing less than a mathematical certainty if the world population continues upward at its present rate.

Well-fed Americans have difficulty comprehending the coming global food crisis because many had assumed that such a possibility had been eliminated by a combination of U.S. food shipments and agricultural development projects abroad.

But even with American assistance in the field of agriculture, world food production is creased 6.5 per cent since 1960 and the population.

In Latin America Food production has increased 6.5 per cent since 1960 and the population has increased by nearly 12 per cent.

In the Far East—a region containing nearly one-half of the world's 3.3 billion people the story is the same. Population is increasing at a rate of 10 per cent while food production increases at a rate of 8.5 per cent.

George B. Kistiakowsky, a special assistant for science and technology to President Eisenhower, once warned a Senate subcommittee that unless world population is curbed general war is unavoidable.

THE POTENTIAL suffering and death and the threat of widespread political and social disorder place the food crisis in a priority category.

Propagation must be slowed to avoid calamlty and that is one reason the Pope's encyclical banning use of birth control devices met with much resistance and anguish.

Against the backdrop of gloomy famine predictions by experts, the novel methods India is using to promote birth control do not seem humorous, instead, they accentuate the critical status of the food-population race.

Brink Of The Clink

By Art Buchwald

CHICAGO — The American method of selecting a president has been under criticism this year. There are charges that it is cumbersome and out of date. I believe there is something to be said for beefing up the American presidential elections, and I think I know how it could be done.

Art Buchwald

We should take a leaf from our devoted allies, the South Vietnamese, who are not only practicing democracy as we taught it to them, but who are adding a few innovations of their own.

For example, in the last presidential election the South Vietnamese chose Nguyen Van Thieu as their president, and he was duly sworn in. But the man who ran against him and came in second, Truong Dinh Dzu, was given five years in jail.

THE REASON DZU was given five years was that he ran on a peace ticket and advocated some sort of detente with the Viet Cong.

President Thieu's way of dealing with his opposition could easily be adapted to our own political system.

If we applied the Thieu election method, it would not only eliminate many candidates who weren't serious about the office, but it would add a lot of excitement to the presidential race. A candidate for president would know that he would either wind up in the White House if he won, or behind bars if he lost. This would give him an added incentive to fight for the job.

I have always believed that we in the United States have let our losers off too easily after a presidential election. Even though a man as been ignominiously defeated at the polls, he is still treated by his party as a statesman.

WE SAW IN Miami Beach where the Republicans not only cheered Barry Goldwater, a man who took them down the long road to defeat in 1964, but gave a standing ovation to Thomas Dewey, the two-time loser who showed so much courage in 1948 when he refused to shave off his mustache, knowing it would cost him the election.

And this year, the Republirans went so far as to renominate Richard Nixon, a man who not only lost a presidential election, but a governor's contest as well.

This could never have happened if we used the South Vietnamese democratic system of electing national figures. If they lived in Vietnam, Dewey would have received 10 years, Goldwater 5 and Nixon would probably still be breaking rocks on a chain gang.

The Republicans, like it or not, would have had to come up with somebody new.

The Democrats would also be on a spot. I wonder if presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey would talk as much about the "politics of joy" if he knew he'd have to do 5 years at Leavenworth. And Gene McCarthy certainly wouldn't take this campaign so lightly if he were aware that his dovish stand on Vietnam would earn him a court-martial. Even George McGovern would think twice about getting into the presidential sweepstakes if he had a prison sentence hanging over his head.

PRESIDENT THIEU has been criticized for what he did to his opponent Dzu. But in retrospect he had shown us that political campaigns can have a great deal more suspense to them if you treat your opposition with the harshness they deserve.

There are many in this country who are sick and tired of seeing politicians get off scot-free after a presidential election. If the issue in this campaign is law and order, we have to stop coddling our losers. Five years in the clink is a cheap price to pay for running for president of the United States, not counting what he could get off for good behavior.

'It's Out Of My Hands!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Secret Poll Favors Wallace

CHICAGO: — This is a city of aspirin alleys. There are more headaches per square foot of professional politicians — the men who'll have to run the Democratic campaign after Labor Day — than at any time since Caesar headed for the Forum. The headaches come from an acute case of "Wallace-ism." The bouncy ex-Alabama governor appears to have more solid union members' votes in his hands than at first appears believable.

Victor Riesel

But if the private polls are accurate — and certainly they've been painfully costly — George Wallace is cutting heavily into every major labor organization in the land.

Walter Reuther's Eastern directors, for example, have just informed the auto union leader that a poll of the UAW members in Connecticut disclosed that 30 per cent preferred Mr. Wallace over all other candidates and front runners.

Of course we'll hear loud denials. But pay no heed. The survey was made last month. It has frightened the labor leaders. It's scared the hell out of those Democratic National Committee staff people who've been permitted to see the results.

That's it. Why analyze? Everybody reads the signals clearly. One New York specialist in the political-labor field, who rarely misses a rubberized roast beef testimonial banquet to which everybody brings his own speakers, listened carefully to my analysis of George Wallace's Southern support.

MY FRIEND, THE EXPERT, who knows every nook and cranny of the movement, having lived in them so long, was especially interested in my recent discussions with William Truman Thrash, president of the Alabama Building and Construction Trades Union Council (AFL-CIO). Thrash has been supporting Governor Wallace for 12 years.

Mr. Thrash, who says he has more union titles than money, has the official permission of his Operating Engineers local to go anywhere, any time, for as long as he wishes to organize and whip up votes for George Wallace, "Eighty to eighty-five per cent of the unionists in Alabama have supported Wallace," Thrash told me the other day. "My General President, Hunter Wharton, intsrnational president of the Operating Engineers) knows how active I've been.

"Four years ago George Meany queried him about my pro-Wallace activities. He asked me, and I told him how we feel about Wallace. He told Meany. I never heard from them again." Mr. Thrash said that there were 35 locals in the Birmingham Building Trades Council alone which back Mr. Wallace.

My New York friend listened and then sputtered. "That's nothing. Just take a poll of the 350,000 building and construction trades union members in New York State, and see if you don't come up with a pro-Wallace percentage matching that of the UAW members in Connecticut.

"GO OUT ON Long Island, all the way out, and see what's doing in the smaller retail shops among the help. The union won't tell you, but there's Wallace-ism all over the place." So it is. Steel union people disconsolately report it in the Gary-Hammond area. Pittsburgh is not immune.

William Thrash reported heavy support in the San Francisco Bay area when he worked that sector for George Wallace. Mr. Wallace told me he'll vouch for it in Ohio's big industrial cities, and specifically mentioned Cleveland and Columbus.

Then he said, "Let me have someone call you and read you a list of locals which have written to us."

A Wallace aide, Mr. Cecil Jackson, telephoned. He had a list. It's bound to give the pro-Humhrey labor leaders political migraines.

He reeled off two painters locals, one plumbers unit, one from the Office and Professional Employes, another from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; and still others, from the Communications Workers of America, the United Glass and Ceramic Workers, nine locals from a carpenters district council and locals of the bricklayers, asbestos workers, railroad workers, steelworkers, and the sheet metal workers.

"WE'VE JUST MOVED into a new headquarters," said the lilting Mr. Jackson. "We've other endorsements, most of them accompanied by checks, buried in our as yet unpacked files. But it's not just the South.

"We're picking up rank-and-file support all the way from Houston to Detroit. We see the crowds. They're pouring out by the thousands. We believe we have a substantial labor vote, and that we'll outnumber the other candidates in many a so-called labor district, in the cities and the suburbs."

He has a point. An unreported analysis by the selfeffacing experts of the Business-Industry Political Action Committee (BIPAC) came up with some sinewy statistics.

They disclosed that in all but one of the six state presidential primaries where voters could write in Wallace's name, Mr. Wallace got more write-in votes on the Democratic line than on the Republican line.

Thus, more Democrats showed a preference for him than did Republicans. Only in Pennsylvania did he pull more Republicans. And then, with but a razor-edge percentage.

RAYMOND MOLEY

Bliss' Role

Many observers at Miami Beach agree that they have never seen a convention so free from abrasive conflicts and distressing disorder.

A major reason why good humor so generously prevailed was the masterful management of arrangements by Ray Bliss, the national chairman. In other cities and in other years much of the ill temper that prevailed had its origins in incompetent management of arrangements.

When a delegate or guest has trouble about his hotel reservations or his seating in the convention or facilities for moving about, he is likely to exaggerate the differences that face the convention. We all know that when our day begins with discomforts at home or a spat in the family, the business of the day will be colored by such early irritations.

I HAVE ATTENDED seven Republican National conventions since the 1930s, and I have never seen such efficiency in preparations as at Miami Beach.

That perfection was due to months of preparation by the most competent national chairman the GOP has had in the 50 years since Will Hays assumed that office.

But Bliss regarded these arrangements as mere chores, for his real contribution has been in bringing the Republican party out of the disaster and division of 1964 to the status of equality with the Democrats and a good if not excellent chance of victory this year.

But working for the recovery of a party from defeat is no new experience for Bliss. In 1958 certain employers insisted in putting a right-to-work amendment on the Ohio ballot. Sen. John Bricker and Bliss protested without avail. Organized labor responded by pouring great sums and hundreds of workers into the fight to defeat it. Labor won by a big majority, but down the drain went the Republican ticket. The day of the disaster Bliss began to work for the GOP recovery.

During the two years that followed he created a great Republican revival. As a result, Richard Nixon in 1960 carried Ohio by the largest GOP majority in any state. In 1962 the Republican renaissance continued. Republicans won the Ohio governorship, the Legislature and 18 of 24 congressional seats. Despite the defeat of the national ticket in 1964, GOP candidates did fairly well in the state.

The brilliant success of Bliss in Ohio and his high standing among all state chairmen made him the natural choice to succeed Dean Burch who had been selected by Barry Goldwater in 1964. Goldwater himself urged Bliss to take over the national committeeship in early 1965.

In Washington Bliss has applied the Ohio formula for success over the nation. He reorganized the national committee staff from top to bottom. He has traveled from state to state inspiring and instructing state and local party officials. He is a true professional, this man who had demonstrated his value in Ohio for over 17 years.

The culmination was the big Republican sweep in 1966. The details of that victory are a twice-told tale. Suffice it to say that the GOP has reached a status of equality with the Democrats, the first time this has happened since 1952.

Political success is built upon three components: Attractive candidates; issues that move the mind and heart of voters, and competent organization down to the precinct level. The most important of these is organization.

THE REASON we read so little about organization is that it isn't hot news. It is easier to dwell upon personalities and issues, but when the payoff comes in an election, the results depend upon the vitality and number of precinct workers and the proportion of the eligible vote that is brought to the polls.

An almost certain victory in 1948 was lost because so many Republicans failed to vote. And one important reason for that failure was the long-standing tradition observed in both parties of changing a new national chairman every four years after the candidate was nominated. And also that such chairmen were only part-time workers.

All that was changed when Ray Bliss was selected under conditions that he himself specified. He demanded continuous tenure, full-time pay and enough money in the treasury to operate as he had operated in Ohio. Since Nixon has already said that Bliss would stay, we may assume that the revival of voters participation in the party affairs will continue in the future as it has since 1965.

Damage Suit Filed By Strike-Hit Firm

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull County Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffith Jr. scheduled a hearing today on a $1 million damage suit by the Daniels Motor Freight & Eazor Express, Inc.

The suit, filed Thursday, is against Local 377 of the Teamsters and 17 employes of Daniels-Eazor.

Also, the suit asks that 150 striking truck drivers be ordered back to work.

The dispute reportedly started over the company's firing of several drivers. A union spokesman said Tuesday's walkout was a wildcat strike and illegal.

County's Fair Offers More Attractions

A skydiver safety officer for northeastern Ohio, the 30-year-old jumper thrilled the crowd with a daring dive and glide into the grounds.

A smoke bomb traced his 2,000-foot free fall. Then his chuts blossomed and he began the long slant in over the grandstand roof.

Galen Greenisen, announcer, kept the grandstand crowd informed of the jumper's position since the roof obscured the view. Spectators in the stands saw Mattevi only for the last five seconds as he twisted desperately to avoid the boom of a large crane in position by the balloonist's fire trench. It will be used to hold the bag over the fire stack.

Vic rolled in like a halfback hit from the blind side. Spectators dashed and tumbled to get out of the way. Seconds later he was on his feet, waving to the applauding crowd.

If Oliver should be unable to jump, Mattevi and two fellow members of the Alliance Skydivers, Vince Weyant and Jay Hill, both of Lisbon will make free-fall jumps this evening onto the race track oval.

The Lisbon High School band directed by David May performed yesterday and led the evening parade. The Leetonia band will play today and Lisbon again Saturday.

THE FAIR opened with hot, humid weather Wednesday and faces the same conditions right up to the finale, a horse show beginning at 4 p. m. Sunday.

Ed Copeland of Millport, U.S. Weather observer, was on the grounds yesterday and remarked the temperature had been in the 90's four consecutive days.

The coolest job on the grounds is the fellow on the bar above the water tank, hoping midway "Sam McDowells" hit the target every pitch.

Harness races were run this afternoon and are scheduled again for 2 Saturday afternoon. There will be two heats of mule races afterward, with fair directors driving one heat.

Other attractions tomorrow will be a pony-pulling contest at 9 a. m., the grand finale parade at 7 and the grandstand show at 8. On stage will be Uncle Heavy and the Pork Chop Revue with Oink the Singing Pig, Jo-Jo the Clown as master of ceremonies; the Cassidy Sisters and the Sparkletts.

Diane Thompson, 17, of Hanoverton RD 1, is happy to have a prize brother along with a prize steer and saddle horse. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, who raises potatoes and strawberries, besides winners, on their farm on the Gavers - Millport Rd.

Diane's 965-pound angus, the grand champion blue ribbon at his ear, led the parade of 94 steers into the auction ring at the coliseum.

But Miss Thompson, a senior at Southern High School, was not at his side. She showed her horse yesterday at the Ohio State Fair unaware her steer was No. 1 in the 4-H and Future Farmers of America competition.

LEADING the chunky steer was Jim Thompson, Diane's brother and a freshman at Southern. He had a big night in his own right because his marcelled 1,185-pound Hereford won the rate-of-gain trophy presented by Lee Bowman for Farmers National Bank of Salem.

Diane's animal came from the Summitcrest herd of Fred Johnson of Summitville. Two years ago, Diane's older brother, Dave, had the grand champ, a Hereford from the family herd. Dave was graduated from Southern last year and is attending business college in East Liverpool.

The reserve champion was a 975-pound Hereford raised by John Grubbs, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grubbs of the Lisbon - Leetonia Rd. He is a senior at Leetonia High School.

Ninety - four animals weighing 83,980 pounds went into the ring last night and were auctioned off by Hubert Amos of Scio for $25,447.71.

The average of 893.4 pounds per steer and 30.3 cents per pound, compared with 29.8 cents last year. Glenn Shreve of Damascus was sale manager.

Grange exhibits in the Arts and Crafts Building were attractive. Willow Grove won first place, Guilford was second, Unity third, Mile Branch fourth and Mt. Nebo fifth.

United School, East Liverpool City Hospital School of Nursing, the County Retarded Workshop and the County Home had special exhibits in the building.

The midway attracts crowds to the rides, games, food and novelty stands. Most of the candidates for public office can be seen distributing advertising pieces.

There were few entries in the floral department this year. They looked lonely at the far end of Exhibition Hall (formerly the Floral Hall). The Beaver Rural Garden Club took first in club displays.

The Senior Citizens have a display in the Exhibition Hall basement, with needlework and hobbies featured. There is a covered wagon made of popsickle sticks and a four-poster bed made of spools!

Ollie Campbell of East Liverpool, the man in charge, asks visitors if they like it and, when they say they do, he replies, "See what you have to look forward to."

Halter class 2, senior—Theresa Hoon, East Palestine Rough Riders Club; Darlene Scott, Rough Riders; Teresa Morlan, Rough Riders; Luanne Bardo, Circle 62 of Salem; Lorraine Mellinger, Lisbon Hi Riders.

Tonight's events at the fair will feature the Hookstown Saddle Club Horse Show at 6 p.m.

A lightweight horse pulling contest will begin Saturday at 11 a. m., and a contest among the heavyweight class scheduled for 2 p. m. Stage shows will be held in the afternoon and evening. A machinery and livestock Saturday evening will be followed by the concert by the Good News Choir of the Bethel United Methodist Church.

The Northwestern Square Dancers of Northwestern High School in Beaver County will also present a program.

Parking

"so that not a penny of the city's operating revenue would be required" to amortize the debt.

THE CERAMIC Lot is by far the largest city - operated facility and apparently the only one that lends itself ideally to construction of a multi - level structure. The mayor explained that a small lot is not suitable because access ramps eat into available space.

"Our parking situation has taken a turn for the worse instead of better in recent weeks," Willshaw commented. "The opening of the expanded lot on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, was more than counterbalanced by the closing of the Community Lot at E. 6th and Walnut Sts."

He added that additional autos probably will be flowing into the Broadway - Washington St. area soon when Kent State University takes over the former high school building. In addition to parking required for faculty members, the daily influx of students probably wll include a high percentage of students using their own cars, he said.

CLOSING OF the Community Lot produced a flood of "homeless" downtown parkers. Some found their way to the expanded lot on W. 6th St. that was opened about two weeks ago. So the "new" spots were canceled out quickly.

"This won't happen next week, or the week after that, but it looks more and more like the answer to our problem," Willshaw said. "At least we're going to give it a real try."

Off - hand estimates indicate that an elevated parking structure would cost approximately $2,200 per auto space. Preliminary figures have been gathered which show such structures cost as little as $2,000 per space in some communities and as high as $2,400 in others.

"At least we would not have the heavy expense of acquiring expensive business district property for a starter," the mayor pointed out. "It would be a case of building on top of space the city already owns."

RECORDS SHOW the city acquired the basic Ceramic site in September 1961 for $45,000 from the heirs of the Tallman Estate. It spent another $20,000 razing the mammoth brick structure, leveling the site, applying a blacktop surface and installing meters. The original site, completed at a cost of about $65,000, provided spaces for approximately 40 cars.

The lot proved such a success that the city acquired adjacent property a few years later to expand the site. The ground for the so-called "Ceramic Annex" included real estate contributed by W. Leland Thompson. The same donor provided the land that made it possible for the city to expand the W. 6th St. lot a few weeks ago.

Officials plan to contact administration spokesmen in Findlay for data on parking garage construction. The Hancock County (Ohio) community of 30,000 has erected a 5-tier parking facility in its business district. A professional planning concern which was involved in the project also will be contacted for information.

BURNING-UP CALORIES
Q. Are some foods burned up faster than others? Would such foods be better for persons on a reducing diet?
A. The rapidity with which food is digested or metabolized (burned up) does not affect the caloric value of the diet. Regardless of the time required for the food to be metabolized, calories will be converted to fat if total caloric intake exceeds energy expenditure.
FATS AND OILS
Q. Terms like cholesterol, saturated fats, unsaturated fats, etc. have me confused. Would you please explain?
A. Cholesterol is a complex, solid fat-like product found in animal tissues. It is not present in fats and oils from vegetable sources. "Saturated" fats are those in which there are no missing hydrogen atoms, and are usually solids. Animal fats are generally saturated fats. "Unsaturated" fats are deficient in hydrogen atoms, and are usually liquids. They are generally derived from vegetable sources. Edible oils can be converted to margarines and shortenings by partially saturating it with hydrogen atoms ("hydrogenation"). The extent of hydrogenation can be controlled to produce any consistency desired.

Residents Of Japan Visit Here

East Meets West Locally

By LUCILLE HUSTON

Two residents of Japan are learning how the other half lives in visits here.

One, a girl of 18, already is getting a "kick" out of the whole thing, having become a football fan even before seeing her first game.

Yuko Takebayashi of Kagoshima — the girl — and Taiki Osaka of Yokohama — came to East Liverpool within weeks of each other.

YUKO, a Rotary Exchange student, arrived Monday and will reside here for a year. She will attend East Liverpool High School as a senior.

Presently living with Assistant Superintendent of Schools Carl Pelini and Mrs. Pelini and their children, she will spend four months in their home, four months with Mr. and Mrs. Jackman S. Vodrey and the final four months with Mr. and Mrs. Alwyn C. Purinton Jr.

Taiki Osaka, who is 29, is also here under an exchange student program. He has been in America for six weeks and will spend two more weeks in this country.

Taiki's first stop was San Francisco, where he spent three days. Then he went to Long Beach, Calif., for four weeks. He traveled by bus to Flagstaff, Ariz., then to Chicago, Ill., and Royal Oak, Mich., and now to East Liverpool. He will rejoin his group in Royal Oak and then visit Washington, D. C., and New York City before returning to Japan. He is one of three selected from 250 to visit America.

TAIKI works in the Loan Review of the Bank of Yokohama. He is studying English in conjunction with the banking business. His primary concern is the economic activity in America, but he is also interested in our educational system, our social security system and our over-all standard of living.

Prague Streets Deserted

Defiant Czechs Strike; Leader Goes To Moscow

Plans Talks With Heads Of Kremlin

No Confirmation Of Report Saying Dubcek Is Dead

PRAGUE (AP) — Defiant Czechoslovaks staged a one-hour general strike today to protest the Soviet-led invasion intended to crush their nation's liberalization, and President Ludvik Svoboda went to Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders.

Prague streets were deserted as sirens and bells at noon signaled the start of the strike, called by liberal Czechoslovak Communists. Numerous arrests by occupation forces were reported, with journalists and cultural leaders the chief targets.

The clandestine free Radio Prague began broadcasting license numbers and makes of cars being used by agents making the arrests, presumably the pro-Soviet faction of the Czechoslovak police.

Young people printed leaflets carrying the license numbers and urging Czechoslovaks to hinder the movement of these cars. One report said one of the cars was destroyed.

No shooting was heard during the morning and Prague was generally calm. Soviet tanks occupied all bridges but automobiles were permitted to use at least one.

Svoboda and the Czechoslovak Communist party, which had tried to bring some freedom to the nation, both vowed not to recognize any Soviet puppet government.

Efforts to form such a government apparently were the reason for a visit by Soviet Ambassador Ivan Chervonenko to Svoboda's quarters in Prague Castle Thursday.

The president has declared he would recognize only the legal government headed by Premier Oldrich Cernik, who is in Soviet hands.

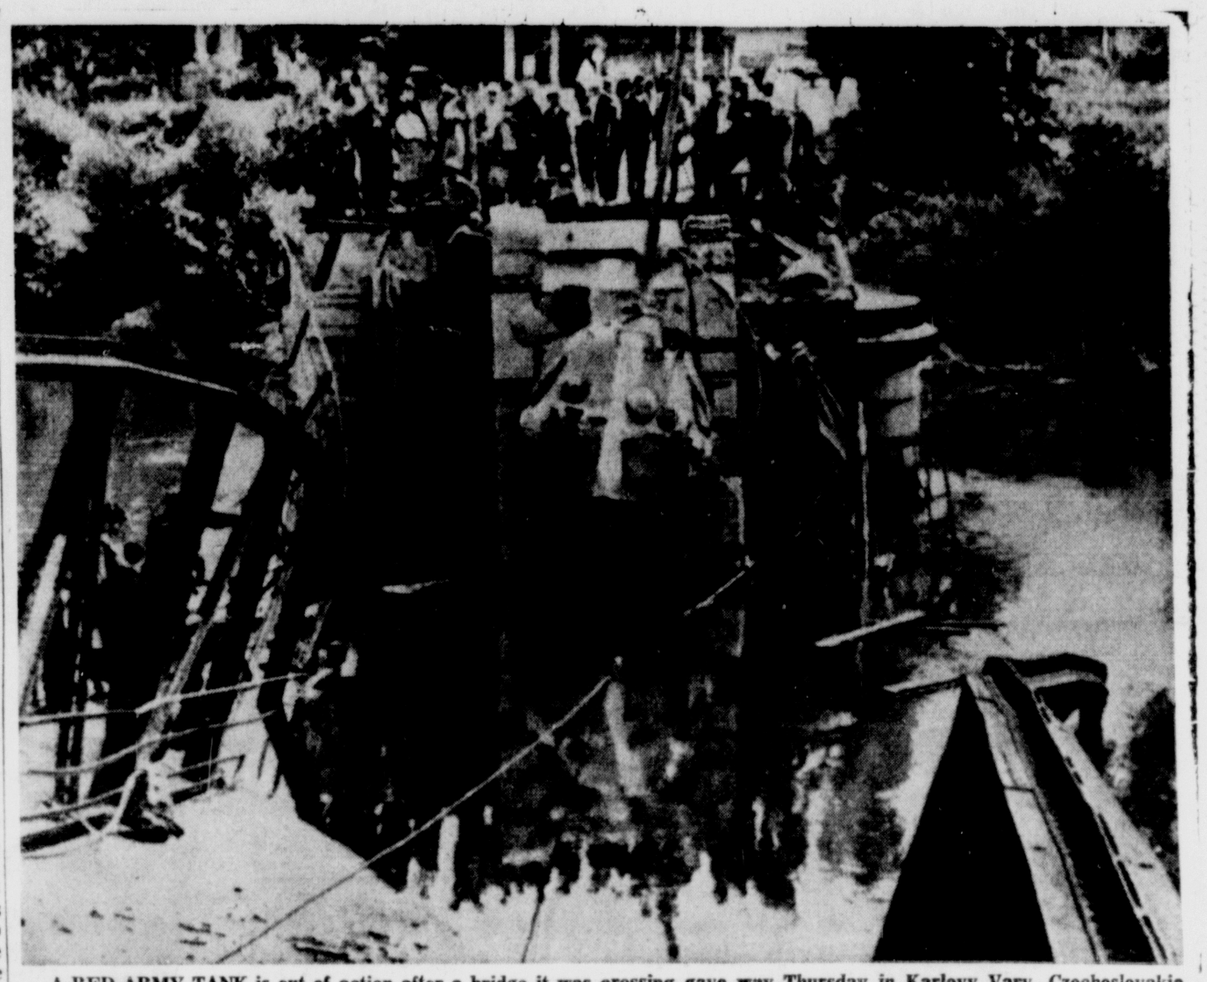

He announced that negotiations with Soviet officials in Prague had been fruitless and he was going to Moscow.

"Have trust in me. I expect to be back tonight," he said.

Meeting secretly to avoid Soviet controls, the Communist party called on Czechoslovaks to walk off the job at noon today unless the occupation troops pull out and release Czechoslovak liberal leaders.

Downtown Need Increases

City Studies Ceramic Lot For Multi-Level Parking

By ROBERT POPP

The city administration and Council plan to take a long, hard look into the possibility of building an additional deck or decks of concrete atop the Ceramic Parking Lot, feeling the idea presents possiblities for creating new auto spaces in a heavily - used location without the necessity of tearing down more business property.

Although the possibility has been discussed on several occasions in the past, the continuing parking problem in East Liverpool has prompted officials to make an investigation in earnest, studying particularly the problems of design, cost and amortization of the debt that would result.

Mayor George E. Willshaw said he sees the project as the answer to the constantly-voiced complaint that the downtown area does not have enough spaces for the autos of all the people who drive into the district in peak hours.

In the same breath, the complainant is likely to remark that "in a few years, the central business district will be nothing but parking lots and service stations" — referring to razing of business property to accommodate the proliferating autos.

"WE CAN'T go on indefinitely making a checkerboard of vacant lots out of downtown East Liverpool to take care of the cars," the mayor commented. "There's a limit to the amount of business property that can be razed to establish parking lots."

The mayor said he expects to discuss the multi - level lot proposal informally with members of Council Saturday morning.

He said he can visualize three or four tiers in a decked structure above the present Ceramic Lot, if studies show that such a structure would be feasible economically and from the motorists' standpoint. Each level might have a capacity of 70 cars.

"The Ceramic Lot is an excellent location," he commented. "It has proved itself from the very outset. It is our most-heavily used lot, primarily because it is such a short distance from the heart of the business district."

HE POINTED out a motorist can leave his auto on the Ceramic Lot and walk to E. 5th St., midway between Market St. and Washington St., in a matter of moments by taking the usual shortcut through Crook Alley.

The mayor said preliminary, informal studies already are under way, particularly on design and cost factors.

"I think this idea is entirely feasible," he commented. "All our parking lots have paid for themselves out of meter revenue and there is no reason to believe the same procedure could not be followed again." He pointed out that the city could issue mortgage revenue bonds to pay for the project

'Western Hoedown' Among Features Of Tonight's Program

By PAUL YOUNG

LISBON — Eldon Daniel's daredevil drivers gave a Columbiana County fair crowd "its money's worth" Thursday night —and a bite of dust for good measure.

The grandstand was packed for the spins, platform jumps and crashes.

Fair directors change the record tonight, introducing Pee Wee King's "Country Western Hoedown," certain to attract the guitar and ballad set. All the grandstand shows are free.

Directors estimated Thursday's attendance at 15,000, up 3,000 over Thursday last year. They said it was the biggest second - day they can remember.

The secretary's office reported late this morning that John R. Oliver, 81, Lisbon balloonist, is on the grounds and plans to make an ascension and parachute drop this evening at 5.

Oliver was ill yesterday (relatives said he became overcome with the heat while working on the fire trench) and had to cancel the much publicized demonstration.

Vic Mattevi of Lisbon RD 4 substituted with a free - fall parachute drop from a plane on-

Proclaim It Crowning Point Of Visit

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Pope Paul VI was hailed as the Pope of hope by thousands of Colombians who watched with emotion as the pontiff kissed the soil when first setting foot in this part of the world.

Many wept Thursday as they witnessed this act of humility by the Pope and proclaimed it the crowning moment of his historic visit.

The pontiff journeys by helicopter today to a meeting with thousands of Latin-American peasants in a huge meadow, called San Jose Field, outside the village of Mosquera, 18 miles from Bogota.

His address is expected to be of far-reaching significance. The Catholic hierarchy is already on record stressing that the Church will take a more active role in the effort to help Latin America's impoverished millions.

The 70-year-old pontiff's welcome Thursday was described as the most tumultuous of his six trips abroad. Cries of "Viva El Papa!" resounded wherever he went in this Colombian capital. Some exclaimed: "He's truly a Pope of hope!"

The long day of papal activities, witnessed by hundreds of thousands of Colombian and foreign pilgrims, ended at 8 p.m. with the ordination of 161 priests and 41 deacons.

In a way, this ceremony underlined the Church's efforts to bolster its thinning ranks in Latin America. A source close to the Pope's party said many of the new priests were under the required minimum age of 24 years and had not fully completed their studies.

The deacons were the first to receive the lowest form of sacred orders which allow them to administer many sacraments but not say Mass or hear confessions. Four of them are married. Their ordination allows priests to devote more time to other functions. The decline in religious vocations has adversely affected the Church's work in Latin America, Church sources said.

The ordination ceremony was part of the program of the 39th International Eucharistic Congress. It was held on the vast congress grounds in windy, chilly weather. Some in the crowd carried signs that said "Holy Father pray for Czechoslovakia."

'Break Ties With Russia,' Hays Advises

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, a ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, declared today that if the U.S. State Department "had one - tenth the courage of the plain people of Czechoslovakia," it would immediately break diplomatic relations with Moscow and send every Russian embassy employe back to Russia.

Hays said "it is widely known that every employe in the Russian embassy in Washington, including the janitors, is a spy and that it profits the Russians a thousand times more to have diplomatic relations with us, than it does for us to have diplomatic relations with them. The communist rulers in Russia have proved by their actions in Czechoslovakia for the 10,000th time that their word is no good, that they are thieves, liars, and murders and that we would be rid of them if we sent them back."

Hays said "they were obviously encouraged in their move by the antics of their stooges in this country who have been trying to peddle the propaganda vis-a-vis Vietnam, that the Communists are always right and Americans are always wrong. The Communists in the Kremlin have been supplying weapons to kill our boys in Vi-

Graduate Students Marry In Pittsburgh Ceremonies

Heinz Memorial Chapel at the University of Pittsburgh was the setting for the Thursday evening wedding of Miss Donna Sue Kwall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saul A. Kwall of Ellwood City, Pa., and John T. Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Smith of 3189 Harding Ave.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a full - length gown of white crepe accented with Venise lace. The Empire bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves. The detachable Watteau train was chapel length and trimmed with Venise lace.

—:—

HER BOUFFANT veil of silk illusion was attached to a Dior bow of crepe and Venise lace. She carried a bouquet of white glamelias. Her only jewelry was a gold watch, the gift of the bridegroom.

In observing the traditions, she carried the antique lace handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day, and borrowed a sixpence from Miss Julia Ann Smith, sister of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jeanne Smith and Miss Julia Ann Smith sisters of the bridegroom. They appeared in aqua gowns of peau de soie styled with short sleeves.

All the attendants wore matching Dior bow headpieces and carried arrangements of orange color carnations and daisies tied with satin streamers.

MRS. JOHN T. SMITH
Former Donna Kwall.

A RECEPTION followed at the Georgian Terrace Room of Hotel Webster Hall.

Following a honeymoon tour of eastern states, the newlyweds will reside at 200 North Negley Ave., Pittsburgh.

The bride was graduated in 1966 from Chatham College where she received a bachelor of arts degree in psychology. In 1967 she received her master of education degree in counselor education from the University of Pittsburgh and in 1968 her specialist counseling diploma.

The bridegroom was graduated in 1962 from East Liverpool High School. In 1966 he received his bachelor of science degree in psychology from the University of Pittsburgh, where he was awarded his master of counselor education degree in 1967 and his specialist diploma in counseling in 1968. Both currently are completing work toward doctor of philosophy degree.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Mines has blamed outdated and inaccurate maps for thee mine-wall breakthrough that caused an underground flash flood, killing four men and trapping 21 others near Hominy Falls, W. Va., last May.

The bureau reported Thursday the men did not realize how near they were to an adjacent flooded mine. It said the miners' maps were old and included at least one surveying error.

Fifteen men were trapped for five days after the mine accident May 6. Six other miners, given up for dead, were rescued after a week and a half underground.

WASHINGTON (AP) — About half the inmates of federal prisons are young convicts from 17 to 28 years old.

Myrl E. Alexander, director of the Bureau of Prisons, voiced concern over the increase in young violators Thursday as he reported the number of prisoners had begun to rise after a six-year decline.

Alexander emphasized new rehabilitation programs in the prisons with special attention on education. He said, "It's these kids we have to get to. We must intervene in their criminal careers."

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attorney for Air Force Capt. Dale E. Noyd, convicted of refusing to train fighter pilots for Vietnam, argued Thursday that the number of war veterans on the court martial panel made it impossible for Noyd to receive a fair trial.

Marvin Karpatkin, carrying Noyd's appeal before a military review board, said eight of the 10 officers who sat in judgement had returned recently from Vietnam. He said, "They would have to be superhuman to avoid leaning toward the prosecution side."

Noyd, whose application for classification as a conscientious objector had been refused, was convicted last March for refusing to obey orders to train fighter pilots at Cannon Air Force Base in New Mexico. He was sentenced to one year at hard labor and dismissal from the Air Force.

By Delegates, Not Committee

Democrats Seen Forming Platform At Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—The Democratic party platform probably will be hammered together on the floor of the convention itself by the more than 2,600 delegates —rather than by the 110-member platform committee.

This prospect—which could mean delay next week in nominating presidential and vice presidential candidates — became more real today as a determined minority of the platform committee insisted on what a spokesman called the strongest possible plank for an early end to the Vietnam war.

The dispute over Vietnam, which repeatedly has shouldered aside such concerns as social legislation to help the poor and alleviate urban problems, inspired two separate plank-drafting efforts.

One is by the official 21-meber platform drafting subcommittee, which met into the night Thursday and resumes work today.

The other is by a group of about 25 members of the platform committee, who claim their ranks include supporters of all of the major candidates as well as uncommitted delegates, all bent on writing specific instruction for seeking a disengagement of the United States from Vietnam.

As few as 11 members of the platform committee by signing a minority report can force a floor debate and a vote between alternate platform provisions.

The deep division in the platform committee was dramatized Thursday by its reaction to an emotion-charged speech by Gov. John Connally of Texas.

Connally said such proposals as a bombing halt, a suspension of aggressive combat action by U.S. forces and a coalition government in South Vietnam would threaten a complete takeover by North Vietnam and its allies.

Then referring by name to Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, chief rivals of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination, Connally said it was "a sad and tragic experience to see presidential aspirants of the Democratic party try to equate our course of action in South Vietnam with what the Russians have done in Czechoslovakia, but that is precisely what they did."

"I would implore this committee to write a plank which supports the determined fight of the administration to preserve . . freedom," Connally said. He got a standing burst of applause from most of the platform committee members.

Immediately after the session advocates of an early-peace plank gathered. Afterward, Theodore Sorensen, a long-time associate of the Kennedy family said: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or regardless of the nominee we can forget about the election. So we will present to the convention, as a majority report if it can be, or a minority report if it must be, the strongest peace plank we can pull."

New Enamel Coating Announced By Ferro

The Ferro Corp. has announced the development of a low-temperature, self-cleaning porcelain enamel coating for use in gas and electric cooking ovens.

Developed in the Cleveland laboratories of Ferro's Frit Division, it is being field-tested by range manufacturers.

Laboratory tests indicate "the coating has unique properties of removing soil and cooking spatters while the oven is operating at normal baking and broiling temperatures." However, recommended cleaning cycles are conducted at the peak temperatures of most ovens.

Chamber Slates Meeting Plans At Midland Session

Plans to initiate regular membership meetings were discussed when the executive board of the Midland Area Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting Wednesday night at the home of William Verzella of Ohioview, Industry.

Earl Rankin, Christmas Street - lighting chairman, reported the Chamber has ordered 10 additional Christmas decorations.

The dierctors decided to send a letter to Borough Council expressing appreciation to street department employes who unfurled flags along Midland Ave. prior to the annual July Fourth parade.

A general discussion of community projects was held. Anthony Martell, vice president, presided in the absence of Joseph Scalise, president.

The next meeting will be Sept. 11 at 7:30 p. m. at the McGeehan Agency.

2 Witnesses Report Versions Of Collision

Witnesses to an accident on Broadway Saturday involving an ambulance and an auto have indicated to police the ambulance driver — Robert Vranes of Midland — did not halt for the traffic signal.

Vranes, who said he had halted, said he had sounded his siren before the collision in the intersection with an auto operated by Joan P. Edgell, 18, of Andrews Pl. One witness said the siren was sounded, but not very loudly, and doubted if the girl could hear it.

ed. "One thing that stands out among American workers," he adds, "is that so many are women. Japan has many less."

Taiki is married and has one son. His family is large—he has two older brothers, four older sisters and two younger brothers. His home city of Yokohama has a population of more than two million people.

YUKO'S home city of Kagoshima is located on the southernmost island of Japan and has a population of 390,000.

Yuko boarded a plane in Japan at 10 Monday morning and, because she crossed the international dateline, arrived in Pittsburgh at 5:30 p. m. Monday. She actually traveled for 18 hours.

"High school in Japan is for three years," she pointed out, "but we attend the year around." Since she is not required to meet the Ohio State Department of Education's standards, she can choose her subjects. Her choices are American History — she wants to learn as much as she can about our country — mathematics and English, although she already speaks very good English. In addition, she will take speech, physical education and social studies.

Since her arrival Monday, Yuko has been indoctrinated into American sports, such as football, basketball, bowling and swimming. She has been playing football and basketball with David and Craig Pelini and says she is very, very anxious to see her first football game.

They went swimming Tuesday and, although she had only been swimming one time before in her life, she successfully dove from the diving board.

Susan Pelini, who is four, has lovingly adopted her new "sister" and does not want to let Yuko out of her sight.

YUKO IS "bubbling over" with enthusiasm for her new life. She says, "America is wonderful, very nice — I am very happy." Not only the words, but the expression in her eyes and the gestures which accompany them emphasize her sincerity.

Her parents are both living and she has three brothers — Kazuo, 20, Shigeaki, 16, and Tetuo, 13. Her father is an electrical engineer.

When asked if she worked after school in Japan, Yuko replied, "Yes, at home. I helped my mother. I like to cook." In fact, her favorite hobby is cooking. She plays the piano a little and enjoys listening to music. "Now," she said, I add football to the list."

Although she has seen only one program since her arrival here, she feels television in Japan is similar to ours.

Many people asks Yuko what she would like to do — what her ambition is. Her reply is always, "I want to be a good mother."

She is looking forward to visiting many places — including the Columbiana County Fair this week at Lisbon. She has been invited to see a dairy farm and she is looking forward to seeing her first snow.

The Rotary Exchange program is conducted by Rotary International. A club interested in sponsoring a student makes application, and then the club in the country selected, in this case, Japan, does the interviewing.

There are also two other Rotary exchange students in Columbiana County this year. Both will be attending United Local and living with families in the Winona and Salem area.

Inspector Announces Office Hour Schedule

Marvin Wooley, the city's new housing and zoning inspector, said today he will be in his City Hall office Monday through Friday from 9 to 9:30 a. m. and 1 to 1:30 p. m. to receive applications for zoning and building permits and answer questions.

Wooley said the two daily intervals will be set aside from his inspection duties so that the public will have definite times in which to contact him. His office is on the second floor of City Hall, adjacent to the office of Planning Coordinator Don Eckert.

Wooley's office telephone number is 386-6110. He was named Monday night by Mayor George E. Willshaw to succeed Chester M. Brown, resigned.

Mrs. Howard Dies Of Burns

Mrs. Doris Howard, 42, of 701 Washington Ave., Wellsville, wife of Willis Howard, died Thursday night at 6:15 at Doctors Hospital in Columbus, where she had been a patient for about two weeks after suffering burns.

Mrs. Howard, her husband and two children, Willis Jr., 11, and Pamela, 8, were attending a Jehovah's Witnesses assembly in Columbus, Aug. 9 when their camper trailer caught fire.

Mr. Howard remains in fair condition at the hospital and the two children are still critical at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Howard was born in Newell March 23, 1926, a daughter of Ralph Arrington of Wellsville and the late Carrie Carpenter Arrington. She was a member of the Wellsville Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

In addition to her husband, father and two children, Mrs. Howard leaves two brothers, Howard Arrington of Syracuse, N Y., and a twin brother, Donald Arrington of East Liverpool; two sisters, Mrs. Izetta Williams and Miss Patty Arrington, both of Wellsville, and her step-mother, Mrs. Mary Arrington of Wellsville.

The MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville is arranging services.

More Meetings Arranged To Air Housing Project

Two more meetings are scheduled in the next 60 days with officials of the Chicago regional office of the Housing and Urban Development Department to discuss plans for a 130 - unit development to provide housing for low-income families.

Plans for the $2,363,000 complex off Maine Blvd. were reviewed Thursday at the HUD office in Chicago by spokesmen for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority and Housing Associates of Columbus, which has been designated by the authority as the turnkey developer of the project.

The authority was represented by Aaron Eaton of East Liverpool, a member, and Merrill D. Hall, executive director. George Hyland of Akron appeared on behalf of the Columbus developer.

Thursday's meeting was devoted primarily to an initial review of the plans. A session is set Sept. 25 to study land appraisals and discuss the plans with the architect and the developer. The working drawings and specifications will be reviewed at a meeting Oct. 22.

Gov. Agnew To Make Appearances In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Republican vice presidential candidate, will be in Columbus and Cincinnati Saturday for quick visits with Gov. James A. Rhodes, state GOP leaders and workers.

Agnew is to arrive in Columbus about 1 p. m. meet with several hundred Republicans at the governor's mansion, leave for Cincinnati about 4:45 and address about 5,000 persons at the annual Hamilton County Republican picnic.

Same Old Record— Hot And Humid Again

Continuing to be brutally frank, the weatherman says simply that it will be "hot and humid through Saturday."

Tonight's low will range between 70 and 76.

Saturday's high will be in the 90s, dropping to the mid and low 80s Monday through Wednesday, with lows around 60.

The five - day forecast says rainfall wil total at least 0.5 to 0.75 inches, with thunder showers due during the weekend.

Mr. Cawood

He had resided in East Liverpool since 1888.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Virginia Stone Cawood, whom he married July 12, 1922; two daughters, Mrs. Furman South III of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and Mrs. John M. Roberts IV of East Liverpool, and 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Cawood was a member of the Methodist Church.

The family requests that material tributes take the form of contributions to Dollars for Scholars.

Mr. Cawood, whose principal enterprise was the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. in East End which he sold in 1956, resided here for 80 years.

Although he lacked a formal engineering education, he designed and produced numerous machinery items for district ceramic plants in establishing an industry that has a branch in Canada and has shipped worldwide. He remained as a director or officer in some of the firms, most of which were absorbed by other concerns or went out of business.

He attended East Liverpool High School, but quit to become an apprentice machinist, taking a correspondence course for the fundamental training that enabled him to expand the Patterson firm into an organization employing over 250 at one time.

Having retired after disposing of the firm to the Ferro Corp. of Cleveland, he devoted his time to travel, and in 1962 compiled and privately published a slim volume that traced the family ancestry back 1,000 years to Yorkshire, England.

HIS FOREBEARS settled in Maryland in 1665. His father was Alexander Cawood II, who moved to Belpre, Ohio, and his mother, the former Frances Elnora Henderson, who died in 1919. They had seven children, with Mr. Cawood the youngest.

The family moved to East Liverpool when Mr. Cawood was 7, about a year after his father died. He began his schooling here when 8, attending the former 6th St. building.

He became a friend of Monroe Patterson who offered him a job at the Patterson Works as an apprentice machinist in 1900.

MR. CAWOOD eventually became chief engineer. As the firm prospered, he turned to design and research, also devoting time to promotion and sales.

He began acquiring Patterson stock, finally obtaining a controling interest. Mr. Cawood expanded into new lines, including grinding machinery for ceramics, continuous mills for refining ceramic colors and paper coatings and pebble and ball mills for grinding paint products.

About 1925, Patterson built the new plant in East End, and abandoned the old works in the city's business district. A modern foundry was erected in 1928, and an extension built for the machine division.

More companies were then formed, including Patterson Steel Products, as a subsidiary for the fabrication of plate into mills and kettles, and Patterson Refractories in 1930 as another subsidiary which developed a ceramic material called Porox. Both subsidiaries later were consolidated in the parent firm.

BRANCH OFFICES then were established in many cities over the nation with sales agencies in other communities. In 1945, he established a Canadian manufacturing branch at Toronto.

Mr. Cawood was president of Patterson's for 36 years. After 56 years with the firm, he sold the business in 1956 to the Ferro Corp., which later disposed of the company to a group of Cleveland industrialists, who now operate Patterson Industries, Inc.

Mr. Cawood had been associated in other businesses, organizing the R. L. Cawood Co. to deal in white clay, and—in 1907 — the former Kenilworth Tile Co. at Newell, which later was acquired by New Castle Refractories.

He organized the American Paper Products Co. in 1915 with the late J. K. Moffett and B. W. Hunsicker. In 1958, the firm constructed a new plant at Boardman. Mr. Cawood resigned as president in 1962, and became chairman of the board.

Mr. Cawood served for 28 years on the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees and helped organize the Columbiana County Industrial Association in 1932, along with the late W. H. Vodrey. He was also a member of the Tri - State Industrial Association of Pittsburgh, serving on the board for seven years.

Mr. Cawood was one of the organizers of the Chamber of Commerce and the Country Club.

Vice president of the former Community Bank, he headed the committee that consolidated the Potters National Bank and the Dollar Savings Bank, forming the Potters Bank & Trust, of which he became president in 1930.

His affiliations included the Duquesne Club, the Univesity Club, the Longvue Club and the Pittsburgh Athletic Association of Pittsburgh and the Youngstown Club.

In 1923-24, he designed and built the home at Park Blvd. and St. Clair Ave. of Italian Renaissance style. It is considered a showplace.

Mr. and Mrs. Cawood presented carillon chimes to Trinity Church in St. Marys City, Md., in memory of his father, and English carillonic bells to the First Methodist Church here in memory of his parents.

Ex-Big League Player 'Heinie' Groh Claimed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Henry "Heinie" Groh, major league baseball infielder widely known for his use of the "bottle bat," died Thursday night in Drake Hospital. He was 78.

He had been hospitalized since Aug. 2.

Playing 17 years with the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Reds, Groh was identified with the bat he used—shaped at the handle and like the long neck of a bottle.

He hit a lifetime .292 in the majors and his biggest batting season was with Cincinnati in 1921 when he had a .331. He managed the Reds the last part of 1918.

Stores Reminded Of Obligation In Food Stamp Plan

A reminder of the responsibilities of grocery store owners in connection with the federal Food Stamp Program was issued today by L. D. Holt, officer in charge of the Midwest District.

There are 96 stores participating in the program in Columbiana County.

Holt referred to a recent decision by a Federal Court concerning a Chicago supermarket which had appeaed an administrative decision of the Department of Agriculture to suspend the store from participating for 30 days.

The retailer claimed that evidence failed to indicate or justify that he knowingly or willfully violated or permitted violation of the Food Stamp Program by its employees. The presiding judge in a precedent - setting decision upheld that the suspension "was entirely valid, appropriate, and fully warranted by the facts." He ruled that "a corporation is responsibe for the acts of its agents even though the acts are committed without the knowedge of the corporation."

The Food Stamp Program is one of USDA's answers to feeding needy people. A family exchanges the money it normally spends for food coupons (stamps) of a higher monetary value. The stamps are used just like cash at the supermarket except that they can only be used to purchase domestically produced foods, coffee, tea, bananas, and cocoa, as such. The bonus or free stamps average 38 per cent nationwide.

Pair Injured; Officers Cite Man In Crash

Two persons were injured and officers cited a motorist on two charges in a spectacular collision that damaged three autos Thursday at 7:45 p.m. on Washington St. near E. 6th St.

A 1956 sedan driven by Darwin Woodrow Stowers, 24, of 744½ Leonard St. went out of control while rounding the turn at the downtown intersection and struck a parked 1965 sedan owned by William M. Shuman of 509 Ketchel Ave., Newell, shoving it into a parked 1966 sedan owned by William Tomchay of Charleroi, Pa., officers reported.

Two passengers in Stower's car, Karen Stowers, 18, and Randy Stowers, 3, were taken to City Hospital by ambulance. Karen was uninjured and Randy suffered lip injuries. They were treated and released.

Patrolman Charles Coen, who investigated, cited Stowers on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Coen reported that Stowers was driving east on E. 6th St. As he turned onto Washington St., his car accelerated rapidly, went out of control and hit the two parked autos, he said.

The collision damaged the entire front end of Stowers' car and the rear sections of the other two autos.

Two cars were damaged in a collision Thursday at 4:44 p.m. on W. 5th St. at Monroe St., officers said.

The collision involved a 1964 four-door sedan driven by P. R. Blake, 82, of 1213 St. Clair Ave. and the auto of George B. Henthorn, 55, of 411 W. 4th St. The front of each auto was damaged.

Blake told police he was driving east on W. 5th St. and started to make a left turn onto Monroe St. when his car was hit by Henthorn's, which was moving west on W. 5th. Henthorn told officers Blake pulled in front of him and the cars hit head-on.

A collison on W. 6th St. at Dresden Ave. Thursday at 1:55 p.m. damaged a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Marie Buren, 26, of Wellsville RD 1 and a 1961 four-door operated by Gladys H. Bourne, 65, of 828 Bradshaw Ave.

The Wellsville area woman was in the right-hand lane on W. 6th St. and attempting a left turn onto Dresden Ave., officers said, while the local woman's car was in the left-hand lane, headed east. The collision damaged the left rear fender and door of the Buren auto and the right front fender and headlight of the Bourne car.

"TIRED DOUGHBOY" is typified by Woody Hawkins of Kenosha, Wis., who has donned a World War I uniform and marched in parades for the last 17 years. Hawkins, a World War II veteran, said the "Tired Doughboy" character was originated by a Kenosha World War I veteran, and he took it over in 1951. He wears size 22 shoes over his regular shoes and carries a fresh loaf of French bread on his back. When he's not parading, Hawkins keeps in shape by carrying the mail.

Judge Penalizes 9 Motorists On Traffic Charges

LISBON — A $15 fine against Nancy L. Brandonisio of Salineville, charged with speeding, was the largest levied in traffic cases Thursday by Judge J. L. MacDonald of Columbiana County Southwest Court.

Also fined were Janice M. Baxter, Hanoverton, stop sign violation, $10; Joseph W. Keating, Canton, expired operator's license, $5, and Harold R. Wylie, New Waterford, defective exhaust and improper use of motor vehicle with farm registration, $5 each.

Appearance bonds were forfeited by: Ernest W. Graybeal, Salem, speeding, and Donald Wilfong, Painesville, unsafe vehicle, $30 each; Charles A. Dobbins, Kensington, speeding, $25; James J. River-To-Lake Group Receives Contract Report

All projects in Columbiana County for the River-to-Lake Highway, Route 11, will be under contract by October, P. E. Masheter, director of the Ohio Department of Highways, told the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association at a meeting in Ashtabula Thursday night.

Masheter reported the entire highway will be under contract sometime in 1969, with completion being projected for two years later.

Approximately 60, including representatives from East Liverpool and District 11 of the Highway Department, attended the dinner and meeting held at the Hotel Ashtabula.

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Proceeds amounting to $5,800 from parimutuel betting at the Darke County Fair were taken by two holdup men early Friday after they tied up Robert Neaman and his wife in their home near New Madison. Neaman had taken the days racing receipts home in his briefcast.

Religious Figure Dies Cancer Fatal At 61

BERLIN, N.H. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Douglas Horton, 77, chief executive officer of the Congregational Christian Churches for 17 years and dean of Harvard University Divinity School from 1955 to 1959, died Wednesday. Dr. Horton was a key figure in formation of the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William C. Stewart, 61, former newspaper publisher who was a writer and editor for the Los Angeles Times since 1955, died Thursday of cancer. He had suffered from cancer for two years and wrote several articles about it for the Times. He formerly published the Southbridge (Mass.) Evening News.

Many Reported Dead In Soviet Plane Crash

VIENNA (AP) — The Czechoslovak radio reported today that a Soviet transport plane crashed during the night at the city of Budejovice and "there were many dead and injured" among the Soviets on it.

The injured were taken to a Czechoslovak hospital and the doctors there were administering blood transfusions, the broadcast added. Shortly thereafter, Soviet soldiers reported to the hospital to donate blood.

The broadcast had no other details.

Ceramic Playrites Earn Laughs With 3-Act Play

Unlikely motherhood for a middle - aged matron provided the laughable situation enjoyed by those who attended the opening night of the Ceramic Playrite's presentation of "Never Too Late" Thursday at the Liberty Theater at Wellsville.

The 3-act comedy will be presented again tonight and Sunday night.

The cast, which includes Ed McCune and Mary Welling, leads, and co-stars Dick Frankel, Rosemary Finney, Jim Graham, Rosemary Morris, Nick Arlov and Melanie Kinsey, performed like troupers, though for the most part it was their first time on stage.

McCune, who portrays a middle - aged New England lumberyard owner, and Miss Welling, his somewhat haggard 'wife," drew sympathetic laughter from the audience when she announced her pregnancy.

Frankel, the man - who-married - the boss'-daughter, Miss Finney, stole the show with his "loose - limbed" antics. His character especially shined in his efforts to avoid his wife, when she decided to become pregnant to escape the unaccustom duties of housework.

Arlov of Industsy, a new member of the Playrites, performed the duties of a policeman. Miss Kinsey portrays a convincing, if not unusual, lady carpenter.

Curtain time is at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Pottery Museum's Creation Linked To State's Bond Issue

The Ohio Historical Society at Columbus told municipal officials Thursday that establishment of an Ohio Pottery Museum here, probably in the present post office building, can be regarded as a virtual certainty if a statewide bond issue for capital improvements is improved at the November general election.

Responding to a letter from Don Eckert, city planning coordinator, Dan Porter, a director, said the historical society "has specifically approved an allocation of $100,000 for establishment of a Museum of Ceramic Dinnerware in East Liverpool." The funds would be provided from the statewide bond issue, provided it is approved by the voters and the legislature appropriates the money, he said.

PORTER said the society's board is "firmly on record" in favor of establishing the museum here. If the museum is set up in the post office, the title to the building would have to be held by the state of Ohio or the State Historical Society if state funds were expended on it, but the parts which were not being used for state purposes could be leased to the East Liverpool Historical Society, Porter added.

"The fate of this project rests on approval of Issue No. 1 (the bond issue) in the November election," Porter said in his letter.

Eckert said he received the reply to a letter in which he wrote the Historical Society "to remind it to keep us in mind for the establishment of the museum." He said he pointed out that the Ohio dinnerware industry originated here and "East Liverpool is the logical place for such a museum." He said he also pointed out that "the fine stone building" now used as a post office will become vacant soon and would provide an ideal spot for the museum.

THE POSTAL facility may move out of the building at E. 5th St. and Broadway within a few months and occupy its new quarters on Dresden Ave.

Authories said when such a building becomes vacant it is the government's policy to offer it first for use of any interested federal agency. Then, it would be offered to other political subdivisions in descending order of importance — the state, the county and finally the municipality. If no governmental agency took over the building, it would be offered for sale.

A movement has been afoot for months to acquire the building for the site of a pottery museum. Gov. James A. Rhodes pledged funds from a previous state bond issue proposal to help establish the museum, but the issue was turned down by voters.

Newell Man Reports Beating Near Tavern

Eugene Green of 400-A Grant St. Newell was treated at City Hospital for injuries suffered when he claimed he was beaten along the Chester-Newell Rd. at 1:30 a. m. today.

Green was treated for abrasions of the forehead and a bruise of the left eye. He was taken to the hospital by his father. Green told Chester police he came out of a tavern and was jumped and beaten by unidentified persons.

Two Injured When Cycle, Car Collide

Richard Frank Hill, 19, of Lisbon RD 2 and a passenger on his motorcycle, Stephen L. Blake of Burnville, W. Va., were injured in a motorcycle - car accident a half-mile north of Lisbon on Route 45 at 5 p. m. Thursday.

Robert L. Boso of 813 Bank St., driving a 1962 coach, was attempting to make a left turn into a drive-in as Hill attempted to pass and struck the left side of his vehicle. Hill was cited for improper passing.

He and Blake received noticeable injuries, but said they would go to a family physician, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Lee Cain Jr., 36, of East Liverpool, RD 1 was driving his 1968 coach south on Route 7, about a half - mile north of Route 517, when he attempted to avoid a tractor - trailer heading south which was left of center. Cain's auto left the road and struck a utility pole. The truck did not stop. Cain said he would see a family physician.

Dawson Assists In Support For 2 State Issues

Frank A. Dawson of East Liverpool has been named general chairman of the Greater Ohio Committee of southern Columbiana County.

His appointment was announced Thursday by State Sens. Ted Gray and Frank W. King, co-chairmen of the Greater Ohio Committee.

The committee headed by Dawson held its first meeting at noon today at the Travelers Hotel.

A Greater Ohio Committee of northern Columbiana County also is being formed.

The Greater Ohio Committee is a bipartisan organization supporting the two state constitutional amendments (Issues 1 and 2; which will be on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Issue 1 proposes the spending of $500 million over a five-year period for highway construction and elimination of urban traffic bottlenecks.

It also proposed $259 million for capital improvements in various areas, including water pollution, mental health, higher and technical education, vocational education and juvenile delinquency.

All projects included in Issue 1 will be subject to legislative approval.

Issue 2 provides property tax exemptions for home owners 65 years old or older who occupy their homes.

Ask Court Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Top city and police officials have asked for a U.S. District Court review to determine whether the recent federal grand jury has used a "disorderly vehicle" to obtain evidence for the defense of three federal officials. The motion, filed on behalf of Columbus' mayor, safety director, police chief and ranking police officials, also asks a court decision on whether any federal officials have violated the secrecy of the jury proceedings.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Tell It Like It Is

Hal Humphrey's guest columnist today is Digby Wolfe, writer from England who is one of the authors of Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In" show and chief writer on the new special "SOUL," which he tells about here.

HOLLYWOOD — With "Laugh-In" being plagiarized by everyone from Buick to Bubble-Up, just about the only people in town who haven't plundered the original are its creators: George Schlatter and Ed Friendly.

Thus, when NBC decided to move out of the parade into the vanguard and really involve black people in television, an offshoot of "Laugh-In" seemed like the obvious choice.

"SOUL" is what we called it — an all-Negro pilot special (with no air date yet) which is a first for network television. Certainly there's nothing like it in my country: Enoch Powell's England, where integration means having an Irish maid who lives in.

"SOUL" even has its token white man: Arte Johnson, swapping his German helmet for a yamulka to ask:

"You was expecting maybe Ray Charles?"

"SOUL" is a black spectacular. Not just black performers, but a black director, graphics designer, choreographer, musical director and writers.

H. B. Barnum led the integrated NBC orchestra in what must have been the most dynamic demonstration since Moms Mabley picketed Elizabeth Arden. H. B.'s charts converted what is usually a somewhat sedate sit-in into an awesome rock-out. At one electric, eclectic moment, H. B. was inspired to gaze admiringly at Don Randi, his white piano player, and say:

"Git it, you black melon farmer!"

THE WRITERS came from Budd Schulberg's Watts Writers Workshop, now one of several such community projects across the country, operating under the titular umbrella of the Douglas House Foundation.

Remember the names: Jeanne A. Taylor, Larry L. Reed Jr. and Cal Wilson. We went to work in the apartment once occupied by the "Laugh-In" writers, and it may have been this which fueled their main fear: that "SOUL" would just be a black version of that show. They didn't mean the format; they meant the attitude: white.

This was the most meaningful lesson I learned from "SOUL": what is really meant by black power. It is not, as so much of the mass media prefers to suggest, a phalanx of spades in shades, berets and black leather jackets, advancing on surburban America with bazookas.

To paraphrase Harry Belafonte, it is replacing the white man's image of the black man with his own and being paid the same rate. It's telling it like it is. And that, in terms of music and comedy, is exactly what "SOUL" sets out to do.

The next hang-up was the name of the show. It wasn't enough to call it "SOUL." It had to deliver what the title promised. There was no doubt about the singers. You can't get much more soulful than Lou Rawls, Joe Tex or the Chambers Brothers.

Then the Soul Sisters: three incredible children from Oregon named Soul Mama, Love Mama and Stilt Mama. Stilt Mama is the oldest at 15 and the tallest at 6-2. They're going to be the biggest thing since beads. No, our problem was the comedy. That had to be soulful, too.

I ASKED the writers a fashionable question:

"What IS soul?"

"It's the National Observer merging with Ramparts!"

"It's Lester Maddox collecting Ralph Abernathy's garbage!"

"It's Petula Clark and Harry Belafonte riding down Madison Ave. in a Plymouth!"

The result, in the expert hands of Nipsey Russell, Redd Foxx, George Kirby, Slappy White and Leroy Daniels, created what we all believe will be a most productive riot.

NBC has the guts to get it on. George Schlatter and Ed Friendly had the vision to conceive it. If the Nielsen rating is taken from a fair proportion of Negro homes, maybe 1969 will be the year when black and white television really makes the change to living color.

Gilligan Sets Up Convention Unit Against Viet War

CHICAGO (AP)—John J. Gilligan has announced formation of a committee at the Democratic platform hearings here that he said represents an unofficial opposition to the war in Vietnam.

Gilligan said the group would write a platform plank on Vietnam that represents his views as well as those of the Kennedy, McCarthy and McGovern camps.

"We are not seeking compromise," Gilligan said. "We are seeking a new course for the United States." He added, "There is considerable sentiment within the committee for change . . . in this nation's foreign policies."

Gilligan, a member of the Platform Committee and a candidate for the U.S. Senate from Ohio, said the group's membership includes former aide to President Kennedy Theodore Sorensen and Illinois Atty. Gen. William Clark.

County Clerk Resigns After Car Kills Youth

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Clifford C. Beckett resigned Thursday as Warren County clerk of courts, a post he held for 31 years.

Effective date of resignation was Sept. 1.

Beckett, 63, who lives near Lebanon, was charged with driving while intoxicated Wednesday night after his auto struck and killed Andrew Garland, 10, son of a Springboro physician, the Highway Patrol said.

Beckett said: "I express my deepest sympathy to Dr. Garland and his family. In order to avoid embarrassment to my family, friends and colleagues, I feel I should take this action."

Czech Crisis Dims Any Hope For Early Release Of Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 82 officers and men of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo began their eighth month of imprisonment in North Korea today with the Czech crisis thought to diminish any chances of an early release.

The outlook for release of the Americans already was dimmed because of hard-line demands by the North Koreans for a formal U.S. apology for the Pueblo action in allegedly infringing on their territorial waters.

Diplomats here said the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the resultant strain on East-West relations hardly maade it likely for quick agreement on the Pueblo.

Pro-Moscow Premier Kim Il-Sung of North Korea, who praised the Soviet intervention of Czechoslovakia, has threatened repeatedly to try the Pueblo crew for spying, but he has set no date.

South Korea's ambassador to Washington, Kim Dong-Jo, predicted that the Soviet use of force to crush Czech liberalism would have the effect of stiffening Kim and his military-minded cabinet beyond their present hard line.

"As long as Kim Il-Sung is retained in power there is no hope to liberalize the North Korean regime nor gain the release of the Pueblo and its crew," Kim said in an interview.

Winthrop Brown, acting assistant secretary of state, the head of a special U.S. task force on the Pueblo at the State Department, refused to comment on U.S. efforts to obtain the help of Moscow in releasing the men but he conceded the situation is frustrating.

"We believe and hope that patient discussion and negotiation eventually will secure their release," Brown said.

As for a U.S. apology, the United States remains prepared to have the case examined by an impartial international body. When the crew is released and free to talk and if the testimony shows the Pueblo was inside then the United States will take appropriate action, Brown said.

For the last 45 days North Korea has either sidestepped or completely ignored U.S. requests for a 20th meeting at Panmunjom to discuss secretly the release of the men and the ship. The 19th session was held July 9. The present interval is the longest gap in negotiations since the Pueblo, loaded with highly sensitive electronic listening devices, was seized in the Sea of Japan.

More Airline Service Asked For Ohio Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Air Lines asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Thursday for authority to provide Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, with additional unrestricted east - west service.

The airline asked that current service to the cities on a route between Chicago and Washington and Baltimore be eliminated and that the two Ohio cities be added to its routes between Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles and New York and Boston.

A Blow To World Relations

Following the pattern of the Hungarian slaughter of 1956, the Soviet Union struck without warning and occupied the small country. Hundrds of tanks and thousands of soldiers were involved in the strike at the heart of Czechoslovakia's liberalization movement.

LEARNING A LESSON from 1956 when Russia received harsh criticisms from countries around the world for the mass slaughter of thousands of Hungarians, the Soviets included soldiers from the Communist nations of Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria and Hungary in the ranks of the occupation force.

The sham didn't work because there isn't a capital in the world that doesn't know it's Russia's ballgame from beginning to end.

The consensus of international feeling that Russia's invasion is a violation of Czechovlovakia's sovereignty as well as being morally wrong and contrary to international law.

Official reaction in Czechoslovakia was a request that troops be withdrawn and urged Czech citizens to maintain peace rather than offer resistance.

Czechoslovakia is about the size of New York state and is ill-equipped to take on the Communist bloc militarily. Results would have been the same as the ill-fated rebellion in Hungary where final death toll estimates run as high as 32,000.

There is little the United States government can do other than use every possible forum to issue scathing denunciations of the heavy-handed Soviet action.

The United States has maintained an official silence on the Czechs' liberalization campaign in an effort to keep American support from being used against the movement.

There is no longer a need for America to remain mum.

The tears in the eyes of Czechs as they reported for work after the occupation expresses their feelings. Americans sympathize with them in their grief.

There still is a faint hope that invading troops will leave without ripping the small flower of freedom from the Czechoslovakia soil — but it is dimming fast.

THE CRUSH blow dealt by the Sovet Union has ramifications outside the boundaries of Czechoslovakia.

All the precarious bridge-building through expanded East-West trade, cultural exchanges and international agreements has been dashed by one blind, idiotic and uncalled-for blunder by the tyrannical Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union's coldly calculated maneuver gained the desired effect in Czechkoslovakia but blasted international relations back to the middle of the Stone Age.

Stock Up On Memories

You think it's been rather warm? Console yourself, please, by recalling the Copeland Theory of Natural Balances.

Ed Copeland, U.S. weather observer at Millport, declares no matter how dry, how hot the weather, there is eventually a compensating extreme to maintain the average.

We're either making up for that long frigid spell last winter, or laying the groundwork for a real chillblain come January or February.

So just think cool, friends, and stock up on a few memories to still the chattering of your teeth against the howling winter winds a few months hence.

The Food Production Race

the 1970s and '80s, according to experts around the globe.

If the predictions are accurate, the thesis of 19th century British economist Thomas Robert Malthus will prove correct. He contended "The power of population is indefinitely greater than the power of earth to produce subsistence for man."

Even if the United States produces as much food as possible and exported all the surplus abroad, the current rate of population increase in Asia, Africa and Latin America would soon outstrip the supply.

FOOD SHORTAGE experts tell us the coming famine is nothing less than a mathematical certainty if the world population continues upward at its present rate.

Well-fed Americans have difficulty comprehending the coming global food crisis because many had assumed that such a possibility had been eliminated by a combination of U.S. food shipments and agricultural development projects abroad.

But even with American assistance in the field of agriculture, world food production is creased 6.5 per cent since 1960 and the population.

In Latin America Food production has increased 6.5 per cent since 1960 and the population has increased by nearly 12 per cent.

In the Far East—a region containing nearly one-half of the world's 3.3 billion people the story is the same. Population is increasing at a rate of 10 per cent while food production increases at a rate of 8.5 per cent.

George B. Kistiakowsky, a special assistant for science and technology to President Eisenhower, once warned a Senate subcommittee that unless world population is curbed general war is unavoidable.

THE POTENTIAL suffering and death and the threat of widespread political and social disorder place the food crisis in a priority category.

Propagation must be slowed to avoid calamity and that is one reason the Pope's encyclical banning use of birth control devices met with much resistance and anguish.

Against the backdrop of gloomy famine predictions by experts, the novel methods India is using to promote birth control do not seem humorous, instead, they accentuate the critical status of the food-population race.

Brink Of The Clink

By Art Buchwald

CHICAGO — The American method of selecting a president has been under criticism this year. There are charges that it is cumbersome and out of date. I believe there is something to be said for beefing up the American presidential elections, and I think I know how it could be done.

Art Buchwald

We should take a leaf from our devoted allies, the South Vietnamese, who are not only practicing democracy as we taught it to them, but who are adding a few innovations of their own.

For example, in the last presidential election the South Vietnamese chose Nguyen Van Thieu as their president, and he was duly sworn in. But the man who ran against him and came in second, Truong Dinh Dzu, was given five years in jail.

THE REASON DZU was given five years was that he ran on a peace ticket and advocated some sort of detente with the Viet Cong.

President Thieu's way of dealing with his opposition could easily be adapted to our own political system.

If we applied the Thieu election method, it would not only eliminate many candidates who weren't serious about the office, but it would add a lot of excitement to the presidential race. A candidate for president would know that he would either wind up in the White House if he won, or behind bars if he lost. This would give him an added incentive to fight for the job.

I have always believed that we in the United States have let our losers off too easily after a presidential election. Even though a man as been ignominiously defeated at the polls, he is still treated by his party as a statesman.

WE SAW IN Miami Beach where the Republicans not only cheered Barry Goldwater, a man who took them down the long road to defeat in 1964, but gave a standing ovation to Thomas Dewey, the two-time loser who showed so much courage in 1948 when he refused to shave off his mustache, knowing it would cost him the election.

And this year, the Republirans went so far as to renominate Richard Nixon, a man who not only lost a presidential election, but a governor's contest as well.

This could never have happened if we used the South Vietnamese democratic system of electing national figures. If they lived in Vietnam, Dewey would have received 10 years, Goldwater 5 and Nixon would probably still be breaking rocks on a chain gang.

The Republicans, like it or not, would have had to come up with somebody new.

The Democrats would also be on a spot. I wonder if presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey would talk as much about the "politics of joy" if he knew he'd have to do 5 years at Leavenworth. And Gene McCarthy certainly wouldn't take this campaign so lightly if he were aware that his dovish stand on Vietnam would earn him a court-martial. Even George McGovern would think twice about getting into the presidential sweepstakes if he had a prison sentence hanging over his head.

PRESIDENT THIEU has been criticized for what he did to his opponent Dzu. But in retrospect he had shown us that political campaigns can have a great deal more suspense to them if you treat your opposition with the harshness they deserve.

There are many in this country who are sick and tired of seeing politicians get off scot-free after a presidential election. If the issue in this campaign is law and order, we have to stop coddling our losers. Five years in the clink is a cheap price to pay for running for president of the United States, not counting what he could get off for good behavior.

'It's Out Of My Hands!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Secret Poll Favors Wallace

CHICAGO: — This is a city of aspirin alleys. There are more headaches per square foot of professional politicians — the men who'll have to run the Democratic campaign after Labor Day — than at any time since Caesar headed for the Forum. The headaches come from an acute case of "Wallace-ism." The bouncy ex-Alabama governor appears to have more solid union members' votes in his hands than at first appears believable.

Victor Riesel

But if the private polls are accurate — and certainly they've been painfully costly — George Wallace is cutting heavily into every major labor organization in the land.

Walter Reuther's Eastern directors, for example, have just informed the auto union leader that a poll of the UAW members in Connecticut disclosed that 30 per cent preferred Mr. Wallace over all other candidates and front runners.

Of course we'll hear loud denials. But pay no heed. The survey was made last month. It has frightened the labor leaders. It's scared the hell out of those Democratic National Committee staff people who've been permitted to see the results.

That's it. Why analyze? Everybody reads the signals clearly. One New York specialist in the political-labor field, who rarely misses a rubberized roast beef testimonial banquet to which everybody brings his own speakers, listened carefully to my analysis of George Wallace's Southern support.

MY FRIEND, THE EXPERT, who knows every nook and cranny of the movement, having lived in them so long, was especially interested in my recent discussions with William Truman Thrash, president of the Alabama Building and Construction Trades Union Council (AFL-CIO). Thrash has been supporting Governor Wallace for 12 years.

Mr. Thrash, who says he has more union titles than money, has the official permission of his Operating Engineers local to go anywhere, any time, for as long as he wishes to organize and whip up votes for George Wallace, "Eighty to eighty-five per cent of the unionists in Alabama have supported Wallace," Thrash told me the other day. "My General President, Hunter Wharton, intsrnational president of the Operating Engineers) knows how active I've been.

"Four years ago George Meany queried him about my pro-Wallace activities. He asked me, and I told him how we feel about Wallace. He told Meany. I never heard from them again." Mr. Thrash said that there were 35 locals in the Birmingham Building Trades Council alone which back Mr. Wallace.

My New York friend listened and then sputtered. "That's nothing. Just take a poll of the 350,000 building and construction trades union members in New York State, and see if you don't come up with a pro-Wallace percentage matching that of the UAW members in Connecticut.

"GO OUT ON Long Island, all the way out, and see what's doing in the smaller retail shops among the help. The union won't tell you, but there's Wallace-ism all over the place." So it is. Steel union people disconsolately report it in the Gary-Hammond area. Pittsburgh is not immune.

William Thrash reported heavy support in the San Francisco Bay area when he worked that sector for George Wallace. Mr. Wallace told me he'll vouch for it in Ohio's big industrial cities, and specifically mentioned Cleveland and Columbus.

Then he said, "Let me have someone call you and read you a list of locals which have written to us."

A Wallace aide, Mr. Cecil Jackson, telephoned. He had a list. It's bound to give the pro-Humhrey labor leaders political migraines.

He reeled off two painters locals, one plumbers unit, one from the Office and Professional Employes, another from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; and still others, from the Communications Workers of America, the United Glass and Ceramic Workers, nine locals from a carpenters district council and locals of the bricklayers, asbestos workers, railroad workers, steelworkers, and the sheet metal workers.

"WE'VE JUST MOVED into a new headquarters," said the lilting Mr. Jackson. "We've other endorsements, most of them accompanied by checks, buried in our as yet unpacked files. But it's not just the South.

"We're picking up rank-and-file support all the way from Houston to Detroit. We see the crowds. They're pouring out by the thousands. We believe we have a substantial labor vote, and that we'll outnumber the other candidates in many a so-called labor district, in the cities and the suburbs."

He has a point. An unreported analysis by the selfeffacing experts of the Business-Industry Political Action Committee (BIPAC) came up with some sinewy statistics.

They disclosed that in all but one of the six state presidential primaries where voters could write in Wallace's name, Mr. Wallace got more write-in votes on the Democratic line than on the Republican line.

Thus, more Democrats showed a preference for him than did Republicans. Only in Pennsylvania did he pull more Republicans. And then, with but a razor-edge percentage.

Berry's World

"The voters are dissatisfied with the candidates and would like you to run for president!"

RAYMOND MOLEY

Bliss' Role

Many observers at Miami Beach agree that they have never seen a convention so free from abrasive conflicts and distressing disorder.

A major reason why good humor so generously prevailed was the masterful management of arrangements by Ray Bliss, the national chairman. In other cities and in other years much of the ill temper that prevailed had its origins in incompetent management of arrangements.

When a delegate or guest has trouble about his hotel reservations or his seating in the convention or facilities for moving about, he is likely to exaggerate the differences that face the convention. We all know that when our day begins with discomforts at home or a spat in the family, the business of the day will be colored by such early irritations.

I HAVE ATTENDED seven Republican National conventions since the 1930s, and I have never seen such efficiency in preparations as at Miami Beach.

That perfection was due to months of preparation by the most competent national chairman the GOP has had in the 50 years since Will Hays assumed that office.

But Bliss regarded these arrangements as mere chores, for his real contribution has been in bringing the Republican party out of the disaster and division of 1964 to the status of equality with the Democrats and a good if not excellent chance of victory this year.

But working for the recovery of a party from defeat is no new experience for Bliss. In 1958 certain employers insisted in putting a right-to-work amendment on the Ohio ballot. Sen. John Bricker and Bliss protested without avail. Organized labor responded by pouring great sums and hundreds of workers into the fight to defeat it. Labor won by a big majority, but down the drain went the Republican ticket. The day of the disaster Bliss began to work for the GOP recovery.

During the two years that followed he created a great Republican revival. As a result, Richard Nixon in 1960 carried Ohio by the largest GOP majority in any state. In 1962 the Republican renaissance continued. Republicans won the Ohio governorship, the Legislature and 18 of 24 congressional seats. Despite the defeat of the national ticket in 1964, GOP candidates did fairly well in the state.

The brilliant success of Bliss in Ohio and his high standing among all state chairmen made him the natural choice to succeed Dean Burch who had been selected by Barry Goldwater in 1964. Goldwater himself urged Bliss to take over the national committeeship in early 1965.

In Washington Bliss has applied the Ohio formula for success over the nation. He reorganized the national committee staff from top to bottom. He has traveled from state to state inspiring and instructing state and local party officials. He is a true professional, this man who had demonstrated his value in Ohio for over 17 years.

The culmination was the big Republican sweep in 1966. The details of that victory are a twice-told tale. Suffice it to say that the GOP has reached a status of equality with the Democrats, the first time this has happened since 1952.

Political success is built upon three components: Attractive candidates; issues that move the mind and heart of voters, and competent organization down to the precinct level. The most important of these is organization.

THE REASON we read so little about organization is that it isn't hot news. It is easier to dwell upon personalities and issues, but when the payoff comes in an election, the results depend upon the vitality and number of precinct workers and the proportion of the eligible vote that is brought to the polls.

An almost certain victory in 1948 was lost because so many Republicans failed to vote. And one important reason for that failure was the long-standing tradition observed in both parties of changing a new national chairman every four years after the candidate was nominated. And also that such chairmen were only part-time workers.

All that was changed when Ray Bliss was selected under conditions that he himself specified. He demanded continuous tenure, full-time pay and enough money in the treasury to operate as he had operated in Ohio. Since Nixon has already said that Bliss would stay, we may assume that the revival of voters participation in the party affairs will continue in the future as it has since 1965.

Notice Served For Strong Peace Plank

Kennedy Shadow Over Convention

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The shadow of Kennedys past etched itself sharply across the Democratic presidential nomination convention today as committees wrangled over preliminary platform, rules and delegate seating decisions.

The subsidiary bearers of the once powerful mantles of the assassinated President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy served blunt notice they will carry to the floor of next week's convention, if necessary, a fight for the "strongest possible peace plank" on Vietnam.

Theodore Sorensen, confidante of both of the slain brothers, told reporters Thursday: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or we can forget about the (November) election.

"So we will present to the convention, as a majority plank if that can be, or a minority plank, if that must be, the strongest peace plank that we can draw."

Despite his lack of status as a delegate, Sorensen's voice had an authenticity in expressing the most recent Kennedy viewpoint, substantiated earlier by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in a call for an unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Sorensen and most other supporters of Sen. Kennedy have not yet found a home for the presently uncommitted delegates from California, New York, Indiana, Nebraska and other states where Kennedy had won primaries and picked up convention support before he was assassinated in Los Angeles on June 4.

They have turned thumbs down on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, by all odds the overwhelming favorite for the presidential nomination scheduled to be awarded next Wednesday night.

Sorensen and his hard-shell Kennedy associates have refused to go over to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Humphrey's principal opponent. And they have brushed aside the efforts of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., to attract them to his lately raised banner as a presidential candidate.

The unwillingness of the Kennedy bloc to accept any available substitute for their slain leader was demonstrated in a new attack by California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh on McCarthy's foreign policy stance.

Unruh said in Los Angeles that it was a mistake to minimize the crisis provoked by Russian troop movements into Czechoslovakia as he said McCarthy had done by saying that he did not view the developments as a "major world crisis."

Unruh, previously represented as leaning toward McCarthy, said that "an ominous possibility exists that the Czechoslovakian attack could be the prelude to further Soviet aggression in Europe." The assembly speaker heads a delegation originally pledged to Kennedy. He has refused thus far to endorse any other candidate.

Massachusetts' Sen. Kennedy has rejected with a measure of finality suggestions that he take a place on the 1968 ticket. But former governor Michael V. Di Salle of Ohio persisted that he will offer Kennedy's name for the top nomination.

The developments seemed to indicate that the Kennedy influence on the platform and the selection of a nominee would be minimal at best. But this left out of consideration the indefinable residue of support for the Kennedy viewpoint in nearly every northern delegation of importance.

Humphrey's backers kept a wary eye on the possibly explosive nature of this support.

Meanwhile, the convention's credentials committee agreed early in the day on a compromise in which two rival delegations from Georgia will share evenly the state's convention seats.

This gave 20½ votes to a slate headed by Gov. Lester Maddox, a candidate for the presidential nomination, and an equal number to a more racially integrated slate headed by State Rep. Julian Bond, a Negro.

Earlier, McCarthy's strategists lost a credentials battle in the committee's vote for the temporary seating of a Texas delegation headed by Gov. John Connally.

Both actions may be appealed to the convention floor.

Stephen A. Mitchell, McCarthy's convention manager, declined at a news conference to give any count of the delegate votes McCarthy has toward the 1,312 needed for the presidential nomination.

Former Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, a Humphrey strategist, inched his estimates of the vice president's strength up to around 1,450.

Mitchell said he believes that if McCarthy is permitted to speak at the convention he could influence delegates to vote for him.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, who commands the Illinois delegation, called in testimony before the platform committee for a massive public works program for the "hard core unemployed" he said cannot find work in private industry.

Connally thought it "deplorable" that McCarthy had said he saw no need for an immediate National Security Council meeting on the Russian troop movement into Czechoslovakia. He assailed McCarthy's proposal that the United States suggest an interim coalition government for South Vietnam in which Communist representatives would be included.

In Valparaiso, Ind., McGovern told the U.S. Student Press Association that while ending the Vietnam war must have priority in the campaign he does not believe it is the top issue. He said if elected his first act would be to reduce U.S. troop strength in Vietnam.

He said social problems in the areas of civil rights and civil disorders will present the next president with problems more complex and difficult than any faced by a chief executive.

On the other side of the fence, GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon was being advised not to accept the endorsement of the New York state Conservative party.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, who faces opposition in his race for re-election from James L. Buckley on the Conservative ticket, advised Nixon against accepting the endorsement of a group that polled 510,000 votes two years ago.

In Detroit, former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama confidently predicted he will be elected president on a third party ticket on a platform of a "return to law and order" and the curbing of crime in the streets.

K. Of C. Sets Installation

Wellsville Council 507, Carrol Council 509 of East Liverpool, Salineville Council 2389, Lisbon Council 4049 and Fr. Thome Council 5885 of St. Ann's parish, East End, are included in the district.

A corn roast will be held at 6:30 p. m. followed by the installation at 8. Fred Baldasare, district deputy from Wellsville, assisted by Edward M. Welch, a past grand knight of the Wellsville Council, will conduct the installation.

Lisbon Council will be the host council, with Thomas Mercina its grand knight chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Swimming and tennis will be included in the program.

Iron is an essential element to human life. Though it only comprises 0.004 per cent of the average adult body weight, most of it is found in the red blood cells, where it is essential to hemoglobin, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Driver, 74, Injured During Harness Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 74-year-old driver was injured Thursday night at Scioto Downs when his horse broke stride in the back stretch and fell to the track, throwing him from the sulky.

Forrest Short of Circleville was rushed to Mercy Hospital here, where he was reported in fair condition early today with multiple injuries. He was riding behind Mary K. Creed.

Hancock's Levy To Be Discussed

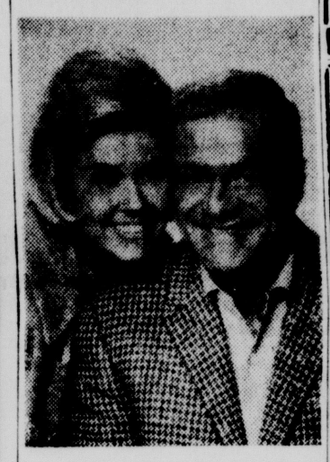

The renewal of the school levy will be discussed Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Oak Glen High School.

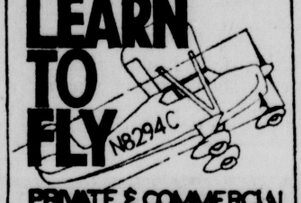

School administrators and personnel from Oak Glen, Chester, Newell, New Manchester and New Cumberland are to attend.

The public is invited to join in the meeting. Refreshments will be served by the PTA Council.

All schools in the Weirton area will meet at the VFW Hall in Weirton on Aug. 29 at 7:30 p.m. for a similar type of program.

Area Woman Hurt In Fall Treated Here

An Irondale woman hurt in a fall down stairs and a local youth injured while swimming were admitted Thursday to City Hospital, where 12 others were treated.

Mike Carlson, son of Harvey Carlson of 403 6th St., Wellsville a laceration of the back in a fall in weeds; David Stacey, son of David Stacey of 1709 Smithfield St., contusions of the forehead, nose and cheek in a fall from an auto onto the pavement.

Schedule Is Set On Registration For Bus Passes

Bus pass registration for students in the East Liverpool public schools has been rescheduled for next week.

Supt. Paul Blair said today any student wanting to ride a bus must be registered and have his bus pass. If it is not possible for a student to register in person, another may register for him, Blair said. The schedule follows:

North Elementary, Maine Blvd., Tuesday, Aug. 27, 9 to 11:30 a.m.; East Elementary, Etruria St., Wednesday, Aug. 28, 9 to 11:30; LaCroft Elementary, Boring Lane, Thursday, Aug. 29, 9 to 11:30; Westgate Elementary, W. 8th St., Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 26 and 27, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.; Westgate Junior High, Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 28 and 29, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.; East Junior High, Friday, Aug. 30, 9 to 11:30 a.m., and East Liverpool High School, Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 26 and 27, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

'Mono' Has No Certain Cure

Q—What is the cause of infectious mononucleosis? How contagious is it? How does it affect a person? Does it cause hepatitis? What is the best treatment?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — This disease is caused by a virus. It is spread by close contact, as in kissing, but it is not as contagious as the common cold since widespread epidemics are rare. It starts with a loss of appetite, vague pains, fever and swelling in the lymph nodes, especially in the neck. There may also be some sore throat.

SOME INFLAMMATION of the liver (hepatitis) is usually present. Drugs of the cortisone group may shorten the course of the disease if given early enough. There is no specific treatment.

Q—Does infectious mononucleosis come on a person long before he realizes it? How long does it last? Does it leave any permanent damage? Does it come back?

A — This disease usually does not develop until four to seven weeks after exposure. The onset is gradual rather than sudden. After an acute stage that may last two to four weeks, convalescence is slow. Recovery is the rule but such complications as pneumonia and paralysis of the respiratory muscles may occur. Relapses occur in about 6 per cent of cases.

Q—I have leukoplakia in my mouth. What causes it? Is it dangerous? Is there any cure?

A—This is a condition in which a white patch is seen on the mucous membranes of the mouth or other parts. In the mouth, heavy smoking is often the cause. The chief danger is that the area may become cancerous. For this reason, a small piece should be removed for microscopic examination and, if there is any doubt that it is benign, it should be surgically removed.

Q—I have been taking the following drugs for my nerves: Dianabol, Thorazine, propylthiouracil, Valium, Aventyl, Mellaril and Pertofrane. I have not improved and am very discouraged. What do you advise?

A—Usually, when a thorough examination fails to reveal anything physically wrong, one's symptoms, although very real, are caused by deep - seated emotional problems. The drugs listed run the gamut from tranquilizers and thyroid suppressants to psychic energizers. If reassurance that you have no serious organic disease doesn't help you, you should find a specialist in nervous disease who will take the time to listen to your problems. Then you should confide in him completely.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Jury Probes Plot On HHH, Two Senators

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury opens an investigation today into an alleged plot to assassinate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and two senators, and to disrupt next week's Democratic National Convention.

U.S. Atty. Thomas A. Foran said Thursday 16 subpoenas were issued for South Side gang members and some who took part in a peace march on the Pentagon last October.

The rumored assassination plot was to involve Humphrey; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, also a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Foran said.

McClellan headed a Senate investigation into the activities of two South Side youth gangs recently which resulted in their losing a federal antipoverty grant.

The prosecutor said the report which originated in Cook County jail last week also involved "alleged planning by certain groups to cause civil disturbances" in the Chicago area during the convention and disrupt proceedings.

Shortly after the grand jury probe begins the first contingent of nearly 6,000 Illinois National Guardsmen arrive in Chicago to be used if needed to maintain order in the event of disturbances next week.

Youth Gets Jail Term In Threat To Mother

Donald Wilson, 18, of 108 Pink Alley was sentenced to a 10-day term in City Jail today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to making "threats in a menacing manner" to his mother, Mrs. Charlesetta Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson testified that her son threatened her Saturday when she attempted to break up a fight between him and one of his brothers.

Meanwhile, Ernie Shenton of 515 Monroe St. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of threatening his son-in-law, Roger Swiger. The incident took place Saturday, according to the affidavit filed by Swiger.

Soviet Veto Kills Resolution For UN To Condemn Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Soviet veto today killed an eight-nation resolution that asked the U.N. Security Council to condemn the Soviet-bloc occupation of Czechoslovakia and to call for the troops to withdraw.

The vote was 10-2 with 3 abstentions. The Soviet Union and Hungary voted no. Algeria, India and Pakistan abstained.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik vetoed the proposal at 3:28 a.m. after he and Hungarian, Bulgarian and Polish delegates had filibustered past midnight to delay the voting.

U.S. Ambassador George W. Ball said the Soviet Union had just cast its 105th veto. But he declared that it could not "suffocate the soul of a proud people" in Czechoslovakia.

Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff then introduced a new resolution requesting Secretary-General U Thant to "dispatch immediately to Prague a special representative who shall seek the release and ensure the personal safety of the Czechoslovak leaders under detention" and report back urgently.

At 3:54 a.m. the council president for the month, Brazilian Ambassador Joao Augusto de Araujo Castro, adjourned the meeting to 5 p.m. today.

Malik told Ball the veto "will continue to afford, as long as the United Nations exists, the possibility for the Soviet Union to defend a just cause."

Malik indicated he would use it once more against Ignatieff's resolution. He said the sponsors wanted to "drag the secretary-general of the United Nations into the affairs of Socialist countries" but would "not succeed."

The resolution's sponsors were the same eight countries that sponsored the condemnatory resolution—Brazil, Senegal, the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Denmark and Paraguay.

The last six had asked for the debate on Wednesday, the day after troops of the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria entered Czechoslovakia, saying they sought to suppress counterrevolution.

Czechoslovak Delegate Jan Muzik told the council Thursday night that the occupation was "completely illegal," that its "immediate termination" was imperative and that Czechoslovakia's legally elected representative must be allowed to function "without illegal interference."

Damage Suit Filed By Strike-Hit Firm

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull County Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffith Jr. scheduled a hearing today on a $1 million damage suit by the Daniels Motor Freight & Eazor Express, Inc.

The suit, filed Thursday, is against Local 377 of the Teamsters and 17 employes of Daniels-Eazor.

Also, the suit asks that 150 striking truck drivers be ordered back to work.

The dispute reportedly started over the company's firing of several drivers. A union spokesman said Tuesday's walkout was a wildcat strike and illegal.

County's Fair Offers More Attractions

A skydiver safety officer for northeastern Ohio, the 30-year-old jumper thrilled the crowd with a daring dive and glide into the grounds.

A smoke bomb traced his 2,000-foot free fall. Then his chuts blossomed and he began the long slant in over the grandstand roof.

Galen Greenisen, announcer, kept the grandstand crowd informed of the jumper's position since the roof obscured the view. Spectators in the stands saw Mattevi only for the last five seconds as he twisted desperately to avoid the boom of a large crane in position by the balloonist's fire trench. It will be used to hold the bag over the fire stack.

Vic rolled in like a halfback hit from the blind side. Spectators dashed and tumbled to get out of the way. Seconds later he was on his feet, waving to the applauding crowd.

If Oliver should be unable to jump, Mattevi and two fellow members of the Alliance Skydivers, Vince Weyant and Jay Hill, both of Lisbon will make free-fall jumps this evening onto the race track oval.

The Lisbon High School band directed by David May performed yesterday and led the evening parade. The Leetonia band will play today and Lisbon again Saturday.

THE FAIR opened with hot, humid weather Wednesday and faces the same conditions right up to the finale, a horse show beginning at 4 p. m. Sunday.

Ed Copeland of Millport, U.S. Weather observer, was on the grounds yesterday and remarked the temperature had been in the 90's four consecutive days.

The coolest job on the grounds is the fellow on the bar above the water tank, hoping midway "Sam McDowells" hit the target every pitch.

Harness races were run this afternoon and are scheduled again for 2 Saturday afternoon. There will be two heats of mule races afterward, with fair directors driving one heat.

Other attractions tomorrow will be a pony-pulling contest at 9 a. m., the grand finale parade at 7 and the grandstand show at 8. On stage will be Uncle Heavy and the Pork Chop Revue with Oink the Singing Pig, Jo-Jo the Clown as master of ceremonies; the Cassidy Sisters and the Sparkletts.

Diane Thompson, 17, of Hanoverton RD 1, is happy to have a prize brother along with a prize steer and saddle horse. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, who raises potatoes and strawberries, besides winners, on their farm on the Gavers - Millport Rd.

But Miss Thompson, a senior at Southern High School, was not at his side. She showed her horse yesterday at the Ohio State Fair unaware her steer was No. 1 in the 4-H and Future Farmers of America competition.

LEADING the chunky steer was Jim Thompson, Diane's brother and a freshman at Southern. He had a big night in his own right because his marcelled 1,185-pound Hereford won the rate-of-gain trophy presented by Lee Bowman for Farmers National Bank of Salem.

Diane's animal came from the Summitcrest herd of Fred Johnson of Summitville. Two years ago, Diane's older brother, Dave, had the grand champ, a Hereford from the family herd. Dave was graduated from Southern last year and is attending business college in East Liverpool.

The reserve champion was a 975-pound Hereford raised by John Grubbs, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grubbs of the Lisbon - Leetonia Rd. He is a senior at Leetonia High School.

Ninety - four animals weighing 83,980 pounds went into the ring last night and were auctioned off by Hubert Amos of Scio for $25,447.71.

The average of 893.4 pounds per steer and 30.3 cents per pound, compared with 29.8 cents last year. Glenn Shreve of Damascus was sale manager.

Grange exhibits in the Arts and Crafts Building were attractive. Willow Grove won first place, Guilford was second, Unity third, Mile Branch fourth and Mt. Nebo fifth.

United School, East Liverpool City Hospital School of Nursing, the County Retarded Workshop and the County Home had special exhibits in the building.

The midway attracts crowds to the rides, games, food and novelty stands. Most of the candidates for public office can be seen distributing advertising pieces.

Ollie Campbell of East Liverpool, the man in charge, asks visitors if they like it and, when they say they do, he replies, "See what you have to look forward to."

Halter class 2, senior—Theresa Hoon, East Palestine Rough Riders Club; Darlene Scott, Rough Riders; Teresa Morlan, Rough Riders; Luanne Bardo, Circle 62 of Salem; Lorraine Mellinger, Lisbon Hi Riders.

Tonight's events at the fair will feature the Hookstown Saddle Club Horse Show at 6 p.m.

A lightweight horse pulling contest will begin Saturday at 11 a. m., and a contest among the heavyweight class scheduled for 2 p. m. Stage shows will be held in the afternoon and evening. A machinery and livestock Saturday evening will be followed by the concert by the Good News Choir of the Bethel United Methodist Church.

The Northwestern Square Dancers of Northwestern High School in Beaver County will also present a program.

Parking

"so that not a penny of the city's operating revenue would be required" to amortize the debt.

THE CERAMIC Lot is by far the largest city - operated facility and apparently the only one that lends itself ideally to construction of a multi- - level structure. The mayor explained that a small lot is not suitable because access ramps eat into available space.

"Our parking situation has taken a turn for the worse instead of better in recent weeks," Willshaw commented. "The opening of the expanded lot on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, was more than counterbalanced by the closing of the Community Lot at E. 6th and Walnut Sts."

He added that additional autos probably will be flowing into the Broadway - Washington St. area soon when Kent State University takes over the former high school building. In addition to parking required for faculty members, the daily influx of students probably wll include a high percentage of students using their own cars, he said.

CLOSING OF the Community Lot produced a flood of "homeless" downtown parkers. Some found their way to the expanded lot on W. 6th St. that was opened about two weeks ago. So the "new" spots were canceled out quickly.

"This won't happen next week, or the week after that, but it looks more and more like the answer to our problem," Willshaw said. "At least we're going to give it a real try."

Off - hand estimates indicate that an elevated parking structure would cost approximately $2,200 per auto space. Preliminary figures have been gathered which show such structures cost as little as $2,000 per space in some communities and as high as $2,400 in others.

"At least we would not have the heavy expense of acquiring expensive business district property for a starter," the mayor pointed out. "It would be a case of building on top of space the city already owns."

RECORDS SHOW the city acquired the basic Ceramic site in September 1961 for $45,000 from the heirs of the Tallman Estate. It spent another $20,000 razing the mammoth brick structure, leveling the site, applying a blacktop surface and installing meters. The original site, completed at a cost of about $65,000, provided spaces for approximately 40 cars.

The lot proved such a success that the city acquired adjacent property a few years later to expand the site. The ground for the so-called "Ceramic Annex" included real estate contributed by W. Leland Thompson. The same donor provided the land that made it possible for the city to expand the W. 6th St. lot a few weeks ago.

Officials plan to contact administration spokesmen in Findlay for data on parking garage construction. The Hancock County (Ohio) community of 30,000 has erected a 5-tier parking facility in its business district. A professional planning concern which was involved in the project also will be contacted for information.

Better Health Through Knowledge

BURNING-UP CALORIES

Q. Are some foods burned up faster than others? Would such foods be better for persons on a reducing diet?

A. The rapidity with which food is digested or metabolized (burned up) does not affect the caloric value of the diet. Regardless of the time required for the food to be metabolized, calories will be converted to fat if total caloric intake exceeds energy expenditure.

FATS AND OILS

Q. Terms like cholesterol, saturated fats, unsaturated fats, etc. have me confused. Would you please explain?

A. Cholesterol is a complex, solid fat-like product found in animal tissues. It is not present in fats and oils from vegetable sources. "Saturated" fats are those in which there are no missing hydrogen atoms, and are usually solids. Animal fats are generally saturated fats. "Unsaturated" fats are deficient in hydrogen atoms, and are usually liquids. They are generally derived from vegetable sources. Edible oils can be converted to margarines and shortenings by partially saturating it with hydrogen atoms ("hydrogenation"). The extent of hydrogenation can be controlled to produce any consistency desired.

Leonard Koppett, writing in the New York Times, recently raised an interesting point, a surprising one to be made by a resident of New York City.

Koppett contends that players on New York teams get more publicity than players elsewhere, due to the location of the headquarters of news media there. The headquarters of both major wire services, the three major TV networks, radio networks and advertising agencies are all in New York. The men who run the news media are supposed to cover all the country equally, but because of constant exposure to New York players they emphasize them in national stories, perhaps unconsciously, Koppett notes.

AS EXAMPLES, Koppett says that Ron Swoboda of the Mets, a mediocre player at best, is better known than Lou Brock of the Cardinals. He also says that Joe Pepitone of the Yankees is better known that Roberto Clemente, Al Kaline or Brooks Robinson. The latter example is doubtful, in my estimation, but there is no question but that Koppett has a good point. If Nolan Ryan pitched for anyone but the Mets, would the country know about pickle juice? If Jerry Koosman was a Houston Astro, would everyone know that an usher in the ballpark was responsible for his signing? Probably not. Likewise Joe Namath's llama skin rug would not be famous if he was toiling for the Denver Broncos.

A FEW YEARS ago there was a story in a national news magazine about the disappearance of provincialism in the United States. Television and more readily accessible communications generally were given as the cause. But in my opinion there is still a pocket of provincialism left. This is New York City, where the majority of the natives have never been west of the Hudson River and think that the western 90 per cent of the country is uncivilized, with savage Indians still roaming the plains. Just because they've been on the subway to the Bronx and Brooklyn, or even the far reaches of Jones Beach, they think they're seasoned travelers. With the amont of violence that goes on in "Fun City," as the mayor would like to have it known, the rest of the country shows up as the civilized area. Not only would I not like to live in New York, it's not even a good place to visit.

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers are really in there fighting to win their first American League pennant in 23 years, and they're using both short and long distance blows to good advantage.

Al Kaline and Willie Horton provided the power with consecutive home runs and Dick McAuliffe helped with effective infighting Thursday night when the Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-2. The triumph increased Detroit's first-place lead over idle Baltimore to 7½ games.

In other games, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees whacked his 534th career homer, tying him for third place with Jimmy Foxx on the all-time list, as the Yanks dropped a 3-1 decision to Minnesota. Cleveland downed Boston 3-1 and Oakland edged California 2-1 on Dick Green's ninth-inning homer. Baltimore and Washington were not scheduled.

McAuliffe's most valuable contribution to the Tigers' cause came during a third-inning skirmish with left-hander Tommy John, Chicago's starting pitcher. The incident resulted in the ejection of both players and a shoulder injury that may sideline John for three weeks.

Three innings after John's departure, Kaline and Horton tagged his successor, ex-Tiger Dennis Ribant, for their solo homers as Detroit overcame a 2-1 deficit.

The skirmish developed when McAuliffe fell to the ground after ducking a 3-2 pitch. The Tigers' second baseman charged toward John halfway between the plate and first base after an exchange of words.

"Anyone who thinks I'm going to throw at them on a 3-2 pitch leading 1-0 in this ball park must be stupid," said John later, emphasizing Tiger Stadium's reputation as haven for home run hitters.

McAuliffe, who is 5-foot-11, slammed into the 6-foot-3 pitcher with his body as players from both dugouts ran onto the field. McAuliffe and John grappled briefly on the ground, but the fight was quickly broken up and there were no additional incidents.

"His knee jammed into my shoulder. I had pain shooting from my shoulder to my neck," John said.

"He threw three pitches close to my head. The White Sox have been throwing at us for two years. I don't want to be a guinea pig. A guy can be hurt for life," said McAuliffe, who was not injured in the brief brawl.

John, who has a 10-5 record, will be lost to the ninth-place White Sox for from 10 days to three weeks with torn ligaments in his left shoulder, the Tigers' team physician, Dr. Russell Wright, estimated.

Detroit had scored in the first on singles by McAuliffe, Kaline and Horton. The White Sox took the lead in the fourth on a two-run homer by Tommy Davis.

The Tigers' scored the game's final run in the seventh on a single by pitcher Mickey Lolich, 12-7, a passed ball and a single by Mickey Stanley.

Mantle struck his milestone homer as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. It was one of only three hits yielded by Jim Merritt. The Twins got all the runs they needed off Fritz Peterson in the first on Cesar Tovar's double, a run-scoring single by Rich Reese, a sacrifice and Bob Allison's single.

"The one I really want," said Mantle, "is homer No. 535." He added that he didn't think he could ever reach 580 homers, the current total of San Francisco's Willie Mays, who is second on the career list. The late Babe Ruth leads with 714.

Stan Williams and Vicente Romo combined for a three-hitter for the Indians. A throwing error by third baseman Joe Foy enabled two Cleveland runs to score in the third inning and another came home on Jose Cardenal's single. Jerry Adair accounted for the only Boston run with an eighth-inning homer.

Green's homer, his third of the season, broke up a pitching duel between Oakland's Jim Hunter, 10-11, and the Angels' Dennis Bennett, 0-1.

California grabbed a 1-0 lead in the sixth when Vic Davilillo singled in Jim Fregosi, who had singled with two out and moved to second on shortstop Bert Campaneris' throwing error.

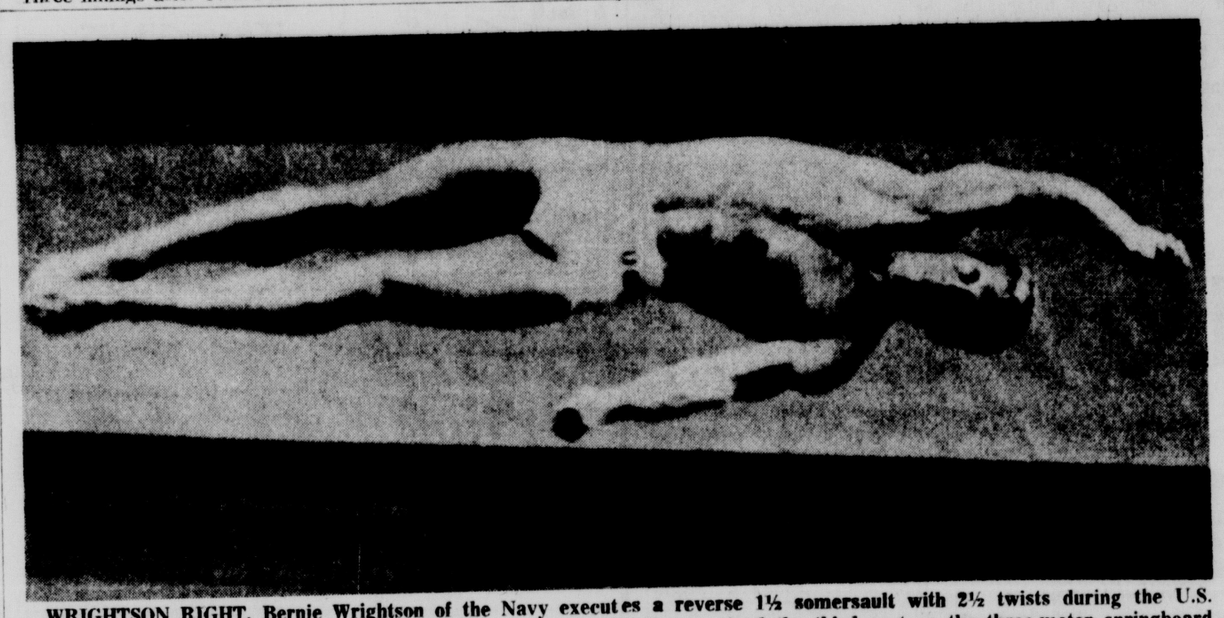

But Oakland came back in the next inning when Green doubled, advanced to third on a sacrifice by Hunter and scored on a squeeze bunt by Campaneris.

Wysong Takes Lead In Philadelphia Golf

PHILADELHIA (AP) — After listening to Dudley Wysong list his troubles since he turned professional five years ago, the question appeared to be not would he hold his first-round lead in the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic but would be finish.

Wysong's history is loaded with major ailments that have kept him from realizing his full potential on the tour. He's suffered a whiplash injury, at one time was in traction with a bad back and also damaged the ulnar nerve in his right hand.

If it wasn't for his seven-under-par 65 Thursday in the opening round of the 72-hole Philadelphia tournament, you might be tempted to take up a collection to help pay Wysong's medical insurance.

Talking about his hand injury, he said, "I couldn't even lift a glass of water."

The one thing he could lift in Thursday's round was a putter. Wysong splattered his wood and iron shots all over the tight, 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course. But once he reached the greens, it was all over except for picking the ball out of the cup.

Wysong had a round of seven birdies, rolling in putts of four, two, 12, four, 11, eight and 25 feet. Several long putts saved pars for the 29-year-old native of McKinney, Tex. All he could say in explaining how an average putter turned tigerish on the green was, "I had the feel,and when you feel you're going to make a putt, nine times out of 10 you do."

Wysong led 44-year-old Al Balding of California and 20-year-old Bobby Cole of South Africa by two strokes as the field of 156 started the day's second round today.

Balding, who has been recovering from a shoulder operation, shot 33-34—67 while Cole, 1967 British Amateur champion who joined the tour last year, scored a 34-33—67.

Another stroke back at 68 was a group headed by Billy Casper, the tour's top money-winner. Casper shot 33-35—68 and was one of 57 to shatter par on the usually tough Whitemarsh layout.

Deadlocked with Casper were Bobby Nichols, 33-35; Billy Maxwell, 34-34; Gay Brewer, 34-34; rookie Jerry Abbott, 35-33; 53-year-old Jim Ferrier, 35-33; Charlie Sifford, 35-33, and Bobby Stanton, 37-31.

Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion, fired a 33-36—69 and was one of nine at three-under-par. This group included England's Tony Jacklin, Dave Stockton, rookie star Bob Lunn and Bob Murphy, the first year hotshot who came within a stroke of tying last week's Westchester Classic.

Among the other big names, defending champion Dan Sikes had a 34-37—71, PGA king Julius tying last week's Westchester had a 39-35—74, Jack Nicklaus, 37-36—73, Tom Weiskopf, No. 3 money-winner, 38-35—73, and George Archer, 38-36—74.

U.S. May Boycott Olympic Games

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mexican hosts to the politically harassed 1968 Summer Olympic Games, first threatened by a Russian pullout over the South African situation, faced more rumblings today—talk of a possible United States boycott over the Czechoslovakian invasion.

A Baltimore television announcer said the U.S. Olympic Committee would meet Saturday night in Long Beach, Calif., after the diving trials to discuss the possibility of such a boycott.

Everett Barnes, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said Thursday night "there might be debate" soon about the possibility of an American boycott of the Olympics.

Barnes said, however, the subject definitely won't be discussed at Saturday night's routine meeting of coaches and athletes, even though there has been talk of such a boycott.

Although it is not on the agenda of a Sept. 7-8 meeting of his committee in Chicago, Barnes said a boycott might be discussed at that time.

John Kennelly, sports director of WJZ-TV in Baltimore, said Thurday night Barnes told him of the Saturday meeting in a telephone conversation from Los Angeles.

The whole question arose — only 50 days before the Games begin Oct. 12—after Russian troops occupied Czechoslovakia this week, prompting cries of protest throughout the world.

Russia, remember, joined a bloc of African nations last spring in a threatened pullout over any presence by South Africa, with its segregationist apartheid policy, at the Games. That problem eventually dissolved when South Africa was banned from the Games.

But despite the denunciation of the Russian action against Czechoslovakia there seems little possibility they would be ousted from Mexico.

"I don't know of any regulation that would bar Russia from the Olympics because of the invasion," said Avery Brudnage, president of the International Olympic Committee, in Cicago. "I anticipate no developments along that line. At least, I hope there are none."

Brundage, as in the South African affair, has taken the position that the Olympics are outside of politics.

The Czech occupation already has caused some pre-Olympic disruption. Sweden cut off all sports relations Thursday with the five powers—Russia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Poland and East Germany—which have troops in Czechoslovakia.

Sweden, Norway and Denmark have canceled their participation in some coming sports competition with Russia and East Germany.

Richie Allen In Brawl; Raps 2 Against Cardinals

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Controversial Rich Allen says he would like to be traded—but he sure isn't behaving like a man who is unhappy with his present job.

For the fifth time this season, the feisty outfielder slammed two homers in one game, powering Philadelphia past St. Louis' National League leaders 7-3 Thursday night.

Rich made his statement about a possible trip to the trading block after drawing fire from Phils' owner Bob Carpenter following an alleged barroom brawl.

Allen, who has been charged with assault and battery, said he thought the "best thing for me to do is to get out of town." Carpnter said that until Allen "grows up" he is likely to become involved in more incidents, adding that he would prefer to have Allen doing his growing up in a Phils' uniform, but "anybody's dealable."

In the only other National League games, Cincinnati came from behind to edge Pittsburgh 7-5 and Dick Dietz singled in a pair of runs with two out in the ninth to give San Francisco a 3-1 victory over Los Angeles.

Allen, whose feud with Gene Mauch earlier this season was blamed for Mauch's ouster as Philadelphia manager, smacked his first homer in the third, a solo blast, in helping his team to a 4-2 lead. He followed with his 27th of the season in the eighth after Roberto Pena singled.

St. Louis grabbed an early 2-1 lead off winner Chris Short, 13-11, but the Phils retaliated with two runs in the second.

He went the distance, scattering 10 hits. "The thing that really helped me was my control," said Short. "I made only three or four pitches where I didn't want them."

Sutton retired the first 13 batters he faced before issuing a fifth-inning walk to Jim Hart, who scored on singles by Dietz and Jesus Alou.

Tony Perez tripled in two runs and then scored himself on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly to spark Cincinnati's come-from-behind rally in the seventh.

The Pirates had taken a 2-0 lead in the first and increased it to 4-0 in the second on a two-run double by Matty Alou.

Pete Rose's two-run double highlighted a four-run Reds' outburst in the bottom of the second, but Pittsburgh regained the lead in the sixth on Fred Patek's RBI single.

Colt League Needs New Officers

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Potters Savings and Loan annex, the Tri-State Colt League, which includes both Pony and Colt organizations, will hold a reorganizational meeting to which the public is cordially invited.

Since currently presiding officers of the league have served for several years and the majority intend to resign from further active participation in league affairs, the attendance of the parents of present or future Colt or Pony players, managers, or any other interested sports enthusiast is requested. Unless enough interested people attend and are willing to participate in the future operation of the leagues, they will no longer be able to operate.

Five Tonight

Pro Football Schedules 13 Games This Weekend

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preseason professional football—those no-count games that lead to do-count injuries, roster cuts and the loss of jobs by veterans to newcomers—launches another busy weekend tonight.

Of the five games, two are interleague skirmishes. They sent the New York Jets of the American Football League against the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League at Birmingham, Ala., and the NFL San Francisco 49ers against the AFL Broncos at Denver.

Boston plays Miami at Jacksonville, Fla., and Buffalo meets Houston at Tulsa, Okla., in AFL action while Baltimore is a Detroit in an NFL contest.

The five contests are part of a 13-game weekend schedule, highlighted by Saturday night's NFL Green Bay at Dallas game, which will be nationally televised.

The Jets said Thursday that quarterback Joe Namath is expected to play against the Falcons. The former Alabama star, troubled by a sore left knee, missed the first two exhibition games, which the Jets split.

Injuries will keep tight end Pete Lammons, flanker Don Maynard and center John Schmitt out of the Jets' line-up.

Ron VanderKelen, No. 2 quarterback behind Randy Johnson, is expected to start for the Falcons, who have lost their first two games.

In the other interleague game—the AFL leads the NFL 7-4—San Francisco will be looking for its first victory under new coach Dick Nolan. The 49ers lost their first three games. John Brodie is slated to start at quarterback.

End Sonny Randle and tackle Len Rohde are expected to return to action for Denver, 1-1, after recovering from injuries.

Unbeaten Houston, which won three games in the Astrodome, will try to keep its streak intact with a victory over Buffalo outdoors at Tulsa. Quarterback Pete Beathard once again will be at the controls for the Oilers.

Veteran quarterback Jack Kemp suffered a charley horse in Buffalo's victory over Cincinnati and is listed as a doubtful starter for the Bills, 2-0-1. Dan Darragh is Kemp's backup man.

E. Liverpool Downs Toot In Softball

LISBON — East Liverpool Merchants, trailing 6-0 at one point, rallied to beat Toot Trucking 12-7 at Pine Tree Inn Field last night and advance to the finals of the County Softball League Tournament.

Wellsville Appliance beat Salem Security Service and will meet Toot tonight in the loser's bracket final. East Liverpool will play the winner at 5:45 Saturday, with a second game to be played if East Liverpool loses the first contest.

Joe Anderson continued his hot hitting for East Liverpool, poling two homers and adding two singles. Bob Swogger also homered for East Liverpool and Ron Sabo homered for Toot. Bill Talbot was the winning pitcher and Jerry Bryson took the loss.

Purchase Shortstop

Pickin Group Wins Ladies Am-Am Event

Graduate Students Marry In Pittsburgh Ceremonies

Heinz Memorial Chapel at the University of Pittsburgh was the setting for the Thursday evening wedding of Miss Donna Sue Kwall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saul A. Kwall of Ellwood City, Pa., and John T. Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Smith of 3189 Harding Ave.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a full - length gown of white crepe accented with Venise lace. The Empire bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves. The detachable Watteau train was chapel length and trimmed with Venise lace.

—:—

HER BOUFFANT veil of silk illusion was attached to a Dior bow of crepe and Venise lace. She carried a bouquet of white glamelias. Her only jewelry was a gold watch, the gift of the bridegroom.

In observing the traditions, she carried the antique lace handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day, and borrowed a sixpence from Miss Julia Ann Smith, sister of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jeanne Smith and Miss Julia Ann Smith sisters of the bridegroom. They appeared in aqua gowns of peau de soie styled with short sleeves.

All the attendants wore matching Dior bow headpieces and carried arrangements of orange color carnations and daisies tied with satin streamers.

MRS. JOHN T. SMITH
Former Donna Kwall.

A RECEPTION followed at the Georgian Terrace Room of Hotel Webster Hall.

Following a honeymoon tour of eastern states, the newlyweds will reside at 200 North Negley Ave., Pittsburgh.

The bride was graduated in 1966 from Chatham College where she received a bachelor of arts degree in psychology. In 1967 she received her master of education degree in counselor education from the University of Pittsburgh and in 1968 her specialist counseling diploma.

The bridegroom was graduated in 1962 from East Liverpool High School. In 1966 he received his bachelor of science degree in psychology from the University of Pittsburgh, where he was awarded his master of counselor education degree in 1967 and his specialist diploma in counseling in 1968. Both currently are completing work toward doctor of philosophy degree.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Mines has blamed outdated and inaccurate maps for thee mine-wall breakthrough that caused an underground flash flood, killing four men and trapping 21 others near Hominy Falls, W. Va., last May.

The bureau reported Thursday the men did not realize how near they were to an adjacent flooded mine. It said the miners' maps were old and included at least one surveying error.

Fifteen men were trapped for five days after the mine accident May 6. Six other miners, given up for dead, were rescued after a week and a half underground.

WASHINGTON (AP) — About half the inmates of federal prisons are young convicts from 17 to 28 years old.

Myrl E. Alexander, director of the Bureau of Prisons, voiced concern over the increase in young violators Thursday as he reported the number of prisoners had begun to rise after a six-year decline.

Alexander emphasized new rehabilitation programs in the prisons with special attention on education. He said, "It's these kids we have to get to. We must intervene in their criminal careers."

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attorney for Air Force Capt. Dale E. Noyd, convicted of refusing to train fighter pilots for Vietnam, argued Thursday that the number of war veterans on the court martial panel made it impossible for Noyd to receive a fair trial.

Marvin Karpatkin, carrying Noyd's appeal before a military review board, said eight of the 10 officers who sat in judgement had returned recently from Vietnam. He said, "They would have to be superhuman to avoid leaning toward the prosecution side."

Noyd, whose application for classification as a conscientious objector had been refused, was convicted last March for refusing to obey orders to train fighter pilots at Cannon Air Force Base in New Mexico. He was sentenced to one year at hard labor and dismissal from the Air Force.

South Side Rebuilding After Losing 13 Lettermen

Rams Depending On Youngsters

Don Charlton, in his first year as head coach last year, posted a 4-5 record at South Side Beaver, the best in the history of the school.

But 13 lettermen who helped fashion that mark have graduated, and Charlton must depend on young players coming through to match last year's record.

Joe Kuznicki, a graduate of Penn Hills High and West Liberty St., returns as an assistant and Pat Dougherty, a graduate of Beaver Falls and Colorado Western is a new assistant.

Quarterback is the Rams' big problem, Ed Ashcroft, a 5-8, 135 lefthanded sophomore, is called "promising" by Charlton. He is an excellent ballhandler, but his passing needs improvement, so the Rams will rely on running at first. Mark Nelson, a 5-10, 150 junior is in reserve, and senior letterman Ken Dunlevy, a defensive saftty last year, is also working at the position.

There are 11 lettermen returning, six of them starters. Fullback Bob Brinkley, a 5-10, 150 senior, and halfback Bruce Potts, a 5-9, 150 sophomore, return to the backfield. George Skolnekovich, 5-99, 155 sophomore letterman, will be the other starting halfback. Tom Shirley, a 5-8, 135 junior letterman and Dan Dawson, a senior, will also play halfback.

There are no lettermen ends, but some depth. Three sophomores, 5-10, 145 Bruce Walker, 6-2, 170 Dan Basinger, and 5-8, 140 Larry Anderson; and junior Claude Goodman, 6-0, 160, are battling for the post. Lettermen tackles are seniors Rick Ford, 5-11, 185, and Jason Allison, 5-9, 150; and junior Tim McCoy, 6-0, 170. Lettermen guards are seniors Larry Berger, 5-10, 160 and Ed Reed, 5-9, 155. Don Stolkovich, a 5-9, 160 senior out last season with an injury, will be at center. Stan Tate, a 5-9, 150 sophomore is the only reserve at guard and center.

Bruce Dunlevy, a 5-7, 135 senior is a letterman linebacker. In most cases the players will have to go both ways. Brinkley and Berger are co-captains.

Charlton calls Avalon and Avonworth the toughest schools on the schedule, but notes that Beaver County rivals Western Beaver and Center Twp. are always rough.

The schedule: (all games 2:30 p.m. unless otherwise indicated)

Sept. 7—at Donora, 8 p.m.
Sept. 14—Avalon*
Sept. 21—at Edgewood, 10:30 a.m.
Sept. 28—Sharpsburg*
Oct. 5—At Millvale*
Oct. 12—at Oakdale Boys Home
Oct. 19—Avonworth*
Oct. 26—W. Beaver*
Nov. 1—Center* at Monaca, 8 p.m.
*WPIAL Class B games

Has Good Workout

Croydon Now Favored In W. Virginia Derby

W. V. W. Stable's Croydon, son of the 1958 Kentucky Derby winner Tim Tam, stamped himself the solid choice for tonight's West Virginia Derby at Waterford Park when he turned in a sizzling pre - race trial at dawn Thursday.

With jockey Jerry Noble in the irons, Croydon spun off three furlongs in 36 3-5 seconds.

Early morning railbirds and clockers took a second look at the handsome dark bay three-year-old after they noted that Noble had never once asked his charge for any real speed. The entire drill found Noble with two handfuls of running horse under him, and the veteran reinsman was doing his best to hold the frisky colt to a half-way moderate clip.

Croydon, who had figured well in the odds when first named, was posted as the 2-1 favorite for the mile and a furlong classic.

The Derby, West Virginia's oldest stakes race, will be offering its richest running ever. The eventual winner will take down a prize of slightly more than $10,000.

Others named for the eighth renewal of the classic were Francis C. Robinson's Son I. Rob, Mrs. Walter R. Kelly's Chargertown, William Mack and Robert F. Snyder's Nobody But Nobody, C. B. Fischbach's Frosty Hai and Marion H. Van Berg's Entry of Assumption and Terrasaga.

The Van Berg Entry, Assumption and Terrasaga, figures to have something to say about the final outcome too. Van Berg is counting on Terrasaga, a horse who has proven that he can run a distance.

Chargertown is a grass campaigner who shipped in from Delaware Park, where he raced all summer.

The field for the Derby is expected to depart from the starting gate at 10:27 p.m.

Ohio St. Challenger For Big 10 Grid Title

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, an optimist by nature, really may have something to crow about as he prepares to embark on his 18th season as Ohio State football coach.

The dean of Big Ten coaches could hardly contain himself as he previewed his 1968 Buckeye edition Wednesday night at a press dinner.

"We've got more depth and speed and good football players than we've had for a long time," Hayes noted.

"We're green in spots and we will make some mistakes but one mistake will not be a lack of enthusiasm."

Does that mean that Ohio State can expect to capture its first conference championship since 1961 and make its first Rose Bowl trip in 11 years?

"The Big Ten race is going to be a dandy and we always expect to be in it. But Purdue should win without any question. The Boilermakers have more experience and fine football players than any other team in the conference."

The Purdue buildup may be plain fact but may also be professor Hayes' strategy in building the Boilermakers up for a letdown.

The two schools battle here Oct. 12, the Bucks' third game of the season, and the winner is likely to make the journey to California.

Hayes has a solid blend of veteran performers and the best freshman crop in his long tenure.

Kern, who had a partially slipped disc that required surgery last June, is expected to be ready for the Sept. 28 opener against Southern Methodist.

"He has exceptional ability. . . a good runner and passer," Hayes said. But he cautioned not to write off Bill Long, the Bucks' top signal-caller the last two years.

Dayton's Leophus Hayden, "a big fellow with exceptional speed," is Brungard's relief. The right halfback berth likely will go to promising rookie John Brockington, a refugee from Brooklyn, N. Y. Larry Zelina of Cleveland, another sparkling soph who will be called upon to do the place-kicking, also will see action at right half.

Hayes will have to go with sophs at the end positions. Jan White and Bruce Jankowski are the leading candidates.

The defensive line is long on experience, particularly at end where Nick Roman and Dave Whitfield have control. Juniors Brad Nielson and Paul Schmidlin appear to have nailed down the tackle berths.

Mount Vernon's Jim Stillwagon is battling veteran Vic Stottleyer for the middle guard spot and seniors Dirk Worden and Mark Stier have the linebacker roles locked up.

In the defensive backfield, three sophs appear to have won starting positions. John Tatum is expected to open at corner back, Mike Sensibaugh at safety and Tim Anderson at one deep back post. The other goes to junior Ted Provost.

11 Derby Nominees Bred In Kentucky

Of the 21 three-year-olds nominated for Friday's eighth running of the West Virginia Derby at Waterford Park, eleven were bred in Kentucky. Arkansas is second with three nominees, while Florida stands third with a pair. States represented by one are Ohio, Illinois, Virginia, Indiana and Oklahoma.

Carol Mann Favorite In Golf Series

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Carol Mann, enjoying her greatest year on the professional circuit, shoots for the $10,000 jackpot and added prestige this weekend in the third annual Ladies World Series of Golf.

Miss Mann, a 6-foot-3 mod swinger with a bubbling personality, came close to capturing the two-day, 36-hole event last year but lost on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to Miss Whitworth.

Both finished behind Miss Wright when the veteran women's pro won the first World Series in 1966.

This terrific trio may get some spirited competition from Sandra Haynie, who has played in the two previous series, and first-time entries Susie Maxwell Berning and Sandra Post.

Mrs. Berning earned a spot in the six-woman field by winning the U.S. Open. Miss Post, a cute Canadian, got her invitation by copping the LPGA.

Miss Whitworth qualified as defending champion; Miss Mann as the women's leading money-winner and Miss Haynie and Miss Wright on the basis of their third and fourth place standings on the money list.

The six pros, shooting for the $35,000 in prize money, tested the city-operated Snyder Park course today where last year's event was held before starting 18-hole rounds Saturday and Sunday.

OKs Celtics Sale

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Basketball Association Thursday formally approved the $4 million sale of the Boston Celtics to P. Ballantine & Sons of New Jersey.

U.S. Netters Dominating Amateur Play

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — An all-United States men's singles final appeared a sure bet today in America's bid to regain the national amateur tennis championship after 12 years of frustration.

U.S. Davis Cup stars Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner packed the biggest wallops, but unseeded Bob Lutz of Los Angeles and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., refused to be counted out entering the eighth day of the 88th national championships at Longwood.

Ashe, an Army lieutenant top-seeded on the basis of his brilliant Davis Cup play this year, was favored to defeat Alan Stone, 22, Australia's fifth-ranked player, in a quarter-final match today.

A victory by Ashe would result in an all-American semifinal round, sending him against McManus. Lutz was set to test the second-seeded Graebner in a semifinal about the same time as the Ashe-Stone match.

There has not been an all-U.S. final since Tony Trabert defeated Vic Seixas in 1953. Trabert repeated as champion two years later, but since Australia has captured the title 10 times and Mexico and Spain once each.

Ashe, Graebner and McManus posted straight set victories in advancing Thursday and Lutz, a Southern California student who will be 21 next Thursday, pulled his second major upset with 24 hours.

Lutz, noted more as a doubles player, followed his upset of American star Cliff Richey by ousting South Africa's Bob Hewitt, the top-seeded foreign player, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.

In women's singles, Maria Bueno, 28, of Brazil, bidding for a fifth U.S. title, marked time after moving into the final round with a 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 victory over England's Virginia Wade.

Hookstown Downs Boyce, Gains Finals

Hookstown Free Methodist downed Boyce Methodist 7-1 at Dixonville last night to move into the finals of the Church Slow-pitch softball tournament.

Hookstown takes on unbeaten Calvary Methodist at 6 tonight at Dixonville in the finals. If Hookstown wins the game a second game will follow.

Wes McLaughlin was the winning pitcher last night and Don Perkins took the loss. Al Dawson homered for the lone run for Boyce and Jim Todd had a double and single to lead Hookstown.

ed. "One thing that stands out among American workers," he adds, "is that so many are women. Japan has many less."

Taiki is married and has one son. His family is large—he has two older brothers, four older sisters and two younger brothers. His home city of Yokohama has a population of more than two million people.

YUKO'S home city of Kagoshima is located on the southernmost island of Japan and has a population of 390,000.

Yuko boarded a plane in Japan at 10 Monday morning and, because she crossed the international dateline, arrived in Pittsburgh at 5:30 p. m. Monday. She actually traveled for 18 hours.

"High school in Japan is for three years," she pointed out, "but we attend the year around." Since she is not required to meet the Ohio State Department of Education's standards, she can choose her subjects. Her choices are American History — she wants to learn as much as she can about our country — mathematics and English, although she already speaks very good English. In addition, she will take speech, physical education and social studies.

Since her arrival Monday, Yuko has been indoctrinated into American sports, such as football, basketball, bowling and swimming. She has been playing football and basketball with David and Craig Pelini and says she is very, very anxious to see her first football game.

They went swimming Tuesday and, although she had only been swimming one time before in her life, she successfully dove from the diving board.

Susan Pelini, who is four, has lovingly adopted her new "sister" and does not want to let Yuko out of her sight.

YUKO IS "bubbling over" with enthusiasm for her new life. She says, "America is wonderful, very nice — I am very happy." Not only the words, but the expression in her eyes and the gestures which accompany them emphasize her sincerity.

Her parents are both living and she has three brothers — Kazuo, 20, Shigeaki, 16, and Tetuo, 13. Her father is an electrical engineer.

When asked if she worked after school in Japan, Yuko replied, "Yes, at home. I helped my mother. I like to cook." In fact, her favorite hobby is cooking. She plays the piano a little and enjoys listening to music. "Now," she said, I add football to the list."

Although she has seen only one program since her arrival here, she feels television in Japan is similar to ours.

Many people asks Yuko what she would like to do — what her ambition is. Her reply is always, "I want to be a good mother."

She is looking forward to visiting many places — including the Columbiana County Fair this week at Lisbon. She has been invited to see a dairy farm and she is looking forward to seeing her first snow.

The Rotary Exchange program is conducted by Rotary International. A club interested in sponsoring a student makes application, and then the club in the country selected, in this case, Japan, does the interviewing.

There are also two other Rotary exchange students in Columbiana County this year. Both will be attending United Local and living with families in the Winona and Salem area.

Inspector Announces Office Hour Schedule

Marvin Wooley, the city's new housing and zoning inspector, said today he will be in his City Hall office Monday through Friday from 9 to 9:30 a. m. and 1 to 1:30 p. m. to receive applications for zoning and building permits and answer questions.

Wooley said the two daily intervals will be set aside from his inspection duties so that the public will have definite times in which to contact him. His office is on the second floor of City Hall, adjacent to the office of Planning Coordinator Don Eckert.

Wooley's office telephone number is 386-6110. He was named Monday night by Mayor George E. Willshaw to succeed Chester M. Brown, resigned

Mrs. Howard Dies Of Burns

Mrs. Doris Howard, 42, of 701 Washington Ave., Wellsville, wife of Willis Howard, died Thursday night at 6:15 at Doctors Hospital in Columbus, where she had been a patient for about two weeks after suffering burns.

Mrs. Howard, her husband and two children, Willis Jr., 11, and Pamela, 8, were attending a Jehovah's Witnesses assembly in Columbus, Aug. 9 when their camper trailer caught fire.

Mr. Howard remains in fair condition at the hospital and the two children are still critical at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Howard was born in Newell March 23, 1926, a daughter of Ralph Arrington of Wellsville and the late Carrie Carpenter Arrington. She was a member of the Wellsville Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

In addition to her husband, father and two children, Mrs. Howard leaves two brothers, Howard Arrington of Syracuse, N. Y., and a twin brother, Donald Arrington of East Liverpool; two sisters, Mrs. Izetta Williams and Miss Patty Arrington, both of Wellsville, and her step-mother, Mrs. Mary Arrington of Wellsville.

The MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville is arranging services.

More Meetings Arranged To Air Housing Project

Two more meetings are scheduled in the next 60 days with officials of the Chicago regional office of the Housing and Urban Development Department to discuss plans for a 130 - unit development to provide housing for low-income families.

Plans for the $2,363,000 complex off Maine Blvd. were reviewed Thursday at the HUD office in Chicago by spokesmen for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority and Housing Associates of Columbus, which has been designated by the authority as the turnkey developer of the project.

The authority was represented by Aaron Eaton of East Liverpool, a member, and Merrill D. Hall, executive director. George Hyland of Akron appeared on behalf of the Columbus developer.

Thursday's meeting was devoted primarily to an initial review of the plans. A session is set Sept. 25 to study land appraisals and discuss the plans with the architect and the developer. The working drawings and specifications will be reviewed at a meeting Oct. 22.

Gov. Agnew To Make Appearances In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Republican vice presidential candidate, will be in Columbus and Cincinnati Saturday for quick visits with Gov. James A. Rhodes, state GOP leaders and workers.

Agnew is to arrive in Columbus about 1 p. m. meet with several hundred Republicans at the governor's mansion, leave for Cincinnati about 4:45 and address about 5,000 persons at the annual Hamilton County Republican picnic.

Same Old Record— Hot And Humid Again

Continuing to be brutally frank, the weatherman says simply that it will be "hot and humid through Saturday."

Tonight's low will range between 70 and 76.

Saturday's high will be in the 90s, dropping to the mid and low 80s Monday through Wednesday, with lows around 60.

The five - day forecast says rainfall wil total at least 0.5 to 0.75 inches, with thunder showers due during the weekend.

He had resided in East Liverpool since 1888.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Virginia Stone Cawood, whom he married July 12, 1922; two daughters, Mrs. Furman South III of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and Mrs. John M. Roberts IV of East Liverpool, and 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Cawood was a member of the Methodist Church.

The family requests that material tributes take the form of contributions to Dollars for Scholars.

Mr. Cawood, whose principal enterprise was the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. in East End which he sold in 1956, resided here for 80 years.

Although he lacked a formal engineering education, he designed and produced numerous machinery items for district ceramic plants in establishing an industry that has a branch in Canada and has shipped worldwide. He remained as a director or officer in some of the firms, most of which were absorbed by other concerns or went out of business.

He attended East Liverpool High School, but quit to become an apprentice machinist, taking a correspondence course for the fundamental training that enabled him to expand the Patterson firm into an organization employing over 250 at one time.

Having retired after disposing of the firm to the Ferro Corp. of Cleveland, he devoted his time to travel, and in 1962 compiled and privately published a slim volume that traced the family ancestry back 1,000 years to Yorkshire, England.

HIS FOREBEARS settled in Maryland in 1665. His father was Alexander Cawood II, who moved to Belpre, Ohio, and his mother, the former Frances Elnora Henderson, who died in 1919. They had seven children, with Mr. Cawood the youngest.

The family moved to East Liverpool when Mr. Cawood was 7, about a year after his father died. He began his schooling here when 8, attending the former 6th St. building.

He became a friend of Monroe Patterson who offered him a job at the Patterson Works as an apprentice machinist in 1900.

MR. CAWOOD eventually became chief engineer. As the firm prospered, he turned to design and research, also devoting time to promotion and sales.

He began acquiring Patterson stock, finally obtaining a controling interest. Mr. Cawood expanded into new lines, including grinding machinery for ceramics, continuous mills for refining ceramic colors and paper coatings and pebble and ball mills for grinding paint products.

About 1925, Patterson built the new plant in East End, and abandoned the old works in the city's business district. A modern foundry was erected in 1928, and an extension built for the machine division.

More companies were then formed, including Patterson Steel Products, as a subsidiary for the fabrication of plate into mills and kettles, and Patterson Refractories in 1930 as another subsidiary which developed a ceramic material called Porox. Both subsidiaries later were consolidated in the parent firm.

BRANCH OFFICES then were established in many cities over the nation with sales agencies in other communities. In 1945, he established a Canadian manufacturing branch at Toronto.

Mr. Cawood was president of Patterson's for 36 years. After 56 years with the firm, he sold the business in 1956 to the Ferro Corp., which later disposed of the company to a group of Cleveland industrialists, who now operate Patterson Industries, Inc.

Mr. Cawood had been associated in other businesses, organizing the R. L. Cawood Co. to deal in white clay, and—in 1907 — the former Kenilworth Tile Co. at Newell, which later was acquired by New Castle Refractories.

He organized the American Paper Products Co. in 1915 with the late J. K. Moffett and B. W. Hunsicker. In 1958, the firm constructed a new plant at Boardman. Mr. Cawood resigned as president in 1962, and became chairman of the board.

Mr. Cawood served for 28 years on the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees and helped organize the Columbiana County Industrial Association in 1932, along with the late W. H. Vodrey. He was also a member of the Tri - State Industrial Association of Pittsburgh, serving on the board for seven years.

Mr. Cawood was one of the organizers of the Chamber of Commerce and the Country Club.

Vice president of the former Community Bank, he headed the committee that consolidated the Potters National Bank and the Dollar Savings Bank, forming the Potters Bank & Trust, of which he became president in 1930.

His affiliations included the Duquesne Club, the University Club, the Longvue Club and the Pittsburgh Athletic Association of Pittsburgh and the Youngstown Club.

In 1923-24, he designed and built the home at Park Blvd. and St. Clair Ave. of Italian Renaissance style. It is considered a showplace.

Mr. and Mrs. Cawood presented carillon chimes to Trinity Church in St. Marys City, Md., in memory of his father, and English carillonic bells to the First Methodist Church here in memory of his parents.

Ex-Big League Player 'Heinie' Groh Claimed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Henry "Heinie" Groh, major league baseball infielder widely known for his use of the "bottle bat," died Thursday night in Drake Hospital. He was 78.

He had been hospitalized since Aug. 2.

Playing 17 years with the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Reds, Groh was identified with the bat he used—shaped at the handle and like the long neck of a bottle.

He hit a lifetime .292 in the majors and his biggest batting season was with Cincinnati in 1921 when he had a .331. He managed the Reds the last part of 1918.

Stores Reminded Of Obligation In Food Stamp Plan

A reminder of the responsibilities of grocery store owners in connection with the federal Food Stamp Program was issued today by L. D. Holt, officer in charge of the Midwest District.

There are 96 stores participating in the program in Columbiana County.

Holt referred to a recent decision by a Federal Court concerning a Chicago supermarket which had appeaed an administrative decision of the Department of Agriculture to suspend the store from participating for 30 days.

The retailer claimed that evidence failed to indicate or justify that he knowingly or willfully violated or permitted violation of the Food Stamp Program by its employees. The presiding judge in a precedent - setting decision upheld that the suspension "was entirely valid, appropriate, and fully warranted by the facts." He ruled that "a corporation is responsibe for the acts of its agents even though the acts are committed without the knowedge of the corporation."

The Food Stamp Program is one of USDA's answers to feeding needy people. A family exchanges the money it normally spends for food coupons (stamps) of a higher monetary value. The stamps are used just like cash at the supermarket except that they can only be used to purchase domestically produced foods, coffee, tea, bananas, and cocoa, as such. The bonus or free stamps average 38 per cent nationwide.

2 $1.5 Million Suits Filed In Air Tragedy

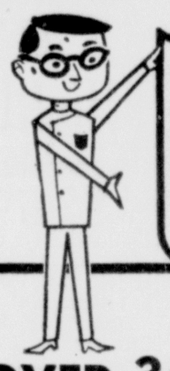

CHICAGO (AP)—The families of two Middletown, Ohio steel executives killed May 3 in an airline crash filed duplicate suits Thursday, each seeking $1.5 million damages.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Nylon Helps Varnish Job

DEAR HELOISE: Did I ever discover an easy way to varnish my floors!

While doing my bedroom I found I didn't have a brush to varnish with. So lo and behold I used a pair of nylon stockings rolled into a ball. And you know, I did a better job than with a brush!

Heloise

It came out smooth and no bubbles or streaks at all.

I applied it as I would liquid wax and it dried in far less time. No more brush for me . .

M.P.

"Try putting an old rubber glove on your hand, then spread your varnish with a cloth or sponge instead of a brush. It's almost like polishing furniture.

"The varnish goes on nice and thin, and you never get those loose bristles. There's no brush to clean, either.

A THIRD READER, Sandy Mercer, told us to use the cheapest powder puffs you could buy. "The puff holds the varnish and spreads it smoothly without the streaks that one usually gets with a brush."

I could scarcely believe all of this so tried the nylon stocking and then decided to check with the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Here's what they said:

"Nylon stockings should be just as satisfactory as any other lint-free cloth for the application of varnishes. The only point is that the cloth should not leave bits in the varnish.

"HOWEVER, any cloth — including nylon — used for varnish application should be handled carefully after use. Most varnishes contain drying oils that generate heat when they dry. If the varnish is spread out in a thin film, the heat is released as fast as it is generated, and nothing happens.

However, if the cloth is wadded up so that the heat cannot escape, the temperature will rise and can easily get to the point where the varnish and cloth will ignite. This phenomenon is known as 'SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION,' and nas caused a number of serious fires.

"After use, the best thing to do with the cloth is to burn it. The next best approach is to immerse it in water. A third safe approach is to spread the cloth out on a line where the heat can dissipate.

"UNDER NO CONDITIONS should the cloth be wadded up and placed in the trash, in a corner, or in the laundry."

Our greatest appreciation to the National Association and our three darling readers.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For your readers who are campers, I have found that serving soup for breakfast on a chilly morning hits the spot.

Also I make my macaroni in a coffee pot with a "screened" spout. Simply pour water out the spout when the macaroni is done.

MRS. VERNON HANSON.

DEAR HELOISE: Ever tried pouring salt in a cloth bag (it used to come in bags) and using it for a stiff pillow? The salt slides around and when you wiggle your neck, it fits just about any place!

QUIRK.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever smashed a coffee carafe and wondered what to do with the holder it sat in?

I turned ours into a hanging flower pot holder by attaching four strands of wire to it.

I put a small plastic cup in the candle-warming section to catch the water as it drains out and covered the flower pot and cup with foil.

MRS. A. GOMMERMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: To end the squeaking of your shower curtain rings as they slide across the pole, apply a thin coating of baby oil to the pole.

Works great.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Thursday that Marine Lance Cpl. Michael R Witt of Cincinnati, Ohio, has been killed in recent fighting in Vietnam.

School Teachers May Delay Start In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Many of Youngstown's teachers may stay away from school the first day and hold seminars instead.

Roy Fisher, president of the Youngstown Education Association, said the seminars will start Sept. 3 and probably extend to Sept. 4 and 5. The first day of school is Sept. 4.

Fisher said classes must not open until quality education is assured. He said classrooms are overcrowded throughout the system.

The association also plans to demonstrate at various public schools.

About 250 members of the association have voted to hold indefinite seminars, he said.

Teachers also want more money—a $6,600 starting salary and hospitalization insurance. Present salary for beginners is $5,800.

The Youngstown Board of Education has said no funds are available for salary increases because five consecutive school levies were defeated. A 12-mill levy will be submitted Nov. 5.

Patrol Boat Named For City Of Defiance

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — After an absence of 23 years, there will again be a warship named for the city of Defiance.

The USS Defiance, a 165-foot patrol gunboat, will be commissioned Saturday at Sturgeon Bay, Wis. The first USS Defiance, an attack transport, was decommissioned in 1919. The second Defiance, a minesweeper, ended active duty in 1945.

Steelworkers Defy Order, Honor Pickets

Joseph Nixon, a trucker at the plant and a member of the Teamsters, struck the firm himself Monday to protest the possible loss of his job.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Tell It Like It Is

Hal Humphrey's guest columnist today is Digby Wolfe, writer from England who is one of the authors of Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In" show and chief writer on the new special "SOUL," which he tells about here.

HOLLYWOOD — With "Laugh-In" being plagiarized by everyone from Buick to Bubble-Up, just about the only people in town who haven't plundered the original are its creators: George Schlatter and Ed Friendly.

Thus, when NBC decided to move out of the parade into the vanguard and really involve black people in television, an offshoot of "Laugh-In" seemed like the obvious choice.

"SOUL" is what we called it — an all-Negro pilot special (with no air date yet) which is a first for network television. Certainly there's nothing like it in my country: Enoch Powell's England, where integration means having an Irish maid who lives in.

"SOUL" even has its token white man: Arte Johnson, swapping his German helmet for a yamulka to ask:

"You was expecting maybe Ray Charles?"

H. B. Barnum led the integrated NBC orchestra in what must have been the most dynamic demonstration since Moms Mabley picketed Elizabeth Arden. H. B.'s charts converted what is usually a somewhat sedate sit-in into an awesome rock-out. At one electric, eclectic moment, H. B. was inspired to gaze admiringly at Don Randi, his white piano player, and say:

"Git it, you black melon farmer!"

THE WRITERS came from Budd Schulberg's Watts Writers Workshop, now one of several such community projects across the country, operating under the titular umbrella of the Douglas House Foundation.

Remember the names: Jeanne A. Taylor, Larry L. Reed Jr. and Cal Wilson. We went to work in the apartment once occupied by the "Laugh-In" writers, and it may have been this which fueled their main fear: that "SOUL" would just be a black version of that show. They didn't mean the format; they meant the attitude: white.

This was the most meaningful lesson I learned from "SOUL": what is really meant by black power. It is not, as so much of the mass media prefers to suggest, a phalanx of spades in shades, berets and black leather jackets, advancing on surburban America with bazookas.

To paraphrase Harry Belafonte, it is replacing the white man's image of the black man with his own and being paid the same rate. It's telling it like it is. And that, in terms of music and comedy, is exactly what "SOUL" sets out to do.

The next hang-up was the name of the show. It wasn't enough to call it "SOUL." It had to deliver what the title promised. There was no doubt about the singers. You can't get much more soulful than Lou Rawls, Joe Tex or the Chambers Brothers.

Then the Soul Sisters: three incredible children from Oregon named Soul Mama, Love Mama and Stilt Mama. Stilt Mama is the oldest at 15 and the tallest at 6-2. They're going to be the biggest thing since beads. No, our problem was the comedy. That had to be soulful, too.

I ASKED the writers a fashionable question:

"What IS soul?"

"It's the National Observer merging with Ramparts!"

"It's Lester Maddox collecting Ralph Abernathy's garbage!"

The result, in the expert hands of Nipsey Russell, Redd Foxx, George Kirby, Slappy White and Leroy Daniels, created what we all believe will be a most productive riot.

NBC has the guts to get it on. George Schlatter and Ed Friendly had the vision to conceive it. If the Nielsen rating is taken from a fair proportion of Negro homes, maybe 1969 will be the year when black and white television really makes the change to living color.

or.

Gilligan Sets Up Convention Unit Against Viet War

CHICAGO (AP)—John J. Gilligan has announced formation of a committee at the Democratic platform hearings here that he said represents an unofficial opposition to the war in Vietnam.

Gilligan said the group would write a platform plank on Vietnam that represents his views as well as those of the Kennedy, McCarthy and McGovern camps.

"We are not seeking compromise," Gilligan said. "We are seeking a new course for the United States." He added, "There is considerable sentiment within the committee for change . . . in this nation's foreign policies."

Gilligan, a member of the Platform Committee and a candidate for the U.S. Senate from Ohio, said the group's membership includes former aide to President Kennedy Theodore Sorensen and Illinois Atty. Gen. William Clark.

County Clerk Resigns After Car Kills Youth

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Clifford C. Beckett resigned Thursday as Warren County clerk of courts, a post he held for 31 years.

Effective date of resignation was Sept. 1.

Beckett, 63, who lives near Lebanon, was charged with driving while intoxicated Wednesday night after his auto struck and killed Andrew Garland, 10, son of a Springboro physician, the Highway Patrol said.

Beckett said: "I express my deepest sympathy to Dr. Garland and his family. In order to avoid embarrassment to my family, friends and colleagues, I feel I should take this action."

Czech Crisis Dims Any Hope For Early Release Of Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 82 officers and men of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo began their eighth month of imprisonment in North Korea today with the Czech crisis thought to diminish any chances of an early release.

The outlook for release of the Americans already was dimmed because of hard-line demands by the North Koreans for a formal U.S. apology for the Pueblo action in allegedly infringing on their territorial waters.

Diplomats here said the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the resultant strain on East-West relations hardly maade it likely for quick agreement on the Pueblo.

Pro-Moscow Premier Kim Il-Sung of North Korea, who praised the Soviet intervention of Czechoslovakia, has threatened repeatedly to try the Pueblo crew for spying, but he has set no date.

South Korea's ambassador to Washington, Kim Dong-Jo, predicted that the Soviet use of force to crush Czech liberalism would have the effect of stiffening Kim and his military-minded cabinet beyond their present hard line.

"As long as Kim Il-Sung is retained in power there is no hope to liberalize the North Korean regime nor gain the release of the Pueblo and its crew," Kim said in an interview.

Winthrop Brown, acting assistant secretary of state, the head of a special U.S. task force on the Pueblo at the State Department, refused to comment on U.S. efforts to obtain the help of Moscow in releasing the men but he conceded the situation is frustrating.

"We believe and hope that patient discussion and negotiation eventually will secure their release," Brown said.

As for a U.S. apology, the United States remains prepared to have the case examined by an impartial internationai body. When the crew is released and free to talk and if the testimony shows the Pueblo was inside then the United States will take appropriate action, Brown said.

For the last 45 days North Korea has either sidestepped or completely ignored U.S. requests for a 20th meeting at Panmunjom to discuss secretly the release of the men and the ship. The 19th session was held July 9. The present interval is the longest gap in negotiations since the Pueblo, loaded with highly sensitive electronic listening devices, was seized in the Sea of Japan.

More Airline Service Asked For Ohio Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Air Lines asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Thursday for authority to provide Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, with additional unrestricted east - west service.

The airline asked that current service to the cities on a route between Chicago and Washington and Baltimore be eliminated and that the two Ohio cities be added to its routes between Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles and New York and Boston.

ANN LANDERS

'Family Affair' Reported

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a woman who was unable to get pregnant wrote to ask if you thought it would be wrong if her husband's brother substituted for him because he had fathered four children in six years and surely could help her out.

You told her it would not be right to borrow her brother-in-law for stud purposes and that she should contact some adoption agencies.

I thought you might like to know how a similar case actually turned out. You might revise your advice.

My husband and I wanted a child very badly. We had been married eight years and I could not get pregnant. We were both examined and tested. The tests indicated that we were both okay physically. The doctors concluded that since there was no organic reason for my inability to conceive, it must be emotional.

To take our minds off the problem we went to visit my sister in California who was pregnant with her fifth child. Sis and her husband, Ed, kidded us about not really wanting a family — not realizing we were both sensitive about it.

The kidding went too far and my sister accused me of taking the pill secretly. We ended up in a fierce argument.

The next morning Sis came over and apologized. She said she and her husband had talked it over and decided if I really wanted a child Ed would help me out. I accepted their offer.

After a three-week stay we returned to the East. I learned shortly after that that I was pregnant. I do not know if Ed is the father or if the child belongs to my husband. Furthermore, I don't care.

Now, four years later, we have three children and are a very happy family. When I saw my sis and Ed last year, not a word was said. The secret is among the three of us and it will remain that way. Sign me — GLAD I DID.

Dear Glad: And people keep asking me if I make up letters. Why would I have to make up letters when I get fantastic mail like this?

Wash-Day Blues

Dear Ann: Please don't think I'm a crabby old woman. I'm a newly married girl with a problem that is driving me nuts.

We have a small but lovely apartment and we adore it. There is a back porch which runs the length of four apartments. We're in the middle. Our dinette windows face the back porch.

The neighbors who lives on the end has strung a laundry line the full length of the porch. She must wash every day because those lines are never without clothes on them. Not only is it embarrassing when we have company but the clothes throw grotesque shadows on our walls and ceiling and it scares me to death when I'm alone.

This neighbor has a right to string the line, as we were told when we moved in that the porch belonged to all of us. Is this worth talking to the landlord about? I hate to start trouble— QUANDARY OVER LAUNDRY.

Dear Quandary: Ask the landlord if he will varnish a Venetian blind for the dinette windows. If he says no, buy one yourself. It will be well worth the investment.

Program Taking Form For Lisbon's Festival

LISBON — Women will make applebutter and a pony will operate a treadmill cider press during the Johnny Appleseed Festival here Sept. 19-21.

The event will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday and continue until midnight Saturday.

Officials of the Lisbon Festival Association say there will be activities to interest all age groups. They expect thousands and intend to make "Johnny Appleseed" an annual celebration.

Forty organizations are participating. Thirteen will operate food stands and the VFW Auxiliary will serve meals.

A parade and band concert will be featured Thursday night. A pet parade, barbershop quartet and the Senior Citizens band are scheduled Friday night. The Saturday night "special" will be a home talent show by youth groups.

The entire downtown area will be used for festival activities. A flea market, tours of historical places, contests, demonstrations exhibits, sidewalk sales, amusement rides and other entertainment are planned Friday and Saturday.

Apple growers from Columbiana and Mahoning counties — leading apple - producing area in Ohio — will have extensive displays. The apples will be sold at auction Saturday night.

Highway Phone Plan Funds Are Released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board released $68,000 Thursday to the Department of Highways for a two-year study of plans to install an emergency roadside communications system on a demonstration basis.

The department plans to set up emergency telephones on a 30-mile stretch of limited access highway for use by motorists in trouble.

Notice Served For Strong Peace Plank

Kennedy Shadow Over Convention

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The shadow Kennedys past etched itself sharply across the Democratic presidential nomination convention today as committees wrangled over preliminary platform, rules and delegate seating decisions.

The subsidiary bearers of the once powerful mantles of the assassinated President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy served blunt notice they will carry to the floor of next week's convention, if necessary, a fight for the "strongest possible peace plank" on Vietnam.

Theodore Sorensen, confidante of both of the slain brothers, told reporters Thursday: "The Democratic platform must have a strong peace plank, or regardless of the nominee, we can forget about the (November) election.

"So we will present to the convention, as a majority plank if that can be, or a minority plank, if that must be, the strongest peace plank that we can draw."

Despite his lack of status as a delegate, Sorensen's voice had an authenticity in expressing the most recent Kennedy viewpoint, substantiated earlier by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in a call for an unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Sorensen and most other supporters of Sen. Kennedy have not yet found a home for the presently uncommitted delegates from California, New York, Indiana, Nebraska and other states where Kennedy had won primaries and picked up convention support before he was assassinated in Los Angeles on June 4.

They have turned thumbs down on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, by all odds the overwhelming favorite for the presidential nomination scheduled to be awarded next Wednesday night.

Sorensen and his hard-shell Kennedy associates have refused to go over to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Humphrey's principal opponent. And they have brushed aside the efforts of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., to attract them to his lately raised banner as a presidential candidate.

The unwillingness of the Kennedy bloc to accept any available substitute for their slain leader was demonstrated in a new attack by California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh on McCarthy's foreign policy stance.

Unruh said in Los Angeles that it was a mistake to minimize the crisis provoked by Russian troop movements into Czechoslovakia as he said McCarthy had done by saying that he did not view the developments as a "major world crisis."

Unruh, previously represented as leaning toward McCarthy, said that "an ominous possibility exists that the Czechoslovakian attack could be the prelude to further Soviet aggression in Europe." The assembly speaker heads a delegation originally pledged to Kennedy. He has refused thus far to endorse any other candidate.

Massachusetts' Sen. Kennedy has rejected with a measure of finality suggestions that he take a place on the 1968 ticket. But former governor Michael V. Di Salle of Ohio persisted that he will offer Kennedy's name for the top nomination.

The developments seemed to indicate that the Kennedy influence on the platform and the selection of a nominee would be minimal at best. But this left out of consideration the indefinable residue of support for the Kennedy viewpoint in nearly every northern delegation of importance.

Humphrey's backers kept a wary eye on the possibly explosive nature of this support.

Meanwhile, the convention's credentials committee agreed early in the day on a compromise in which two rival delegations from Georgia will share evenly the state's convention seats.

This gave 20½ votes to a slate headed by Gov. Lester Maddox, a candidate for the presidential nomination, and an equal number to a more racially integrated slate headed by State Rep. Julian Bond, a Negro.

Earlier, McCarthy's strategists lost a credentials battle in the committee's vote for the temporary seating of a Texas delegation headed by Gov. John Connally.

Both actions may be appealed to the convention floor.

Stephen A. Mitchell, McCarthy's convention manager, declined at a news conference to give any count of the delegate votes McCarthy has toward the 1,312 needed for the presidential nomination.

Former Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, a Humphrey strategist, inched his estimates of the vice president's strength up to around 1,450.

Mitchell said he believes that if McCarthy is permitted to speak at the convention he could influence delegates to vote for him.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, who commands the Illinois delegation, called in testimony before the platform committee for a massive public works program for the "hard core unemployed" he said cannot find work in private industry.

Connally thought it "deplorable" that McCarthy had said he saw no need for an immediate National Security Council meeting on the Russian troop movement into Czechoslovakia. He assailed McCarthy's proposal that the United States suggest an interim coalition government for South Vietnam in which Communist representatives would be included.

In Valparaiso, Ind., McGovern told the U.S. Student Press Association that while ending the Vietnam war must have priority in the campaign he does not believe it is the top issue. He said if elected his first act would be to reduce U.S. troop strength in Vietnam.

He said social problems in the areas of civil rights and civil disorders will present the next president with problems more complex and difficult than any faced by a chief executive.

On the other side of the fence, GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon was being advised not to accept the endorsement of the New York state Conservative party.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, who faces opposition in his race for re-election from James L. Buckley on the Conservative ticket, advised Nixon against accepting the endorsement of a group that polled 510,000 votes two years ago.

In Detroit, former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama confidently predicted he will be elected president on a third party ticket on a platform of a "return to law and order" and the curbing of crime in the streets.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

'Mono' Has No Certain Cure

Q—What is the cause of infectious mononucleosis? How contagious is it? How does it affect a person? Does it cause hepatitis? What is the best treatment?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — This disease is caused by a virus. It is spread by close contact, as in kissing, but it is not as contagious as the common cold since widespread epidemics are rare. It starts with a loss of appetite, vague pains, fever and swelling in the lymph nodes, especially in the neck. There may also be some sore throat.

SOME INFLAMMATION of the liver (hepatitis) is usually present. Drugs of the cortisone group may shorten the course of the disease if given early enough. There is no specific treatment.

Q—Does infectious mononucleosis come on a person long before he realizes it? How long does it last? Does it leave any permanent damage? Does it come back?

A — This disease usually does not develop until four to seven weeks after exposure. The onset is gradual rather than sudden. After an acute stage that may last two to four weeks, convalescence is slow. Recovery is the rule but such complications as pneumonia and paralysis of the respiratory muscles may occur. Relapses occur in about 6 per cent of cases.

Q—I have leukoplakia in my mouth. What causes it? Is it dangerous? Is there any cure?

A—This is a condition in which a white patch is seen on the mucous membranes of the mouth or other parts. In the mouth, heavy smoking is often the cause. The chief danger is that the area may become cancerous. For this reason, a small piece should be removed for microscopic examination and, if there is any doubt that it is benign, it should be surgically removed.

Q—I have been taking the following drugs for my nerves: Dianabol, Thorazine, propylthiouracil, Valium, Aventyl, Mellaril and Pertofrane. I have not improved and am very discouraged. What do you advise?

A—Usually, when a thorough examination fails to reveal anything physically wrong, one's symptoms, although very real, are caused by deep - seated emotional problems. The drugs listed run the gamut from tranquilizers and thyroid suppressants to psychic energizers. If reassurance that you have no serious organic disease doesn't help you, you should find a specialist in nervous disease who will take the time to listen to your problems. Then you should confide in him completely.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Soviet Veto Kills Resolution For UN To Condemn Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A Soviet veto today killed an eight-nation resolution that asked the U.N. Security Council to condemn the Soviet-bloc occupation of Czechoslovakia and to call for the troops to withdraw.

The vote was 10-2 with 3 abstentions. The Soviet Union and Hungary voted no. Algeria, India and Pakistan abstained.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik vetoed the proposal at 3:28 a.m. after he and Hungarian, Bulgarian and Polish delegates had filibustered past midnight to delay the voting.

U.S. Ambassador George W. Ball said the Soviet Union had just cast its 105th veto. But he declared that it could not "suffocate the soul of a proud people" in Czechoslovakia.

Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff then introduced a new resolution requesting Secretary-General U Thant to "dispatch immediately to Prague a special representative who shall seek the release and ensure the personal safety of the Czechoslovak leaders under detention" and report back urgently.

At 3:54 a.m. the council president for the month, Brazilian Ambassador Joao Augusto de Araujo Castro, adjourned the meeting to 5 p.m. today.

Malik told Ball the veto "will continue to afford, as long as the United Nations exists, the possibility for the Soviet Union to defend a just cause."

Malik indicated he would use it once more against Ignatieff's resolution. He said the sponsors wanted to "drag the secretary-general of the United Nations into the affairs of Socialist countries" but would "not succeed."

The resolution's sponsors were the same eight countries that sponsored the condemnatory resolution—Brazil, Senegal, the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Denmark and Paraguay.

The last six had asked for the debate on Wednesday, the day after troops of the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria entered Czechoslovakia, saying they sought to suppress counterrevolution.

Czechoslovak Delegate Jan Muzik told the council Thursday night that the occupation was "completely illegal," that its "immediate termination" was imperative and that Czechoslovakia's legally elected representative must be allowed to function "without illegal interference."

Jury Probes Plot On HHH, Two Senators

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal grand jury opens an investigation today into an alleged plot to assassinate Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and two senators, and to disrupt next week's Democratic National Convention.

U.S. Atty. Thomas A. Foran said Thursday 16 subpoenas were issued for South Side gang members and some who took part in a peace march on the Pentagon last October.

The rumored assassination plot was to involve Humphrey; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, also a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Foran said.

McClellan headed a Senate investigation into the activities of two South Side youth gangs recently which resulted in their losing a federal antipoverty grant.

The prosecutor said the report which originated in Cook County jail last week also involved "alleged planning by certain groups to cause civil disturbances" in the Chicago area during the convention and disrupt proceedings.

Shortly after the grand jury probe begins the first contingent of nearly 6,000 Illinois National Guardsmen arrive in Chicago to be used if needed to maintain order in the event of disturbances next week.

Youth Gets Jail Term In Threat To Mother

Donald Wilson, 18, of 108 Pink Alley was sentenced to a 10-day term in City Jail today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to making "threats in a menacing manner" to his mother, Mrs. Charlesetta Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson testified that her son threatened her Saturday when she attempted to break up a fight between him and one of his brothers.

Meanwhile, Ernie Shenton of 515 Monroe St. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of threatening his son-in-law, Roger Swiger. The incident took place Saturday, according to the affidavit filed by Swiger.

Fight May Freeze Maddox Out

Convention Fight Looms Over Georgia Delegates

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic National Convention officials forced a settlment today on two warring Georgia delegations in a racial-political fight that may freeze Gov. Lester Maddox, a presidential candidate, out of the convention.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Credentials Committee chairman, said Georgia's convention votes will be split between the rival delegations and that it would be "a miracle" if Maddox remains a delegate.

Hughes' committee, which also required that the divided delegation pledge itself to the party's presidential nominee, holds veto power over the final make-up of the Georgia slate.

But the dispute may boil over into a bitter convention floor fight which party officials fear could rent their ranks and cost the Democrats either many Negro votes or the support of white Southerners in November.

Hughes said the decision was made on evidence that Negroes were not able to participate fully in Georgia party affairs, and that the state's national convention delegates were named by only two men, Maddox and state party chairman James Gray.

"We are not going to continue to have a party that systematically excludes Negroes, Mexican-Americans or other minority groups."

But he said there was also evidence that the regular Maddox delegation was at least partly representative of Democrats in the state.

The struggle pitted Maddox, who once offered white customers ax handles to keep Negroes from his restaurant, against Negro legislator Julian Bond, who won his seat in the Georgia House only after a Supreme Court ruling.

Hughes declined to say whether he thought Bond would be named on the new Georgia delegation to be composed of 21 members from each of the contesting slates plus the state's present committeeman and committeewoman.

Both sides had adamantly insisted on an all-or-nothing victory and Hughes said "There might be two dissenting reports" which would bring the battle to the floor when the national convention opens next week.

"We are pleased," said Bond. Lamzar Sizemore, attorney for the Maddox delegation, declined comment.

In addition to the emotional racial issue, the case also involved the political struggle between the two chief contenders for the presidential nomination, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

McCarthy forces support Bond's challenging group, while Humphrey maintained a hands-off attitude publicly. Most of the Bond challengers are for McCarthy for the presidential nomination.

Joseph L. Rauh, chief credentials strategist for McCarthy, had threatened a floor fight but said after the forced settlement that plans were now uncertain.

Rep. Ben Brown, Negro Georgia legislator on Bond's slate, said he did not believe the Maddox camp would accept the settlement dictated by Hughes' committee.

"If they will work together, they will build a great new Democratic party in Georgia," Hughes said.

He said neither side agreed immediately to the decision, which he described as a "judgement" by the Credentials Committee and not a compromise.

The governor said the ruling, by 59-30 vote, was made in an attempt to achieve "justice based on principle without leaving the seats vacant for Georgia."

The ruling was the most dramatic in the party's biggest convention seating hassle in history, involving day and night hearings and closed meetings in sweltering hotel rooms where air conditioning seldom worked.

Earlier, the committee voted to kick out Mississippi's regular delegation in favor of a biracial challenging group on grounds Negroes were not fairly represented.

The regular Mississippi delegation had one Negro and Georgia's had three Negroes, while the challenging slates were almost evenly divided racially.

A challenging slate of Texans headed by Maury Maverick Jr. had charged the state's regular delegation headed by Gov. John Connally didn't give enough representation to Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Hughes, in announcing rejection of the challenge, said there wasn't sufficient reason to bar the Texas regulars.

He said evidence showed Texas delegates were chosen in a manner to give "grassroots" representation to hundreds of thousands of Democrats in the state.

"There was nothing like that in Georgia," Hughes said, where only two men, the party chairman and the governor, select the convention delegates.

The challengers, backed by McCarthy forces, had sought 50 of the 104 Texas delegate votes.

The Credentials Committee also threw out an Alabama challenge against about 300 McCarthy delegates from all over the country. The challenge had demanded the McCarthy delegates take an oath to support the party's ticket.

Also thrown out were challenges involving a relative handful of delegates from Wisconsin, Tennessee and Louisiana.

Secret Paper Circulated

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and other top U.S. officials were alerted to the probability of a Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia about three weeks before Russian troops crossed Czech frontiers, administration officials said today.

A secret paper was given to the President and circulated among some 30 high officials early in August saying such a Soviet-led move was probable, the administration sources said.

They also declared that as late as Tuesday, the day of the invasion, Johnson and other senior officials were notified at their weekly strategy luncheon by intelligence experts that Soviet military intervention was probable.

This was based on the experts' knowledge that the Soviet leadership itself also was meeting Tuesday on the Czech situation.

The claims of forewarning clashed with a previous statement by a high State Department official that "we were surprised" by the invasion.

They also ran counter to information from Pentagon sources that, while an invasion was foreseen as a possibility, there was no intelligence forecast that it was likely to happen.

The Pentagon sources also said the U.S. government was surprised.

Other administration officials said that Charles Bohlen, a leading expert on Russia, and other advisers told Johnson it should be assumed there would be some sort of military move against the Czechs.

These sources said that at the Tuesday lunch, only hours before the invasion, there was a vigorous discussion among Johnson, Seretary of State Dean Rusk, Seretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and others about the possibility of a Russian move.

"They discussed not only the possibility but even the probability, there might be an invasion," an official said. "The concensus was there might be a move against the Czechs."

It was felt, the officials said, by those at the White House luncheon that Russia probably would have to throttle the liberal Czech regime.

There is no disagreement that the first word the U.S. government received about the invasion came from Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in a face-to-face meeting with Johnson Tuesday night about three hours after the incursions started.

There also is no dispute that the first information received through official U.S. information gathering channels came about an hour after the start of the Johnson-Dobryning meeting when monitoring stations intercepted a Radio Prague broadcast.

Administration officials, obviously anxious to shield U.S. intelligence from charges of failure, said the intelligence men were "pretty sharp in calling the shots." They contended that the Soviet leadership did not decide itself until the day of the Moscow meeting, whether it would send Russian and satellite troops into Czechoslovakia to suppress the liberalization movement.

The administration people acknowledged this conclusion was based on deduction rather than any direct information from agents or other sources.

The administration officials said, that on Aug. 12, intelligence began "to put out the flags that things were heating up again."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. James A. Rhodes entered University Hospital Thursday for a routine examination. The governor's office said Mrs. Rhodes undergoes such check-ups several times a year.

Oregon Postal Clerk Receives Marine's Heart

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Surgeons at Stanford University Hospital transplanted the heart of a Marine into the chest of a retired Oregon postal clerk today

The donor, Cpl. Larry B. Smith, 20, of Stockton, Calif., suffered what physicians termed irreversible brain damage in an automobile accident Aug. 14 near Stockton.

The recipient, Leonard Drake, 43, of Eugene, Ore., has suffered from a heart ailment for 12 years.

At the time of the accident, Smith was on leave from Camp Pendleton, Calif., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith. He was to leave for Vietnam. His parents said Larry, youngest of their 12 children, had volunteered three times for combat.

Since his arrival at Stanford Hospital in June, Drake had been kept under close medical care awaiting a donor. Earlier, he had been treated at the University of Oregon Medical School.

Because of his heart illness, Drake had retired from his postal job and for the past year and a half had worked as a bailiff for the Lane County District Court in Eugene.

Drake and his wife have two children, Vicki, 11, and Jimmy, 10.

3 Cars Involved In Newell Crash

Damage was estimated at $850 in a three-car collision in Newell Thursday.

The chain-reaction type mishap occurred on 1st St. at 2:42 p.m.

Robert Osborn, 52, of Crestvue Pl., East Liverpool, told Hancock County deputies he failed to stop in time in heavy traffic and ran into the rear of a car driven by William Savina, 20, of 209 W. 3rd St., East Liverpool forcing his auto into one driven by Lawrence Wright, 37, of 2nd St., Chester.

Damage to Savina's car was estimated at $400, to Wright's $250 and to Osborn's $200. Wright was X-rayed at City Hospital following the mishap. There were no citations.

Infants in the mid-20th century are healthier and have a better chance of survival than at any time in history. The infant mortality rate in the United States in 1900 was about 150 per 1,000 live births; the rate today is about 25 per 1,000 live births.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Leonard Koppett, writing in the New York Times, recently raised an interesting point, a surprising one to be made by a resident of New York City.

Koppett contends that players on New York teams get more publicity than players elsewhere, due to the location of the headquarters of news media there. The headquarters of both major wire services, the three major TV networks, radio networks and advertising agencies are all in New York. The men who run the news media are supposed to cover all the country equally, but because of constant exposure to New York players they emphasize them in national stories, perhaps unconsciously, Koppett notes.

AS EXAMPLES, Koppett says that Ron Swoboda of the Mets, a mediocre player at best, is better known than Lou Brock of the Cardinals. He also says that Joe Pepitone of the Yankees is better known that Roberto Clemente, Al Kaline or Brooks Robinson. The latter example is doubtful, in my estimation, but there is no question but that Koppett has a good point. If Nolan Ryan pitched for anyone but the Mets, would the country know about pickle juice? If Jerry Koosman was a Houston Astro, would everyone know that an usher in the ballpark was responsible for his signing? Probably not. Likewise Joe Namath's llama skin rug would not be famous if he was toiling for the Denver Broncos.

A FEW YEARS ago there was a story in a national news magazine about the disappearance of provincialism in the United States. Television and more readily accessible communications generally were given as the cause. But in my opinion there is still a pocket of provincialism left. This is New York City, where the majority of the natives have never been west of the Hudson River and think that the western 90 per cent of the country is uncivilized, with savage Indians still roaming the plains. Just because they've been on the subway to the Bronx and Brooklyn, or even the far reaches of Jones Beach, they think they're seasoned travelers. With the amont of violence that goes on in "Fun City," as the mayor would like to have it known, the rest of the country shows up as the civilized area. Not only would I not like to live in New York, it's not even a good place to visit.

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers are really in there fighting to win their first American League pennant in 23 years, and they're using both short and long distance blows to good advantage.

Al Kaline and Willie Horton provided the power with consecutive home runs and Dick McAuliffe helped with effective infighting Thursday night when the Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-2. The triumph increased Detroit's first-place lead over idle Baltimore to 7½ games.

In other games, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees whacked his 534th career homer, tying him for third place with Jimmy Foxx on the all-time list, as the Yanks dropped a 3-1 decision to Minnesota. Cleveland downed Boston 3-1 and Oakland edged California 2-1 on Dick Green's ninth-inning homer. Baltimore and Washington were not scheduled.

McAuliffe's most valuable contribution to the Tigers' cause came during a third-inning skirmish with left-hander Tommy John, Chicago's starting pitcher. The incident resulted in the ejection of both players and a shoulder injury that may sideline John for three weeks.

Three innings after John's departure, Kaline and Horton tagged his successor, ex-Tiger Dennis Ribant, for their solo homers as Detroit overcame a 2-1 deficit.

The skirmish developed when McAuliffe fell to the ground after ducking a 3-2 pitch. The Tigers' second baseman charged toward John halfway between the plate and first base after an exchange of words.

"Anyone who thinks I'm going to throw at them on a 3-2 pitch leading 1-0 in this ball park must be stupid," said John later, emphasizing Tiger Stadium's reputation as haven for home run hitters.

McAuliffe, who is 5-foot-11, slammed into the 6-foot-3 pitcher with his body as players from both dugouts ran onto the field. McAuliffe and John grappled briefly on the ground, but the fight was quickly broken up and there were no additional incidents.

"His knee jammed into my shoulder. I had pain shooting from my shoulder to my neck," John said.

"He threw three pitches close to my head. The White Sox have been throwing at us for two years. I don't want to be a guinea pig. A guy can be hurt for life," said McAuliffe, who was not injured in the brief brawl.

John, who has a 10-5 record, will be lost to the ninth-place White Sox for from 10 days to three weeks with torn ligaments in his left shoulder, the Tigers' team physician, Dr. Russell Wright, estimated.

Detroit had scored in the first on singles by McAuliffe, Kaline and Horton. The White Sox took the lead in the fourth on a two-run homer by Tommy Davis.

The Tigers' scored the game's final run in the seventh on a single by pitcher Mickey Lolich, 12-7, a passed ball and a single by Mickey Stanley.

Mantle struck his milestone homer as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. It was one of only three hits yielded by Jim Merritt. The Twins got all the runs they needed off Fritz Peterson in the first on Cesar Tovar's double, a run-scoring single by Rich Reese, a sacrifice and Bob Allison's single.

★ ★ ★ Indians Win 3-1 ★ ★ ★

"The one I really want," said Mantle, "is homer No. 535." He added that he didn't think he could ever reach 580 homers, the current total of San Francisco's Willie Mays, who is second on the career list. The late Babe Ruth leads with 714.

Stan Williams and Vicente Romo combined for a three-hitter for the Indians. A throwing error by third baseman Joe Foy enabled two Cleveland runs to score in the third inning and another came home on Jose Cardenal's single. Jerry Adair accounted for the only Boston run with an eighth-inning homer.

Green's homer, his third of the season, broke up a pitching duel between Oakland's Jim Hunter, 10-11, and the Angels' Dennis Bennett, 0-1.

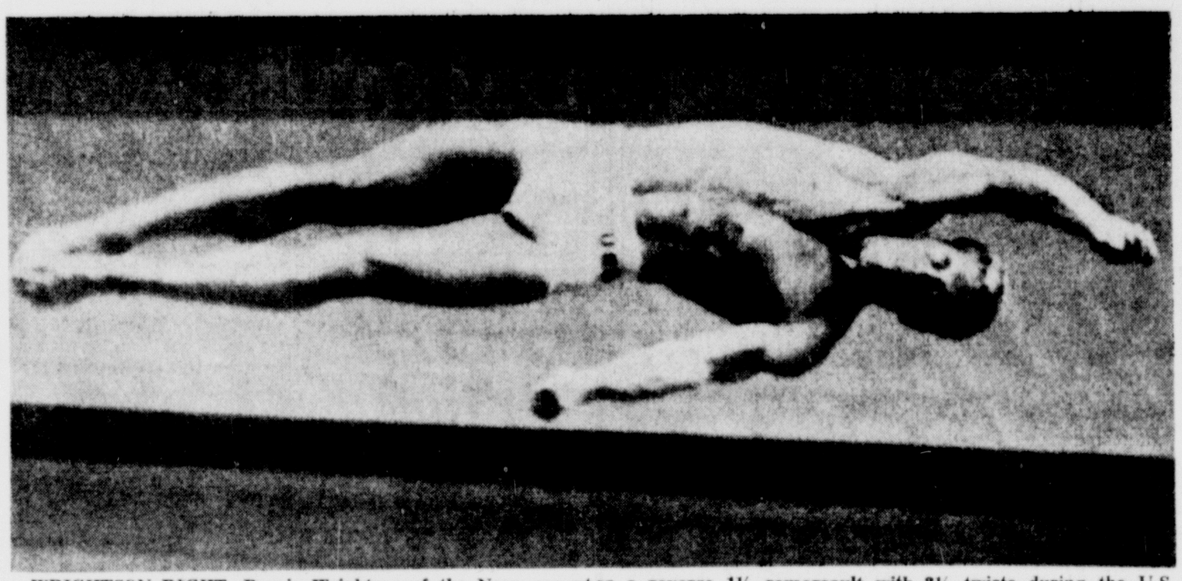

California grabbed a 1-0 lead in the sixth when Vic Davilillo singled in Jim Fregosi, who had singled with two out and moved to second on shortstop Bert Campaneris' throwing error.

But Oakland came back in the next inning when Green doubled, advanced to third on a sacrifice by Hunter and scored on a squeeze bunt by Campaneris.

Richie Allen In Brawl; Raps 2 Against Cardinals

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Controversial Rich Allen says he would like to be traded—but he sure isn't behaving like a man who is unhappy with his present job.

For the fifth time this season, the feisty outfielder slammed two homers in one game, powering Philadelphia past St. Louis' National League leaders 7-3 Thursday night.

Rich made his statement about a possible trip to the trading block after drawing fire from Phils' owner Bob Carpenter following an alleged barroom brawl.

Allen, who has been charged with assault and battery, said he thought the "best thing for me to do is to get out of town." Carpnter said that until Allen "grows up" he is likely to become involved in more incidents, adding that he would prefer to have Allen doing his growing up in a Phils' uniform, but "anybody's dealable."

In the only other National League games, Cincinnati came from behind to edge Pittsburgh 7-5 and Dick Dietz singled in a pair of runs with two out in the ninth to give San Francisco a 3-1 victory over Los Angeles.

Allen, whose feud with Gene Mauch earlier this season was blamed for Mauch's ouster as Philadelphia manager, smacked his first homer in the third, a solo blast, in helping his team to a 4-2 lead. He followed with his 27th of the season in the eighth after Roberto Pena singled.

St. Louis grabbed an early 2-1 lead off winner Chris Short, 13-11, but the Phils retaliated with two runs in the second.

He went the distance, scattering 10 hits. "The thing that really helped me was my control," said Short. "I made only three or four pitches where I didn't want them."

Sutton retired the first 13 batters he faced before issuing a fifth-inning walk to Jim Hart, who scored on singles by Dietz and Jesus Alou.

Tony Perez tripled in two runs and then scored himself on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly to spark Cincinnati's come-from-behind rally in the seventh.

The Pirates had taken a 2-0 lead in the first and increased it to 4-0 in the second on a two-run double by Matty Alou.

Pete Rose's two-run double highlighted a four-run Reds' outburst in the bottom of the second, but Pittsburgh regained the lead in the sixth on Fred Patek's RBI single.

Wysong Takes Lead In Philadelphia Golf

PHILADELHIA (AP) — After listening to Dudley Wysong list his troubles since he turned professional five years ago, the question appeared to be not would he hold his first-round lead in the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic but would he finish.

Wysong's history is loaded with major ailments that have kept him from realizing his full potential on the tour. He's suffered a whiplash injury, at one time was in traction with a bad back and also damaged the ulnar nerve in his rgiht hand.

If it wasn't for his seven-under-par 65 Thursday in the opening round of the 72-hole Philadelphia tournament, you might be tempted to take up a collection to help pay Wysong's medical insurance.

Talking about his hand injury, he said, "I couldn't even lift a glass of water."

The one thing he could lift in Thursday's round was a putter. Wysong splattered his wood and iron shots all over the tight, 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course. But once he reached the greens, it was all over except for picking the ball out of the cup.

Wysong had a round of seven birdies, rolling in putts of four, two, 12, four, 11, eight and 25 feet. Several long putts saved pars for the 29-year-old native of McKinney, Tex. All he could say in explaining how an average putter turned tigerish on the green was, "I had the feel and when you feel you're going to make a putt, nine times out of 10 you do."

Wysong led 44-year-old Al Balding of California and 20-year-old Bobby Cole of South Africa by two strokes as the field of 156 started the day's second round today.

Balding, who has been recovering from a shoulder operation, shot 33-34—67 while Cole, 1967 British Amateur champion who joined the tour last year, scored a 34-33—67.

Another stroke back at 68 was a group headed by Billy Casper, the tour's top money-winner. Casper shot 33-35—68 and was one of 57 to shatter par on the usually tough Whitemarsh layout.

Deadlocked with Casper were Bobby Nichols, 33-35; Billy Maxwell, 34-34; Gay Brewer, 34-34; rookie Jerry Abbott, 35-33; 53-year-old Jim Ferrier, 35-33; Charlie Sifford, 35-33, and Bobby Stanton, 37-31.

Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion, fired a 33-36—69 and was one of nine at three-under-par. This group included England's Tony Jacklin, Dave Stockton, rookie star Bob Lunn and Bob Murphy, the first year hotshot who came within a stroke of tying last week's Westchester Classic.

Among the other big names, defending champion Dan Sikes had a 34-37—71, PGA king Julius tying last week's Westchester had a 39-35—74, Jack Nicklaus, 37-36—73, Tom Weiskopf, No. 3 money-winner, 38-35—73, and George Archer, 38-36—74.

U.S. May Boycott Olympic Games

Associated Press Sports Writer

Mexican hosts to the politically harassed 1968 Summer Olympic Games, first threatened by a Russian pullout over the South African situation, faced more rumblings today—talk of a possible United States boycott over the Czechoslovakian invasion.

A Baltimore television announcer said the U.S. Olympic Committee would meet Saturday night in Long Beach, Calif., after the diving trials to discuss the possibility of such a boycott.

Everett Barnes, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said Thursday night "there might be debate" soon about the possibility of an American boycott of the Olympics.

Barnes said, however, the subject definitely won't be discussed at Saturday night's routine meeting of coaches and athletes, even though there has been talk of such a boycott.

Although it is not on the agenda of a Sept. 7-8 meeting of his committee in Chicago, Barnes said a boycott might be discussed at that time.

John Kennelly, sports director of WJZ-TV in Baltimore, said Thurday night Barnes told him of the Saturday meeting in a telephone conversation from Los Angeles.

The whole question arose — only 50 days before the Games begin Oct. 12—after Russian troops occupied Czechoslovakia this week, prompting cries of protest throughout the world.

Russia, remember, joined a bloc of African nations last spring in a threatened pullout over any presence by South Africa, with its segregationist apartheid policy, at the Games. That problem eventually dissolved when South Africa was banned from the Games.

But despite the denunciation of the Russian action against Czechoslovakia there seems little possibility they would be ousted from Mexico.

"I don't know of any regulation that would bar Russia from the Olympics because of the invasion," said Avery Brudnage, president of the International Olympic Committee, in Cicago. "I anticipate no developments along that line. At least, I hope there are none."

Brundage, as in the South African affair, has taken the position that the Olympics are outside of politics.

The Czech occupation already has caused some pre-Olympic disruption. Sweden cut off all sports relations Thursday with the five powers—Russia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Poland and East Germany—which have troops in Czechoslovakia.

Sweden, Norway and Denmark have canceled their participation in some coming sports competition with Russia and East Germany.

Five Tonight

Pro Football Schedules 13 Games This Weekend

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preseason professional football—those no-count games that lead to do-count injuries, roster cuts and the loss of jobs by veterans to newcomers—launches another busy weekend tonight.

Of the five games, two are interleague skirmishes. They sent the New York Jets of the American Football League against the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League at Birmingham, Ala., and the NFL San Francisco 49ers against the AFL Broncos at Denver.

Boston plays Miami at Jacksonville, Fla., and Buffalo meets Houston at Tulsa, Okla., in AFL action while Baltimore is a Detroit in an NFL contest.

The five contests are part of a 13-game weekend schedule, highlighted by Saturday night's NFL Green Bay at Dallas game, which will be nationally televised.

The Jets said Thursday that quarterback Joe Namath is expected to play against the Falcons. The former Alabama star, troubled by a sore left knee, missed the first two exhibition games, which the Jets split.

Injuries will keep tight end Pete Lammons, flanker Don Maynard and center John Schmitt out of the Jets' line-up.

Ron VanderKelen, No. 2 quarterback behind Randy Johnson, is expected to start for the Falcons, who have lost their first two games.

In the other interleague game—the AFL leads the NFL 7-4—San Francisco will be looking for its first victory under new coach Dick Nolan. The 49ers lost their first three games. John Brodie is slated to start at quarterback.

End Sonny Randle and tackle Len Rohde are expected to return to action for Denver, 1-1, after recovering from injuries.

Unbeaten Houston, which won three games in the Astrodome, will try to keep its streak intact with a victory over Buffalo outdoors at Tulsa. Quarterback Pete Beathard once again will be at the controls for the Oilers.

Veteran quarterback Jack Kemp suffered a charley horse in Buffalo's victory over Cincinnati and is listed as a doubtful starter for the Bills, 2-0-1. Dan Darragh is Kemp's backup man.

Lady Potters Plan Picnic For Monday

The Lady Potters Booster Club will hold its annual picnic at 6 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Mary Musuraca, 2601 St. Clair Ave.

All women interested in joining the club may attend. The club is especially anxious to meet the mothers of the new players on the East Liverpool High football team, but any woman, whether she has a son playing football or not, is welcome to join the club.

E. Liverpool Downs Toot In Softball

LISBON — East Liverpool Merchants, trailing 6-0 at one point, rallied to beat Toot Trucking 12-7 at Pine Tree Inn Field last night and advance to the finals of the County Softball League Tournament.

Wellsville Appliance beat Salem Security Service and will meet Toot tonight in the loser's bracket final. East Liverpool will play the winner at 5:45 Saturday, with a second game to be played if East Liverpool loses the first contest.

Joe Anderson continued his hot hitting for East Liverpool, poling two homers and adding two singles. Bob Swogger also homered for East Liverpool and Ron Sabo homered for Toot. Bill Talbot was the winning pitcher and Jerry Bryson took the loss.

Purchase Shortstop

Pickin Group Wins Ladies Am-Am Event

The foursome of Mrs. William Pickin, Mrs. R. J. Kinsey, Mrs. Okey Ludwig and Mrs. H. F. Banfield won the ladies amateur-amateur, best ball of four, 70 per cent of handicap at the East Liverpool Country Club Wednesday with a 32-36-68.

Tied for second with 69s were the foursomes of Mrs. W. R. Kelly, and J. M. Koos, Mrs. D. E Beatty and Mrs. R. Heddleston and Mrs. Norm Nicely, Mrs. C. A Gerace, Mrs. W. J. Hocking and Mrs. Harold Putt.

The men's amateur - amateur at the club will be played tomorrow with a shot-gun start at 1 p.m It will be best ball of four, half handicap, and there will also be play with best ball of four, no handicap, longest drive on number nine and closest to the pin on numbers 4 and 6. Pairings will be available at the club.

The climate of Great Britain is milder than that of the United States, although it is in a higher latitude, because of the influence of the Gulf Stream.

Colt League Needs New Officers

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Potters Savings and Loan annex, the Tri-State Colt League, which includes both Pony and Colt organizations, will hold a reorganizational meeting to which the public is cordially invited.

Since currently presiding officers of the league have served for several years and the majority intend to resign from further active participation in league affairs, the attendance of the parents of present or future Colt or Pony players, managers, or any other interested sports enthusiast is requested. Unless enough interested people attend and are willing to participate in the future operation of the leagues, they will no longer be able to operate.

Ohio Nine Ousted

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Cincinnati Bentley was eliminated from the American Legion Baseball regional tournament Thursday night by Owensboro, Ky., 6 - 2. It was the second loss for the Cincinnati team in the double-elimination region 5 play. Owensboro has suffered one defeat.

Rams Depending On Youngsters

Don Charlton, in his first year as head coach last year, posted a 4-5 record at South Side Beaver, the best in the history of the school.

But 13 lettermen who helped fashion that mark have graduated, and Charlton must depend on young players coming through to match last year's record.

Joe Kuznicki, a graduate of Penn Hills High and West Liberty St., returns as an assistant and Pat Dougherty, a graduate of Beaver Falls and Colorado Western is a new assistant.

Quarterback is the Rams' big problem, Ed Ashcroft, a 5-8, 135 lefthanded sophomore, is called "promising" by Charlton. He is an excellent ballhandler, but his passing needs improvement, so the Rams will rely on running at first. Mark Nelson, a 5-10, 150 junior is in reserve, and senior letterman Ken Dunlevy, a defensive saftty last year, is also working at the position.

There are 11 lettermen returning, six of them starters. Fullback Bob Brinkley, a 5-10, 150 senior, and halfback Bruce Potts, a 5-9, 150 sophomore, return to the backfield. George Skolnekovich, 5-99, 155 sophomore letterman, will be the other starting halfback. Tom Shirley, a 5-8, 135 junior letterman and Dan Dawson, a senior, will also play halfback.

There are no lettermen ends, but some depth. Three sophomores, 5-10, 145 Bruce Walker, 6-2, 170 Dan Basinger, and 5-8, 140 Larry Anderson; and junior Claude Goodman, 6-0, 160, are battling for the post. Lettermen tackles are seniors Rick Ford, 5-11, 185, and Jason Allison, 5-9, 150; and junior Tim McCoy, 6-0, 170. Lettermen guards are seniors Larry Berger, 5-10, 160 and Ed Reed, 5-9, 155. Don Stolkovich, a 5-9, 160 senior out last season with an injury, will be at center. Stan Tate, a 5-9, 150 sophomore is the only reserve at guard and center.

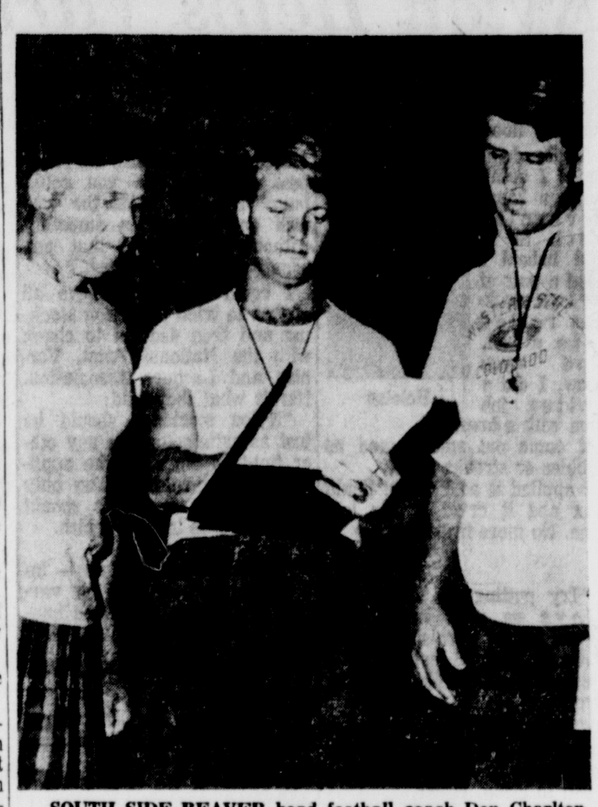

Bruce Dunlevy, a 5-7, 135 senior is a letterman linebacker. In most cases the players will have to go both ways. Brinkley and Berger are co-captains.

Charlton calls Avalon and Avonworth the toughest schools on the schedule, but notes that Beaver County rivals Western Beaver and Center Twp. are always rough.

The schedule: (all games 2:30 p.m. unless otherwise indicated)

Sept. 7—at Donora, 8 p.m.
Sept. 14—Avalon*
Sept. 21—at Edgewood, 10:30 a.m.
Sept. 28—Sharpsburg*
Oct. 5—At Millvale*
Oct. 12—at Oakdale Boys Home
Oct. 19—Avonworth*
Oct. 26—W. Beaver*
Nov. 1—Center* at Monaca, 8 p.m.
*WPIAL Class B games

Has Good Workout

Croydon Now Favored In W. Virginia Derby

W. V. W. Stable's Croydon, son of the 1958 Kentucky Derby winner Tim Tam, stamped himself the solid choice for tonight's West Virginia Derby at Waterford Park when he turned in a sizzling pre - race trial at dawn Thursday.

Early morning railbirds and clockers took a second look at the handsome dark bay three-year-old after they noted that Noble had never once asked his charge for any real speed. The entire drill found Noble with two handfuls of running horse under him, and the veteran reinsman was doing his best to hold the frisky colt to a halfway moderate clip.

The Derby, West Virginia's oldest stakes race, will be offering its richest running ever. The eventual winner will take down a prize of slightly more than $10,000.

Others named for the eighth renewal of the classic were Francis C. Robinson's Son I. Rob, Mrs. Walter R. Kelly's Chargertown, William Mack and Robert F. Snyder's Nobody But Nobody, C. B. Fischbach's Frosty Hal and Marion H. Van Berg's Entry of Assumption and Terrasaga.

The Van Berg Entry, Assumption and Terrasaga, figures to have something to say about the final outcome too. Van Berg is counting on Terrasaga, a horse who has proven that he can run a distance.

Ohio St. Challenger For Big 10 Grid Title

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, an optimist by nature, really may have something to crow about as he prepares to embark on his 18th season as Ohio State football coach.

The dean of Big Ten coaches could hardly contain himself as he previewed his 1968 Buckeye edition Wednesday night at a press dinner.

"We've got more depth and speed and good football players than we've had for a long time," Hayes noted.

"We're green in spots and we will make some mistakes but one mistake will not be a lack of enthusiasm."

Does that mean that Ohio State can expect to capture its first conference championship since 1961 and make its first Rose Bowl trip in 11 years?

"The Big Ten race is going to be a dandy and we always expect to be in it. But Purdue should win without any question. The Boilermakers have more experience and fine football players than any other team in the conference."

The Purdue buildup may be plain fact but may also be professor Hayes' strategy in building the Boilermakers up for a letdown.

The two schools battle here Oct. 12, the Bucks' third game of the season, and the winner is likely to make the journey to California.

Kern, who had a partially slipped disc that required surgery last June, is expected to be ready for the Sept. 28 opener against Southern Methodist.

"He has exceptional ability . . . a good runner and passer," Hayes said. But he cautioned not to write off Bill Long, the Bucks' top signal-caller the last two years.

Dayton's Leophus Hayden, "a big fellow with exceptional speed," is Brungard's relief. The right halfback berth likely will go to promising rookie John Brockington, a refugee from Brooklyn, N. Y. Larry Zelina of Cleveland, another sparkling soph who will be called upon to do the place-kicking, also will see action at right half.

The defensive line is long on experience, particularly at end where Nick Roman and Dave Whitfield have control. Juniors Brad Nielson and Paul Schmidlin appear to have nailed down the tackle berths.

Mount Vernon's Jim Stillwagon is battling veteran Vic Stottleyer for the middle guard spot and seniors Dirk Worden and Mark Stier have the linebacker roles locked up.

Semi-Finals In Golf Held At BC Par 3

The championships of the various flights in the Beaver Creek Par 3 Ladies Golf League will be played off by Wednesday.

In action Wednesday night, Mary Jane Stoffel edged Shirley Smith 29-30 for the right to meet unbeaten June McVay in the A Flight.

In the B Flight, Evelyn Smith shot 29 to beat Helen Boley and will meet unbeaten Phyllis Stewart. In the C Flight Gladys Moore shot 30 to beat Joann Soldano and will meet unbeaten Janet Beal.

Sara Purton took low net and gross honors for the evening with a 33-25 and aso had the longest drive on number four. Lois Moore had the longest putt on number two.

The league season will end with a field day next week.

1958 W. Va. Derby Richest So Far

The richest previous running of the West Virginia Derby came about in 1958 when Sea Hymn earned $9,750. This year's Derby winner will pick up an even larger paycheck. The eighth running of the Derby will be held at Waterford Park Friday night, Aug. 23.

Oldest state house in the United States is the Maryland State House at Annapolis, built in 1772.

Carol Mann Favorite In Golf Series

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Carol Mann, enjoying her greatest year on the professional circuit, shoots for the $10,000 jackpot and added prestige this weekend in the third annual Ladies World Series of Golf.

Miss Mann, a 6-foot-3 mod swinger with a bubbling personality, came close to capturing the two-day, 36-hole event last year but lost on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to Miss Whitworth.

Both finished behind Miss Wright when the veteran women's pro won the first World Series in 1966.

This terrific trio may get some spirited competition from Sandra Haynie, who has played in the two previous series, and first-time entries Susie Maxwell Berning and Sandra Post.

Mrs. Berning earned a spot in the six-woman field by winning the U.S. Open. Miss Post, a cute Canadian, got her invitation by copping the LPGA.

Miss Whitworth qualified as defending champion; Miss Mann as the women's leading money-winner and Miss Haynie and Miss Wright on the basis of their third and fourth place standings on the money list.

The six pros, shooting for the $35,000 in prize money, tested the city-operated Snyder Park course today where last year's event was held before starting 18-hole rounds Saturday and Sunday.

OKs Celtics Sale

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Basketball Association Thursday formally approved the $4 million sale of the Boston Celtics to P. Ballantine & Sons of New Jersey.

U.S. Netters Dominating Amateur Play

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — An all-United States men's singles final appeared a sure bet today in America's bid to regain the national amateur tennis championship after 12 years of frustration.

U.S. Davis Cup stars Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner packed the biggest wallops, but unseeded Bob Lutz of Los Angeles and Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., refused to be counted out entering the eighth day of the 88th national championships at Longwood.

Ashe, an Army lieutenant top-seeded on the basis of his brilliant Davis Cup play this year, was favored to defeat Alan Stone, 22, Australia's fifth-ranked player, in a quarter-final match today.

A victory by Ashe would result in an all-American semifinal round, sending him against McManus. Lutz was set to test the second-seeded Graebner in a semifinal about the same time as the Ashe-Stone match.

There has not been an all-U.S. final since Tony Trabert defeated Vic Seixas in 1953. Trabert repeated as champion two years later, but since Australia has captured the title 10 times and Mexico and Spain once each.

Ashe, Graebner and McManus posted straight set victories in advancing Thursday and Lutz, a Southern California student who will be 21 next Thursday, pulled his second major upset with 24 hours.

Lutz, noted more as a doubles player, followed his upset of American star Cliff Richey by ousting South Africa's Bob Hewitt, the top-seeded foreign player, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.

In women's singles, Maria Bueno, 28, of Brazil, bidding for a fifth U.S. title, marked time after moving into the final round with a 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 victory over England's Virginia Wade.

Hookstown Downs Boyce, Gains Finals

Hookstown Free Methodist downed Boyce Methodist 7-1 at Dixonville last night to move into the finals of the Church Slow-pitch softball tournament.

Hookstown takes on unbeaten Calvary Methodist at 6 tonight at Dixonville in the finals. If Hookstown wins the game a second game will follow.

Wes McLaughlin was the winning pitcher last night and Don Perkins took the loss. Al Dawson homered for the lone run for Boyce and Jim Todd had a double and single to lead Hookstown.

11 Derby Nominees Bred In Kentucky

Of the 21 three-year-olds nominated for Friday's eighth running of the West Virginia Derby at Waterford Park, eleven were bred in Kentucky. Arkansas is second with three nominees, while Florida stands third with a pair. States represented by one are Ohio, Illinois, Virginia, Indiana and Oklahoma.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Nylon Helps Varnish Job

DEAR HELOISE: Did I ever discover an easy way to varnish my floors!

Heloise

While doing my bedroom I found I didn't have a brush to varnish with. So lo and behold I used a pair of nylon stockings rolled into a ball. And you know, I did a better job than with a brush!

It came out smooth and no bubbles or streaks at all.

I applied it as I would liquid wax and it dried in far less time. No more brush for me . . .

M.P.

"Try putting an old rubber glove on your hand, then spread your varnish with a cloth or sponge instead of a brush. It's almost like polishing furniture.

"The varnish goes on nice and thin, and you never get those loose bristles. There's no brush to clean, either.

A THIRD READER, Sandy Mercer, told us to use the cheapest powder puffs you could buy. "The puff holds the varnish and spreads it smoothly without the streaks that one usually gets with a brush."

I could scarcely believe all of this so tried the nylon stocking and then decided to check with the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Here's what they said:

"Nylon stockings should be just as satisfactory as any other lint-free cloth for the application of varnishes. The only point is that the cloth should not leave bits in the varnish.

"HOWEVER, any cloth — including nylon — used for varnish application should be handled carefully after use. Most varnishes contain drying oils that generate heat when they dry. If the varnish is spread out in a thin film, the heat is released as fast as it is generated, and nothing happens.

However, if the cloth is wadded up so that the heat cannot escape, the temperature will rise and can easily get to the point where the varnish and cloth will ignite. This phenomenon is known as 'SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION,' and has caused a number of serious fires.

"After use, the best thing to do with the cloth is to burn it. The next best approach is to immerse it in water. A third safe approach is to spread the cloth out on a line where the heat can dissipate.

"UNDER NO CONDITIONS should the cloth be wadded up and placed in the trash, in a corner, or in the laundry."

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For your readers who are campers, I have found that serving soup for breakfast on a chilly morning hits the spot.

Also I make my macaroni in a coffee pot with a "screened" spout. Simply pour water out the spout when the macaroni is done.

MRS. VERNON HANSON.

DEAR HELOISE: Ever tried pouring salt in a cloth bag (it used to come in bags) and using it for a stiff pillow? The salt slides around and when you wiggle your neck, it fits just about any place!

QUIRK.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever smashed a coffee carafe and wondered what to do with the holder it sat in?

I turned ours into a hanging flower pot holder by attaching four strands of wire to it.

I put a small plastic cup in the candle-warming section to catch the water as it drains out and covered the flower pot and cup with foil.

MRS. A. GOMMERMAN.

DEAR HELOISE: To end the squeaking of your shower curtain rings as they slide across the pole, apply a thin coating of baby oil to the pole.

Works great.

Judge Fines, Jails Drivers

A city man and a Port Clinton trucker charged with driving while intoxicated were fined and jailed Thursday by County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine.

Wirt McComas, 48, of 1413 Allen Ave. was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to four days in jail and also was fined $5 and costs for public intoxication.

Robert T. Barton, 30, of Port Clinton was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail on a similar charge.

Leslie Jones, 21, of Wellsville RD 1 was fined $100 and costs for driving with an invalid temporary permit and $100 and costs for driving with an invalid license plate.

George May, 46, of Negley RD 1 was fined $15 and costs for a traffic signal violation and Michael Schuck of 809 Bradshaw Ave. was fined $25 and costs and Sue Marie Orr of Blakely St. was fined $15 and costs, both for speeding.

Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Thursday that Marine Lance Cpl. Michael R Witt of Cincinnati, Ohio, has been killed in recent fighting in Vietnam.

School Teachers May Delay Start In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Many of Youngstown's teachers may stay away from school the first day and hold seminars instead.

Roy Fisher, president of the Youngstown Education Association, said the seminars will start Sept. 3 and probably extend to Sept. 4 and 5. The first day of school is Sept. 4.

Fisher said classes must not open until quality education is assured. He said classrooms are overcrowded throughout the system.

The association also plans to demonstrate at various public schools.

About 250 members of the association have voted to hold indefinite seminars, he said.

Teachers also want more money—a $6,600 starting salary and hospitalization insurance. Present salary for beginners is $5,800.

The Youngstown Board of Education has said no funds are available for salary increases because five consecutive school levies were defeated. A 12-mill levy will be submitted Nov. 5.

Patrol Boat Named For City Of Defiance

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — After an absence of 23 years, there will again be a warship named for the city of Defiance.

The USS Defiance, a 165-foot patrol gunboat, will be commissioned Saturday at Sturgeon Bay, Wis. The first USS Defiance, an attack transport, was decommissioned in 1919. The second Defiance, a minesweeper, ended active duty in 1945.

Steelworkers Defy Order, Honor Pickets

Joseph Nixon, a trucker at the plant and a member of the Teamsters, struck the firm himself Monday to protest the possible loss of his job.

ANN LANDERS

'Family Affair' Reported

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Recently a woman who was unable to get pregnant wrote to ask if you thought it would be wrong if her husband's brother substituted for him because he had fathered four children in six years and surely could help her out.

You told her it would not be right to borrow her brother-in-law for stud purposes and that she should contact some adoption agencies.

I thought you might like to know how a similar case actually turned out. You might revise your advice.

My husband and I wanted a child very badly. We had been married eight years and I could not get pregnant. We were both examined and tested. The tests indicated that we were both okay physically. The doctors concluded that since there was no organic reason for my inability to conceive, it must be emotional.

To take our minds off the problem we went to visit my sister in California who was pregnant with her fifth child. Sis and her husband, Ed, kidded us about not really wanting a family — not realizing we were both sensitive about it.

The kidding went too far and my sister accused me of taking the pill secretly. We ended up in a fierce argument.

The next morning Sis came over and apologized. She said she and her husband had talked it over and decided if I really wanted a child Ed would help me out. I accepted their offer.

After a three-week stay we returned to the East. I learned shortly after that that I was pregnant. I do not know if Ed is the father or if the child belongs to my husband. Furthermore, I don't care.

Now, four years later, we have three children and are a very happy family. When I saw my sis and Ed last year, not a word was said. The secret is among the three of us and it will remain that way. Sign me — GLAD I DID.

Dear Glad: And people keep asking me if I make up letters. Why would I have to make up letters when I get fantastic mail like this?

Wash-Day Blues

Dear Ann: Please don't think I'm a crabby old woman. I'm a newly married girl with a problem that is driving me nuts.

We have a small but lovely apartment and we adore it. There is a back porch which runs the length of four apartments. We're in the middle. Our dinette windows face the back porch.

The neighbors who lives on the end has strung a laundry line the full length of the porch. She must wash every day because those lines are never without clothes on them. Not only is it embarrassing when we have company but the clothes throw grotesque shadows on our walls and ceiling and it scares me to death when I'm alone.

This neighbor has a right to string the line, as we were told when we moved in that the porch belonged to all of us. Is this worth talking to the landlord about? I hate to start trouble— QUANDARY OVER LAUNDRY.

Dear Quandary: Ask the landlord if he will varnish a Venetian blind for the dinette windows. If he says no, buy one yourself. It will be well worth the investment.

Program Taking Form For Lisbon's Festival

LISBON — Women will make applebutter and a pony will operate a treadmill cider press during the Johnny Appleseed Festival here Sept. 19-21.

The event will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday and continue until midnight Saturday.

Officials of the Lisbon Festival Association say there will be activities to interest all age groups. They expect thousands and intend to make "Johnny Appleseed" an annual celebration.

Forty organizations are participating. Thirteen will operate food stands and the VFW Auxiliary will serve meals.

A parade and band concert will be featured Thursday night. A pet parade, barbershop quartet and the Senior Citizens band are scheduled Friday night. The Saturday night "special" will be a home talent show by youth groups.

The entire downtown area will be used for festival activities. A flea market, tours of historical places, contests, demonstrations exhibits, sidewalk sales, amusement rides and other entertainment are planned Friday and Saturday.

Apple growers from Columbiana and Mahoning counties — leading apple - producing area in Ohio — will have extensive displays. The apples will be sold at auction Saturday night.

Highway Phone Plan Funds Are Released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board released $68,000 Thursday to the Department of Highways for a two-year study of plans to install an emergency roadside communications system on a demonstration basis.

The department plans to set up emergency telephones on a 30-mile stretch of limited access highway for use by motorists in trouble.

Fight May Freeze Maddox Out

Convention Fight Looms Over Georgia Delegates

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic National Convention officials forced a settlment today on two warring Georgia delegations in a racial-political fight that may freeze Gov. Lester Maddox, a presidential candidate, out of the convention.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Credentials Committee chairman, said Georgia's convention votes will be split between the rival delegations and that it would be "a miracle" if Maddox remains a delegate.

Hughes' committee, which also required that the divided delegation pledge itself to the party's presidential nominee, holds veto power over the final make-up of the Georgia slate.

But the dispute may boil over into a bitter convention floor fight which party officials fear could rent their ranks and cost the Democrats either many Negro votes or the support of white Southerners in November.

Hughes said the decision was made on evidence that Negroes were not able to participate fully in Georgia party affairs, and that the state's national convention delegates were named by only two men, Maddox and state party chairman James Gray.

"We are not going to continue to have a party that systematically excludes Negroes, Mexican-Americans or other minority groups."

But he said there was also evidence that the regular Maddox delegation was at least partly representative of Democrats in the state.

The struggle pitted Maddox, who once offered white customers ax handles to keep Negroes from his restaurant, against Negro legislator Julian Bond, who won his seat in the Georgia House only after a Supreme Court ruling.

Hughes declined to say whether he thought Bond would be named on the new Georgia delegation to be composed of 21 members from each of the contesting slates plus the state's present committeeman and committeewoman.

Both sides had adamantly insisted on an all-or-nothing victory and Hughes said "There might be two dissenting reports" which would bring the battle to the floor when the national convention opens next week.

"We are pleased," said Bond. Lamzar Sizemore, attorney for the Maddox delegation, declined comment.

In addition to the emotional racial issue, the case also involved the political struggle between the two chief contenders for the presidential nomination, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

McCarthy forces support Bond's challenging group, while Humphrey maintained a hands-off attitude publicly. Most of the Bond challengers are for McCarthy for the presidential nomination.

Joseph L. Rauh, chief credentials strategist for McCarthy, had threatened a floor fight but said after the forced settlement that plans were now uncertain.

Rep. Ben Brown, Negro Georgia legislator on Bond's slate, said he did not believe the Maddox camp would accept the settlement dictated by Hughes' committee.

"If they will work together, they will build a great new Democratic party in Georgia," Hughes said.

He said neither side agreed immediately to the decision, which he described as a "judgement" by the Credentials Committee and not a compromise.

The governor said the ruling, by 59-30 vote, was made in an attempt to achieve "justice based on principle without leaving the seats vacant for Georgia."

The ruling was the most dramatic in the party's biggest convention seating hassle in history, involving day and night hearings and closed meetings in sweltering hotel rooms where air conditioning seldom worked.

Earlier, the committee voted to kick out Mississippi's regular delegation in favor of a biracial challenging group on grounds Negroes were not fairly represented.

The regular Mississippi delegation had one Negro and Georgia's had three Negroes, while the challenging slates were almost evenly divided racially.

A challenging slate of Texans headed by Maury Maverick Jr. had charged the state's regular delegation headed by Gov. John Connally didn't give enough representation to Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Hughes, in announcing rejection of the challenge, said there wasn't sufficient reason to bar the Texas regulars.

He said evidence showed Texas delegates were chosen in a manner to give "grassroots" representation to hundreds of thousands of Democrats in the state.

"There was nothing like that in Georgia," Hughes said, where only two men, the party chairman and the governor, select the convention delegates.

The challengers, backed by McCarthy forces, had sought 50 of the 104 Texas delegate votes.

The Credentials Committee also threw out an Alabama challenge against about 300 McCarthy delegates from all over the country. The challenge had demanded the McCarthy delegates take an oath to support the party's ticket.

Also thrown out were challenges involving a relative handful of delegates from Wisconsin, Tennessee and Louisiana.

Secret Paper Circulated

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and other top U.S. officials were alerted to the probability of a Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia about three weeks before Russian troops crossed Czech frontiers, administration officials said today.

A secret paper was given to the President and circulated among some 30 high officials early in August saying such a Soviet-led move was probable, the administration sources said.

They also declared that as late as Tuesday, the day of the invasion, Johnson and other senior officials were notified at their weekly strategy luncheon by intelligence experts that Soviet military intervention was probable.

This was based on the experts' knowledge that the Soviet leadership itself also was meeting Tuesday on the Czech situation.

The claims of forewarning clashed with a previous statement by a high State Department official that "we were surprised" by the invasion.

They also ran counter to information from Pentagon sources that, while an invasion was foreseen as a possibility, there was no intelligence forecast that it was likely to happen.

The Pentagon sources also said the U.S. government was surprised.

Other administration officials said that Charles Bohlen, a leading expert on Russia, and other advisers told Johnson it should be assumed there would be some sort of military move against the Czechs.

These sources said that at the Tuesday lunch, only hours before the invasion, there was a vigorous discussion among Johnson, Seretary of State Dean Rusk, Seretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and others about the possibility of a Russian move.

"They discussed not only the possibility but even the probability, there might be an invasion," an official said. "The concensus was there might be a move against the Czechs."

It was felt, the officials said, by those at the White House luncheon that Russia probably would have to throttle the liberal Czech regime.

There is no disagreement that the first word the U.S. government received about the invasion came from Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in a face-to-face meeting with Johnson Tuesday night about three hours after the incursions started.

There also is no dispute that the first information received through official U.S. information gathering channels came about an hour after the start of the Johnson-Dobryning meeting when monitoring stations intercepted a Radio Prague broadcast.

Administration officials, obviously anxious to shield U.S. intelligence from charges of failure, said the intelligence men were "pretty sharp in calling the shots." They contended that the Soviet leadership did not decide itself until the day of the Moscow meeting, whether it would send Russian and satellite troops into Czechoslovakia to suppress the liberalization movement.

The administration people acknowledged this conclusion was based on deduction rather than any direct information from agents or other sources.

The administration officials said, that on Aug. 12, intelligence began "to put out the flags that things were heating up again."

Oregon Postal Clerk Receives Marine's Heart

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Surgeons at Stanford University Hospital transplanted the heart of a Marine into the chest of a retired Oregon postal clerk today

The donor, Cpl. Larry B. Smith, 20, of Stockton, Calif., suffered what physicians termed irreversible brain damage in an automobile accident Aug. 14 near Stockton.

The recipient, Leonard Drake, 43, of Eugene, Ore., has suffered from a heart ailment for 12 years.

At the time of the accident, Smith was on leave from Camp Pendleton, Calif., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith. He was to leave for Vietnam. His parents said Larry, youngest of their 12 children, had volunteered three times for combat.

Since his arrival at Stanford Hospital in June, Drake had been kept under close medical care awaiting a donor. Earlier, he had been treated at the University of Oregon Medical School.

Because of his heart illness, Drake had retired from his postal job and for the past year and a half had worked as a bailiff for the Lane County District Court in Eugene.

Drake and his wife have two children, Vicki, 11, and Jimmy, 10.

3 Cars Involved In Newell Crash

Damage was estimated at $850 in a three-car collision in Newell Thursday.

The chain-reaction type mishap occurred on 1st St. at 2:42 p.m.

Robert Osborn, 52, of Crestvue Pl., East Liverpool, told Hancock County deputies he failed to stop in time in heavy traffic and ran into the rear of a car driven by William Savina, 20, of 209 W. 3rd St., East Liverpool forcing his auto into one driven by Lawrence Wright, 37, of 2nd St., Chester.

Damage to Savina's car was estimated at $400, to Wright's $250 and to Osborn's $200. Wright was X-rayed at City Hospital following the mishap. There were no citations.

Infants in the mid-20th century are healthier and have a better chance of survival than at any time in history. The infant mortality rate in the United States in 1900 was about 150 per 1,000 live births; the rate today is about 25 per 1,000 live births.

Junior Editors Quiz on FEDERAL LAWS

QUESTION: How are federal laws made in Congress?

* * *

ANSWER: First come bills, which are proposals for laws. Bills are introduced in Congress by senators or representatives in their own wings of the Capitol. These legislators introduce the bills, which may have been framed by committees or recommended by the President. Or they may have come from public opinion in the legislator's own area, as expressed by the home folks. We follow a bill presented in the House (1). After being printed, it is referred to a committee (2). The committee may approve, change it or table it — which means delay action. If urgent, a special committee can rush it back to the House ahead of other bills. It is then considered by the House and if passed, sent to the Senate (4) where it goes through a similar process (5), (6), (7). If approved by the Senate, it has then been approved by the entire Congress and is sent to the President (8). If he signs it, it becomes the law of the land. If he vetoes it, it is returned to Congress and cannot become law unless passed by both houses of Congress again, this time by a two-thirds majority.

(Frank Verba of Armagh, Pa., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

On this date in 1500, Christopher Columbus, accused of mistreating the natives of Haiti, was arrested there and ordered sent back to Spain in chains.

On this date:

In 1944, Allied troops fighting in France in World War II captured Marseille.

Ten years ago—Shore batteries in Communist China shelled the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Little Quemoy.

One year ago—France said it would step up its cultural and technical aid to the Canadian Province of Quebec.

'Collective Leadership'

Czech Invasion Suggests Kremlin Power Struggle

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Something seems to be wrong with the Soviet Union's "collective leadership."

Against the background of several years of political maneuvering in Moscow, the invasion of Czechoslovakia suggests a struggle at the top of the Kremlin power structure, with generals and marshals playing an active and possibly decisive role.

The Soviet power structure, by its nature, has seemed a built-in barrier to any real detente in the East-West cold war. And now, Soviet press treatment of the Czechoslovak tragedy supports speculation that the marshals and generals have a big say in running the show, a situation which bodes no good for civilian leaders who arouse their hostility.

Since Stalin's death the military has occupied a more and more prominent role in Soviet politics. Politicians contending for power often had to lean on the generals for support, as Nikita S. Khrushchev did when he threw his foes out of the party and as the new group under Leonid I. Brezhnev did when it threw out Khrushchev.

The Soviet party always has been careful to assert publicly and frequently its domination over the military. But in time of crisis the military can hold the balance of power. The civilian with powerful alliances among the generals increases his chance of success.

Clearly, the invasion of Czechoslovakia was a military decision, and almost as clearly, there was a quarrel about it in the Kremlin involving three factions: those who wanted to go slowly and cautiously, those who wanted to move swiftly to crush the Czechoslovak movement, and those on the fence. It appears the balance wielded by the generals carried the day.

Pravda, voice of the Kremlin, complains that "there have been certain attempts to deal a blow at the Warsaw treaty" in Czechoslovakia. It thunders that "no breach in the Warsaw treaty must be allowed."

Then it adds: "Czechoslovak frontiers on the west were actually open from the Czechoslovak side. This created a situation in which saboteurs and spies smuggled by imperialist intelligence services began crossing freely into Czechoslovakia from Western countries."

One man who thinks much about "imperialist intelligence services" is Gen. Sergei M. Shtemenko, author of a recent book praising Stalin. He once was deputy defense minister and in charge of military intelligence. His fortunes fell with Stalin's death and he was demoted several ranks. Suddenly he rose again, and in 1965 showed up as deputy chief of the Soviet general staff.

At the height of the Czechoslovak crisis this month, Shtemenko was named chief of staff of the Warsaw forces. It may have been that his predecessor, Gen. M. I. Kazakov, was fired by the Politburo as a scapegoat for their unpleasant backdown from their demands on the reform-minded Czechoslovak leaders.

Kazakov was known as a hawk who likely would have been pleased to have Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, the pact commander, crush the whole Czechoslovak nuisance at the outset. The debate in the Kremlin may have deterred that sort of action in favor of negotiations. If so, the generals probably waited fretfully for the outcome, with which they could hardly have been pleased.

Faces Cross-Examination

Attorney Testifies Again In Ex-Gov. Barron's Trial

CHARLESTON (AP) — Judson Samuels, a Hollywood, Fla., attorney, was to testify again today — for the fourth straight day — in the conspiracy trial of former Gov. W. W. Barron and four other men.

Samuels was scheduled to be cross examined by Thomas Wadden of the Washington law firm of Edward Bennett Williams, which is representing Elkins attorney Bonn Brown.

BESIDES Barron and Brown the other defendants are former State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers, former Assistant SRC Commissioner Vincent Johnkoski and Clarksburg auto dealer Alfred Schroath.

Former Finance Commissioner Truman Gore also was indicted by a federal grand jury in February in the same case but was excused Wednesday as a defendant in the current proceedings because his attorney is ill.

Samuels was called to the stand Tuesday in the absence of the federal court jury to determine if he could be called as a government witness.

It was ruled that he could, and he testified Wednesday after noon and all day Thursday.

ACCORDING to documents admitted in evidence, Samuels was hired in 1961 by Schroath to help set up American Brokerage Corp. of Boca Raton, Fla., and later Interstate Services and Atlantic Management.

Samuels also kept minutes for the three corporations, later dissolved all three and transferred their assets to a new corporation First Southeastern Capital of Boca Raton.

Schroath and Brown were listed either as the only or as the major shareholders in all three of the original corporations but were listed as having equal holdings at the outset with the other defendants in First Southeastern.

On a number of occasions, Samuels replied to defense attorneys' questions by saying he couldn't remember certain details but that documents entered as evidence, which he had prepared, were accurate and could stand as his answer.

HOWEVER, Stanley Preiser, attorney for Johnkoski and Sawyers, entered a document giving power of attorney for his two clients to Brown.

Preiser also established that a number of waivers of notice of special meetings were signed on behalf of Johnkoski and Sawyers by Brown. He pointed out that minutes of several meetings of First Southeastern stated that Johnkoski and Sawyers had been present, although in fact neither had been.

Thursday's session also indicated that defense attorneys may be moving to separate their individual clients from the general conspiracy indictment.

Samuels was asked by Preiser if he, Samuels, had ever met, written to or talked with either Johnkoski or Sawyers and Samuels said he never had.

Robert Perry, representing Barron, also established that Samuels had never met, talked with or written to Barron.

Ohio State Fair Has Small Crowd On Opening Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Fair offers something for everybody—but no air conditioning.

And the weather, humid with temperatures in the 90s, may have been the main reason the fair opened with a small first-day attendance Thursday. The fairgoers totaled 64,047, compared with 191,000 for opening day last year.

So the 115th state fair has a lot of catching up to do. Officials have predicted a total attendance of 1.5 million. The fair runs through Sept. 2.

The fair's first queen was crowned Thursday. Leslie Shroyer, 17, of New Carlisle won the Miss Future Farmers of America title.

Newton Testifies He Never Shot Anyone

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Huey P. Newton, the Black Panther leader charged with the murder of one policeman and attempt to murder another, testified Thursday, "I did not shoot anyone; I have never shot anyone."

The 26-year-old founder of the militant Negro organization was articulate and relaxed as he testified about events Oct. 28, the day of the killing. He was cross-examined by the prosecution before court recessed until Monday, when the cross-examination resumes.

The state charges that Newton shot Patrolman John Frey five times and killed him, and that he shot and wounded Patrolman Herbert Heanes. One prosecution witness has testified he saw Newton draw a gun, shoot, and grapple with Frey.

Personalities In The News

LONDON (AP) — John Lennon of the Beatles was sued for divorce Thursday by his wife, Cynthia, 27. She said Yoko Ono, the Japanese actress, was "the other woman" in his life.

The Lennons were married in 1962 and have a 5-year-old son.

He and Miss Ono filed what the British divorce courts call "an acknowledgement of service," meaning a denial of the charge of adultery.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Rev. Michael J. Moakler, a Roman Catholic priest in the Providence Diocese, has confirmed that he and the former Miss Eleanor M. Travers were married Aug. 1 by a town clerk in Seekonk, Mass.

He said he has applied for a job teaching high school Latin or English. His wife is a bank clerk.

He said they are trying to obtain Church validation of their marriage, and that he left the priesthood because of a "personal conviction that I could find content only in the married state."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terrence P. Melcher, 26, son of Doris Day and the late Martin Melcher, will be permitted to administer his father's $1.3-million estate.

The producer died April 20 without leaving a will. Miss Day named her son to administer the estate but Melcher's former business partner, Jerome B. Rosenthal, challenged his competence.

Superior Court Judge Martin Katz ruled Thursday there was no evidence that Melcher was incompetent and described him as "intelligent and conscientious."

—:—

LONDON (AP) — Swedish actress Britt Eklund filed for divorce Thursday from British actor Peter Sellers. Sellers lawyers reported that the suit would not be defended. The grounds were not made public.

Sellers, 43, and Miss Eklund, 25, were married in 1964 and have a 3-year-old daughter.

Junior Editors Quiz on FEDERAL LAWS

QUESTION: How are federal laws made in Congress?

* * *

ANSWER: First come bills, which are proposals for laws. Bills are introduced in Congress by senators or representatives in their own wings of the Capitol. These legislators introduce the bills, which may have been framed by committees or recommended by the President. Or they may have come from public opinion in the legislator's own area, as expressed by the home folks. We follow a bill presented in the House (1). After being printed, it is referred to a committee (2). The committee may approve, change it or table it — which means delay action. If urgent, a special committee can rush it back to the House ahead of other bills. It is then considered by the House and if passed, sent to the Senate (4) where it goes through a similar process (5), (6), (7). If approved by the Senate, it has then been approved by the entire Congress and is sent to the President (8). If he signs it, it becomes the law of the land. If he vetoes it, it is returned to Congress and cannot become law unless passed by both houses of Congress again, this time by a two-thirds majority.

(Frank Verba of Armagh, Pa., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1500, Christopher Columbus, accused of mistreating the natives of Haiti, was arrested there and ordered sent back to Spain in chains.

On this date:

In 1944, Allied troops fighting in France in World War II captured Marseille.

Ten years ago—Shore batteries in Communist China shelled the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Little Quemoy.

Five years go — Israel and Syria agreed to a United Nations appeal for a cease-fire often an outbreak of hostilities.

One year ago—France said it would step up its cultural and technical aid to the Canadian Province of Quebec.

'Collective Leadership'

Czech Invasion Suggests Kremlin Power Struggle

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Against the background of several years of political maneuvering in Moscow, the invasion of Czechoslovakia suggests a struggle at the top of the Kremlin power structure, with generals and marshals playing an active and possibly decisive role.

The Soviet power structure, by its nature, has seemed a built-in barrier to any real detente in the East-West cold war. And now, Soviet press treatment of the Czechoslovak tragedy supports speculation that the marshals and generals have a big say in running the show, a situation which bodes no good for civilian leaders who arouse their hostility.

Since Stalin's death the military has occupied a more and more prominent role in Soviet politics. Politicians contending for power often had to lean on the generals for support, as Nikita S. Khrushchev did when he threw his foes out of the party and as the new group under Leonid I. Brezhnev did when it threw out Khrushchev.

The Soviet party always has been careful to assert publicly and frequently its domination over the military. But in time of crisis the military can hold the balance of power. The civilian with powerful alliances among the generals increases his chance of success.

Clearly, the invasion of Czechoslovakia was a military decision, and almost as clearly, there was a quarrel about it in the Kremlin involving three factions: those who wanted to go slowly and cautiously, those who wanted to move swiftly to crush the Czechoslovak movement, and those on the fence. It appears the balance wielded by the generals carried the day.

Pravda, voice of the Kremlin, complains that "there have been certain attempts to deal a blow at the Warsaw treaty" in Czechoslovakia. It thunders that "no breach in the Warsaw treaty must be allowed."

Then it adds: "Czechoslovak frontiers on the west were actually open from the Czechoslovak side. This created a situation in which saboteurs and spies smuggled by imperialist intelligence services began crossing freely into Czechoslovakia from Western countries."

One man who thinks much about "imperialist intelligence services" is Gen. Sergei M. Shtemenko, author of a recent book praising Stalin. He once was deputy defense minister and in charge of military intelligence. Stalin's death ad he was degence. His fortunes fell with Stalin's death and he was demoted several ranks. Suddenly he rose again, and in 1965 showed up as deputy chief of the Soviet general staff.

At the height of the Czechoslovak crisis this month, Shtemenko was named chief of staff of the Warsaw forces. It may have been that his predecessor, Gen. M. I. Kazakov, was fired by the Politburo as a scapegoat for their unpleasant backdown from their demands on the reform-minded Czechoslovak leaders.

Kazakov was known as a hawk who likely would have been pleased to have Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, the pact commander, crush the whole Czechoslovak nuisance at the outset. The debate in the Kremlin may have deterred that sort of action in favor of negotiations. If so, the generals probably waited fretfully for the outcome, with which they could hardly have been pleased.

Faces Cross-Examination

Attorney Testifies Again In Ex-Gov. Barron's Trial

CHARLESTON (AP) — Judson Samuels, a Hollywood, Fla., attorney, was to testify again today — for the fourth straight day — in the conspiracy trial of former Gov. W. W. Barron and four other men.

Samuels was scheduled to be cross examined by Thomas Wadden of the Washington law firm of Edward Bennett Williams, which is representing Elkins attorney Bonn Brown.

Wadden's questions were expected to wind up defense cross examination of Samuels.

Samuels was retained by four Boca Raton, Fla., corporations which the government alleges were established to receive payoffs from firms seeking state contracts in West Virginia.

BESIDES Barron and Brown the other defendants are former State Road Commissioner Burl Sawyers, former Assistant SRC Commissioner Vincent Johnkoski and Clarksburg auto dealer Alfred Schroath.

Former Finance Commissioner Truman Gore also was indicted by a federal grand jury in February in the same case but was excused Wednesday as a defendant in the current proceedings because his attorney is ill.

Samuels was called to the stand Tuesday in the absence of the federal court jury to determine if he could be called as a government witness.

It was ruled that he could, and he testified Wednesday after noon and all day Thursday.

Much of Samuels' testimony Thursday repeated statements he gave in earlier sessions.

ACCORDING to documents admitted in evidence, Samuels was hired in 1961 by Schroath to help set up American Brokerage Corp. of Boca Raton, Fla., and later Interstate Services and Atlantic Management.

Samuels also kept minutes for the three corporations, later dissolved all three and transferred their assets to a new corporation First Southeastern Capital of Boca Raton.

Schroath and Brown were listed either as the only or as the major shareholders in all three of the original corporations but were listed as having equal holdings at the outset with the other defendants in First Southeastern.

On a number of occasions, Samuels replied to defense attorneys' questions by saying he couldn't remember certain details but that documents entered as evidence, which he had prepared, were accurate and could stand as his answer.

HOWEVER, Stanley Preiser, attorney for Johnkoski and Sawyers, entered a document giving power of attorney for his two clients to Brown.

Preiser also established that a number of waivers of notice of special meetings were signed on behalf of Johnkoski and Sawyers by Brown. He pointed out that minutes of several meetings of First Southeastern stated that Johnkoski and Sawyers had been present, although in fact neither had been.

Thursday's session also indicated that defense attorneys may be moving to separate their individual clients from the general conspiracy indictment.

Samuels was asked by Preiser if he, Samuels, had ever met, written to or talked with either Johnkoski or Sawyers and Samuels said he never had.

Personalities In The News

LONDON (AP) — John Lennon of the Beatles was sued for divorce Thursday by his wife, Cynthia, 27. She said Yoko Ono, the Japanese actress, was "the other woman" in his life.

The Lennons were married in 1962 and have a 5-year-old son.

He and Miss Ono filed what the British divorce courts call "an acknowledgement of service," meaning a denial of the charge of adultery.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Rev. Michael J. Moakler, a Roman Catholic priest in the Providence Diocese, has confirmed that he and the former Miss Eleanor M. Travers were married Aug. 1 by a town clerk in Seekonk, Mass.

He said he has applied for a job teaching high school Latin or English. His wife is a bank clerk.

He said they are trying to obtain Church validation of their marriage, and that he left the priesthood because of a "personal conviction that I could find content only in the married state."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terrence P. Melcher, 26, son of Doris Day and the late Martin Melcher, will be permitted to administer his father's $1.3-million estate.

The producer died April 20 without leaving a will. Miss Day named her son to administer the estate but Melcher's former business partner, Jerome B. Rosenthal, challenged his competence.

Superior Court Judge Martin Katz ruled Thursday there was no evidence that Melcher was incompetent and described him as "intelligent and conscientious."

LONDON (AP) — Swedish actress Britt Eklund filed for divorce Thursday from British actor Peter Sellers. Sellers lawyers reported that the suit would not be defended. The grounds were not made public.

Sellers, 43, and Miss Eklund, 25, were married in 1964 and have a 3-year-old daughter.

Ohio State Fair Has Small Crowd On Opening Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Fair offers something for everybody—but no air conditioning.

And the weather, humid with temperatures in the 90s, may have been the main reason the fair opened with a small first-day attendance Thursday. The fairgoers totaled 64,047, compared with 191,000 for opening day last year.

So the 115th state fair has a lot of catching up to do. Officials have predicted a total attendance of 1.5 million. The fair runs through Sept. 2.

The fair's first queen was crowned Thursday. Leslie Shroyer, 17, of New Carlisle won the Miss Future Farmers of America title.

Newton Testifies He Never Shot Anyone

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Huey P. Newton, the Black Panther leader charged with the murder of one policeman and attempt to murder another, testified Thursday, "I did not shoot anyone; I have never shot anyone."

The 26-year-old founder of the militant Negro organization was articulate and relaxed as he testified about events Oct. 28, the day of the killing. He was cross-examined by the prosecution before court recessed until Monday, when the cross-examination resumes.

The state charges that Newton shot Patrolman John Frey five times and killed him, and that he shot and wounded Patrolman Herbert Heanes. One prosecution witness has testified he saw Newton draw a gun, shoot, and grapple with Frey.
